These Were The Westerners That Were ... in '65

Each new school year at Lubbock High is distinguished from all preceding ones, not because of a turn of the calendar, but because of those particular people who are a part of the school here and now. Their words, ideas, and actions begin to seep in, gradually rise, and finally they become the entire basis of a year in every student's life. This year was incomparable to any before; neither can it be pulled from our past to be lived and enjoyed again, except in our memories.

A few segments of this year's events will still be tucked securely away in many memories for years to come — the day 2200 loyal Westerner fans poured into the streets behind the school building for a thunderous pep rally, unconscious of the falling rain; the tremored fever blanketing the corridors and escaping into every classroom before the annual Monterey-Lubbock football tilt and the acme of suspense which hovered as the game progressed; the touching farewell of a dedicated and more-than-admired principal — these made 1965 a year of years.

These 2200 Westerners who braved the weather to support their team were the same ones who excelled in interscholastic league, who brought home honors in a variety of statewide competition, and who laughed, yelled, and shouted greetings in the halls each day. These were the Westerners that wrote this school year's history, compiled now to be treasured through the coming years. These were the Westerners that were ... in 1965.

Although the decor of other areas of the building were renewed, the familiar entrance to Lubbock High School remains unchanged.

Conditions Necessitate Quick Additions

Covering an area of one hundred square feet, the colorful mosaic tile of the Westerner emblem embedded in the auditorium foyer is the gift of 1964's graduating class.

Passersby of LHS last summer saw the building rising to new heights as a spacious library stretching over the length of the cafeteria was hurriedly completed to accommodate the growing demands for enlargement.

Only remnants clutter the remaining area of the open patio after the erection of a new administration building.

Anticipating . . .

a year of decisive moments

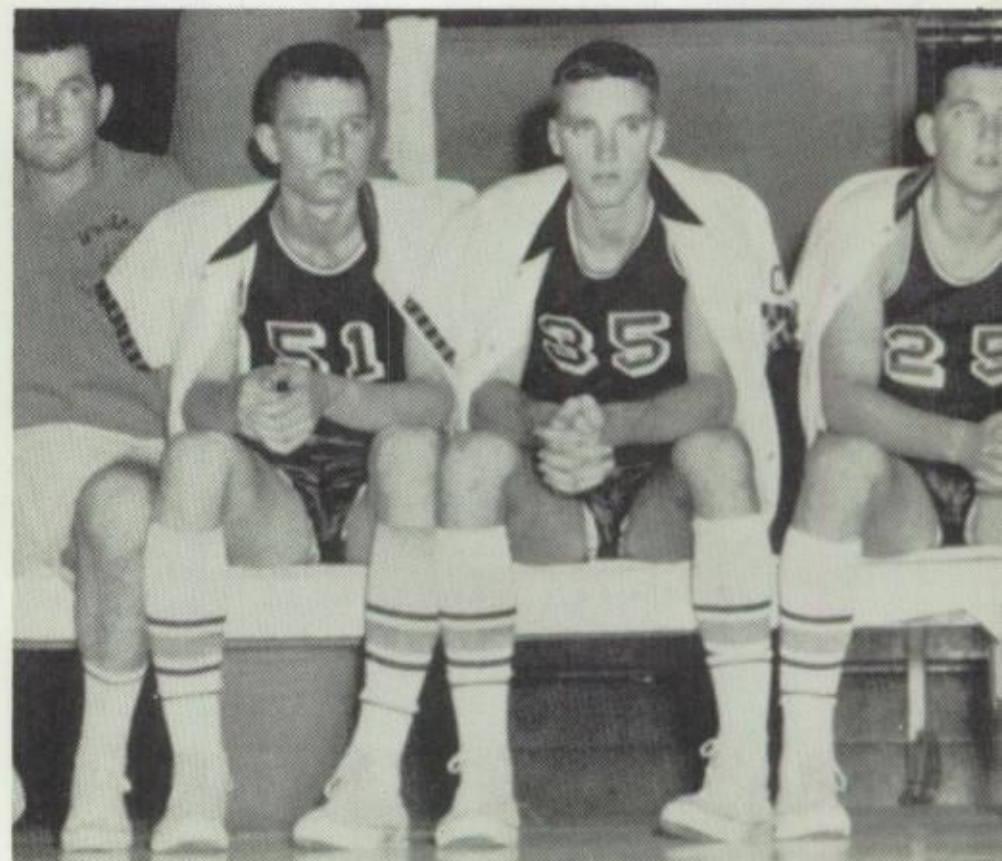

To each Westerner, a different aspect of school life is momentous; each discovers the peak of excitement or fulfillment in the myriad of choice offered by the pattern of daily routine. In many instances, all students share common anxieties, for a school cannot function without touching the lives of each of its inhabitants and engulfing everyone in its whirl of activities. Breathless expectation can hang like an impalpable mist over an audience of sports spectators, while the ardent participants are equally concerned over the outcome. Many anticipations carry a double meaning, such as a senior's view ahead of graduation and his looming future plans.

A new year, as a new day, brings inevitable decisions and accompanying anxieties — all which add the tingling flavor so necessary to spice the school year.

Only a wave of the baton separates tense silence from the crescendo of instruments which begin to play at the precise hand movement of Mr. Paul Branom.

Tensely waiting for their chance to aid the Westerner basketball team are players Bill Green, Steve Leftwich, Awaiting the signal for "lights on," Frank Agraz tackles the intricacies of the master control panel backstage which provide the technicalities essential to any auditorium production.

Anticipating not only having their pictures made for the yearbook, Connie and Ronnie Goolsby also reflect on their near future as graduates.

With every beat come blending voices, trained to await and follow each directing gesture of Mrs. Mildred Carver.

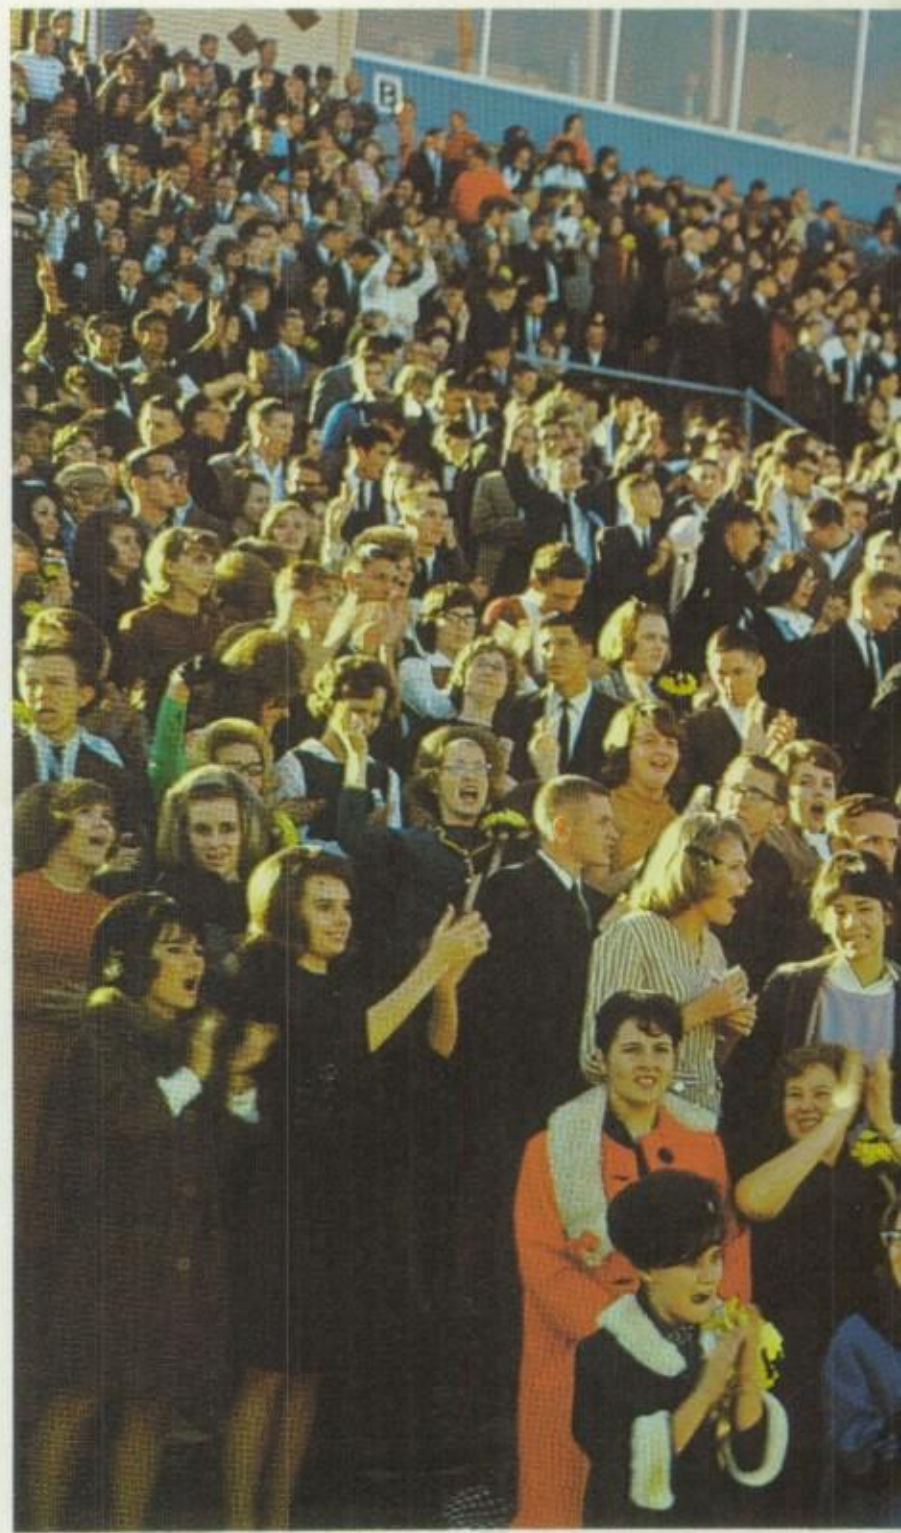

Wesley Verner, Ronnie Shuffield, Jimmy Poe, Freddy Dickson, and manager Billy Wolfe.

as these moments become reality

With the passing seasons of the school year appear diversified reactions for Westerners. The closing of summer draws students into a world of timidity and lack of self-assurance concerning the year to come. But summer is soon over, and autumn gets into full swing, bringing with Her true Westerner spirit. Students begin to work, laugh, and react together. With the progression of the year come more seasons, more situations. And just as plants would not survive with only one season in the year, so Lubbock High could not exist with but one reaction to all events. Each opinion, each feeling, is important, and 1965 saw the gathering of a harvest of 2200 interested reactions to produce a fruitful year.

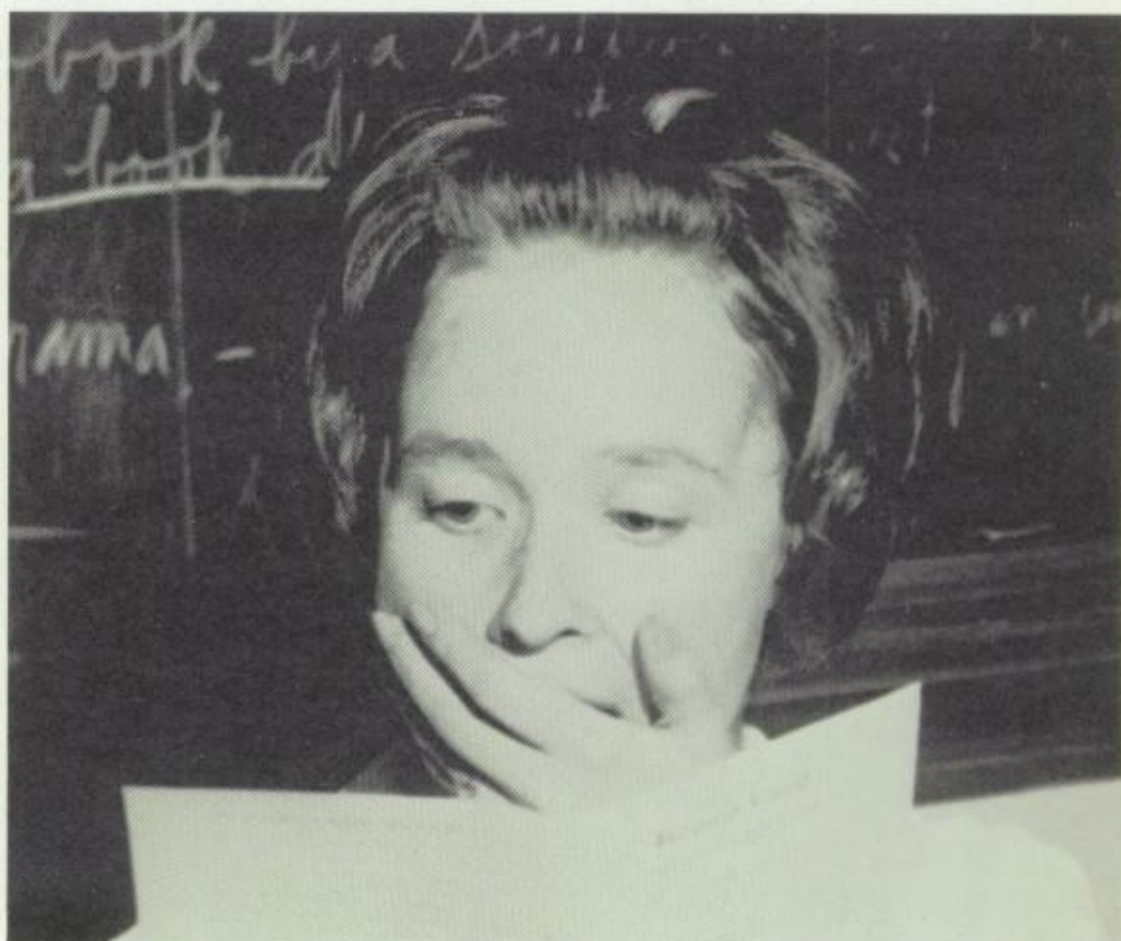

Symbolizing Westerner unity, students cast away individual feelings and merge into spontaneous and enthusiastic reaction to the Western Call To Loyalty, as another decisive football game begins.

A look of disbelief envelopes the face of Jane Herron, exemplifying a typical reaction to the issuance of report cards.

Leading Westerners Remains Dedicatee's 'Principal' Business

Many years ago, a 5' 6", ninety-pound quarterback led the Lubbock High football team. Today, twenty-seven years, two inches, and seventy pounds later, that same quarterback is still calling the signals for Westerners, but in a different capacity.

In his four years as principal of LHS, he has incessantly encouraged Westerners on to victory whether in athletic contests or scholastic achievements, while continually placing emphasis on sportsmanship as the ultimate goal. Westerners will long remember the 1963 football season climaxed by his thunderous "Yippee!", as he accepted the long-awaited Silver Spurs.

The warm welcome which began each year at LHS immediately drew students into a realm of understanding and admiration for the man who would pattern their high school activities. Next year will be even more challenging as he becomes principal of the new Coronado High School; and Lubbock High's loss is Coronado's gain, for he will kindle in them the enthusiasm and honor which he has kept alive here.

For his capabilities in leading the student body and his understanding of the individual, we dedicate the 1965 WESTERNER to Mr. Howard Price.

Assuming a diversity of roles, apart from his demanding job as principal, Mr. Price supervises the move into new offices; enjoys a few moments with his family, Sandra, Mrs. Price, and Steve; and joins the lunch hour rush in the cafeteria.

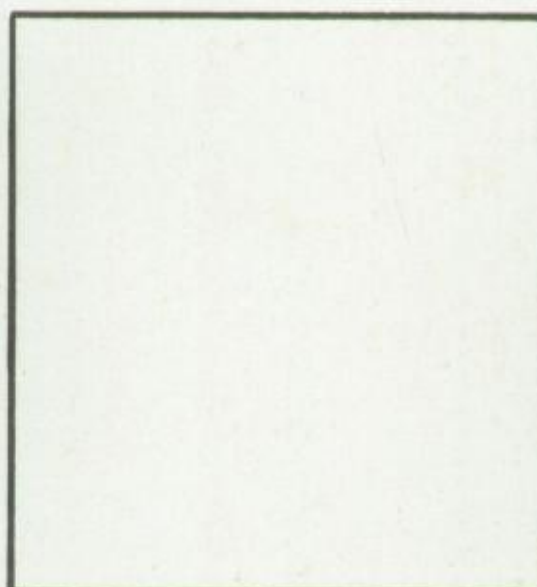

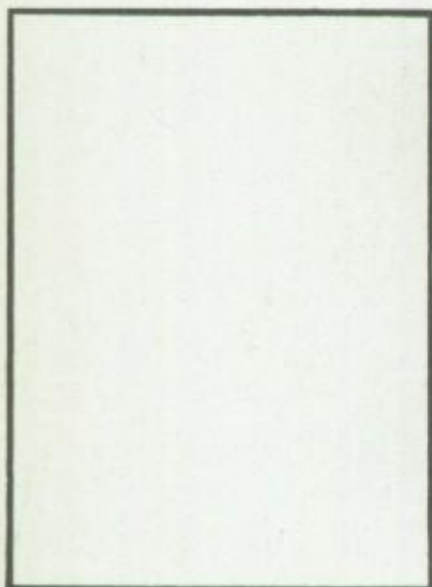

Student Life

These were the Westerners that daily encountered the thirty-minute lunch period as a refreshing break from their studies, thus enabling them to catch brief glimpses of the wide scope of student life at LHS.

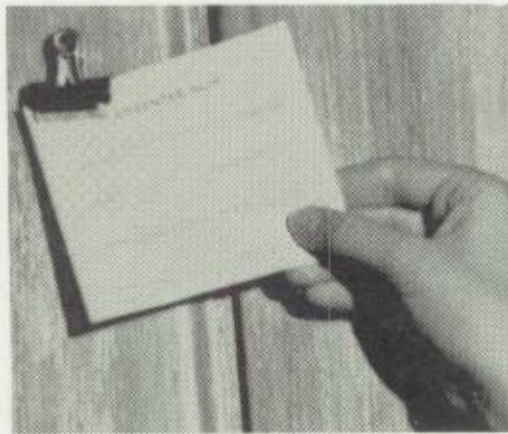

New Atmosphere Greets Record

It doesn't take monkeys to do the "monkey"—just dancers like juniors Jerry Trammel, Roy Farmer, and Paula Hedrick.

There was no problem of absentees the first week of school as a record enrollment of 2227 students jammed into LHS corridors.

Cathy Chambers shrieks in delight as she hears the news of being elected sophomore cheerleader.

While students enjoyed three months of leisure activity, work never let up in the halls of LHS. The installing of fluorescent lamps and new lockers and the lowering of ceilings were only a portion of the construction project.

Registration

As hammers banged viciously and walls crashed down, a record enrollment of 2200 brown-skinned sun-bathers and skiers returned to a not-so-familiar school building for the 1964-65 term. Wide-eyed underclassmen as well as their experienced counterparts marveled at the destruction and construction as workmen added new administrative offices and a spacious library in addition to improvements in halls and classrooms. But above all the pounding and noise, the bustling of a new year filled the atmosphere instantly with the fun, spirit, and tradition always prevalent at Lubbock High.

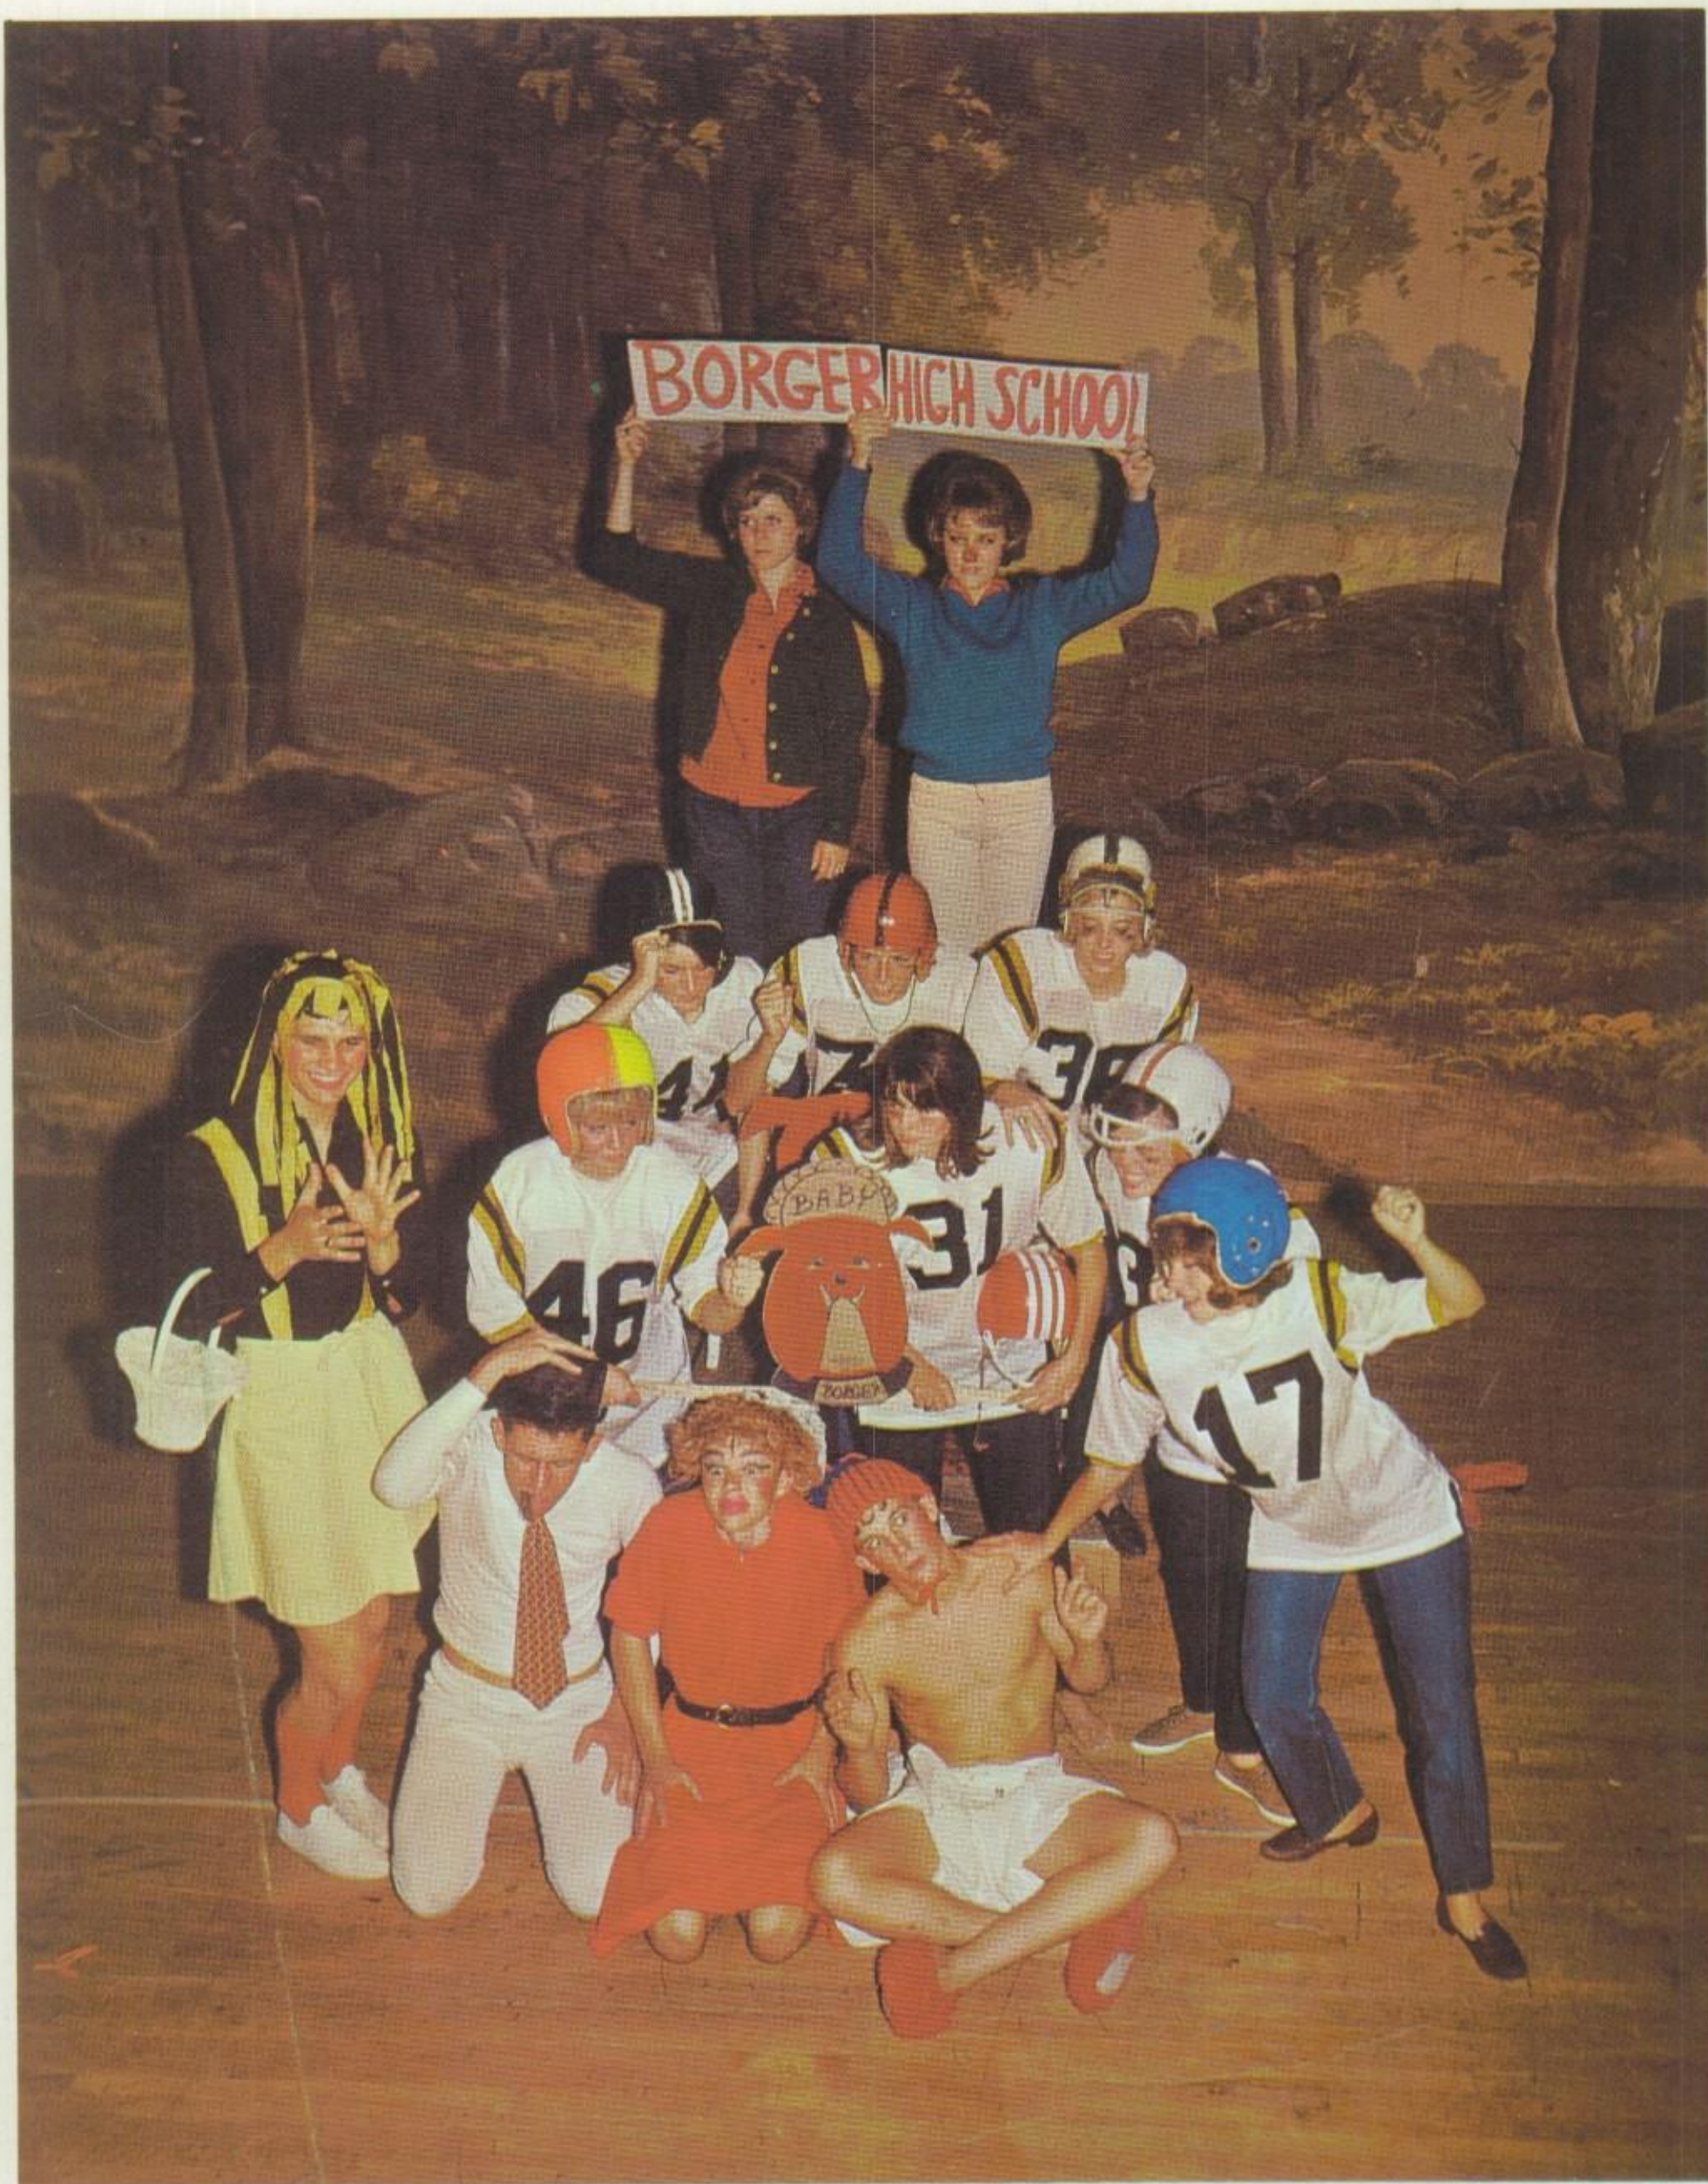

The annual Orientation Assembly acquainted students with the customs and highlights of the coming year while pep rallies, football games, bus trips, and elections gave all Westerners a sense of being a part of the student body. September ended in unusually warm weather and finally gave way to falling leaves and many more activities.

"Honest" Westerners Barbara Durham, Chris Cox, Frank McWilliams, Jan Hall, and Joe Malley violate the honor code by cheating—just in the Honor Assembly.

For Carol Williamson and Lonnie Dillard the pep rally was just like old times as they aroused the spirit of Westerners before the LHS-Palo Duro football game.

As Dianna Dean, Sylvia Pogue, and Montye Keene admire the view, Jackie Manning flirts with the "boys"

during their junior assembly dance routine "Ida."

Fall Spotlights Rally, Lively Assembly

While Autumn was introducing its new fall foliage, activities at LHS were brewing at full boil in that bewitching month of October. The annual night pep rally set the pace for revived school spirit as each class presented individual skits, yells, and songs. A special treat for the Thursday night affair were the faculty cheerleaders, who led fellow teachers as well as an enthusiastic student body in their own rendition of school yells. For the fourth consecutive year, a jubilant senior class captured the attendance trophy.

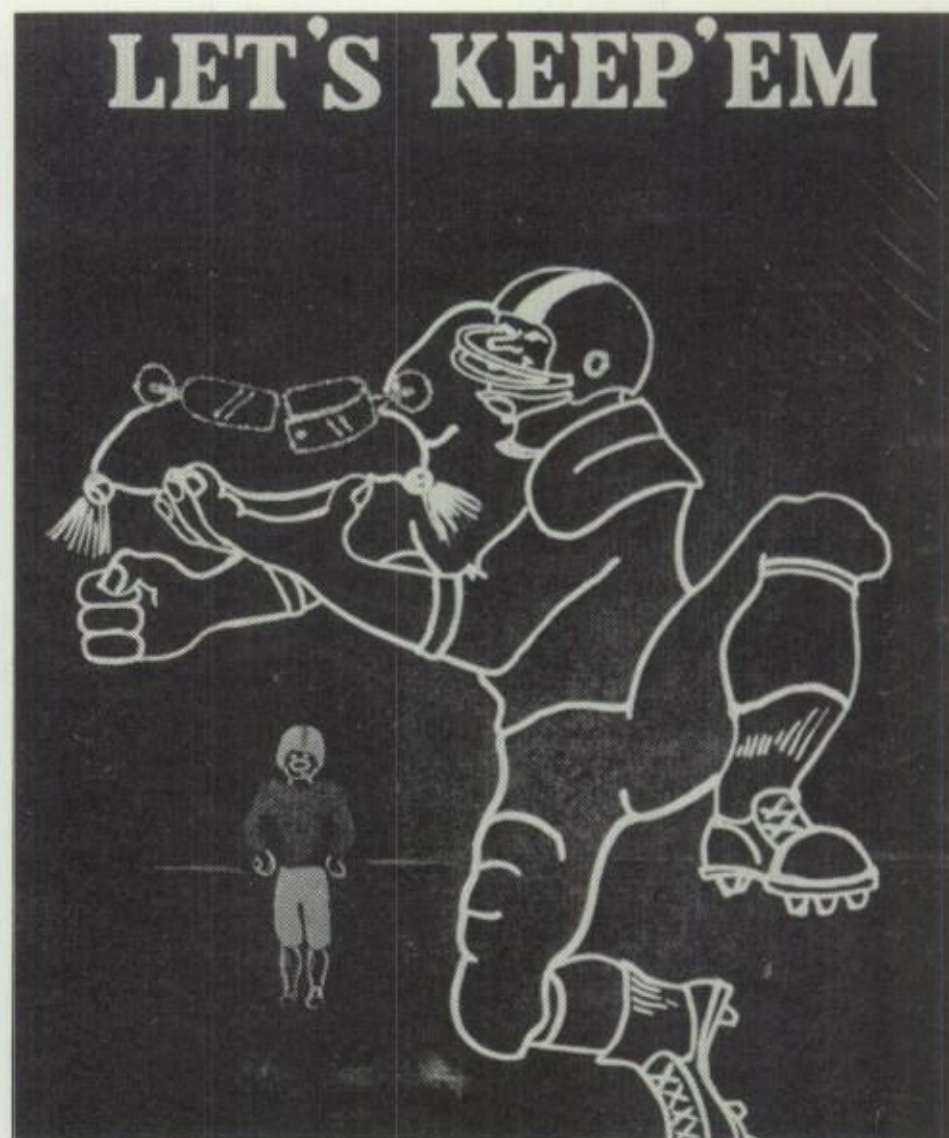

Halloween's spirit came into focus when the busy junior class presented the year's first class assembly, "Museum of Melodies," which was bordered closely by the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests a more serious facet undertaken by middleclassmen. October having been torn from the calendar, a long-awaited and overflowing November came quickly into view.

Adding to the spectacular night pep rally before the Borger game, seniors Rosie Sandifer and Denise Humphries lead the students in a novelty song, "Cuma La Vista."

Clutching tightly to the symbols of a great team effort, Mr. Price expresses his gratitude to the Westerners for answering his challenge to "keep the Silver Spurs!"

"Let's Keep 'Em," was only one of the many slogans used on homeroom posters and signs to encourage the football team before the LHS-MHS clash for the Spurs.

Spur Victory,

"Westerners . . . buckle on your spurs . . ." This line thundered above all the rest as the student body sang the familiar verses of the "Westerner Call To Loyalty" on Monday morning, Nov. 23—for Lubbock High had triumphed over cross-town rival Monterey High to retain possession of the silver spurs for the second consecutive year.

Prior to the game, a week's conglomeration of Black and Gold events including color day, homeroom poster and car decoration contests, and a gigantic pep rally filled the air with radiating spirit.

The senior class added their contributions to the gala month by sponsoring "Main Street, U.S.A.," tabbed as the most successful carnival to date. Centered around the Roaring 20's, flappers and gangsters enjoyed a dance in the cafeteria by the Nite Owls, while others enjoyed the pie throw, teacher dunk, root beer, and cotton candy in the gym. Winter's activities proceeded at full speed with Westerners racing about—not forgetting to glance at those shiny silver objects in the trophy case.

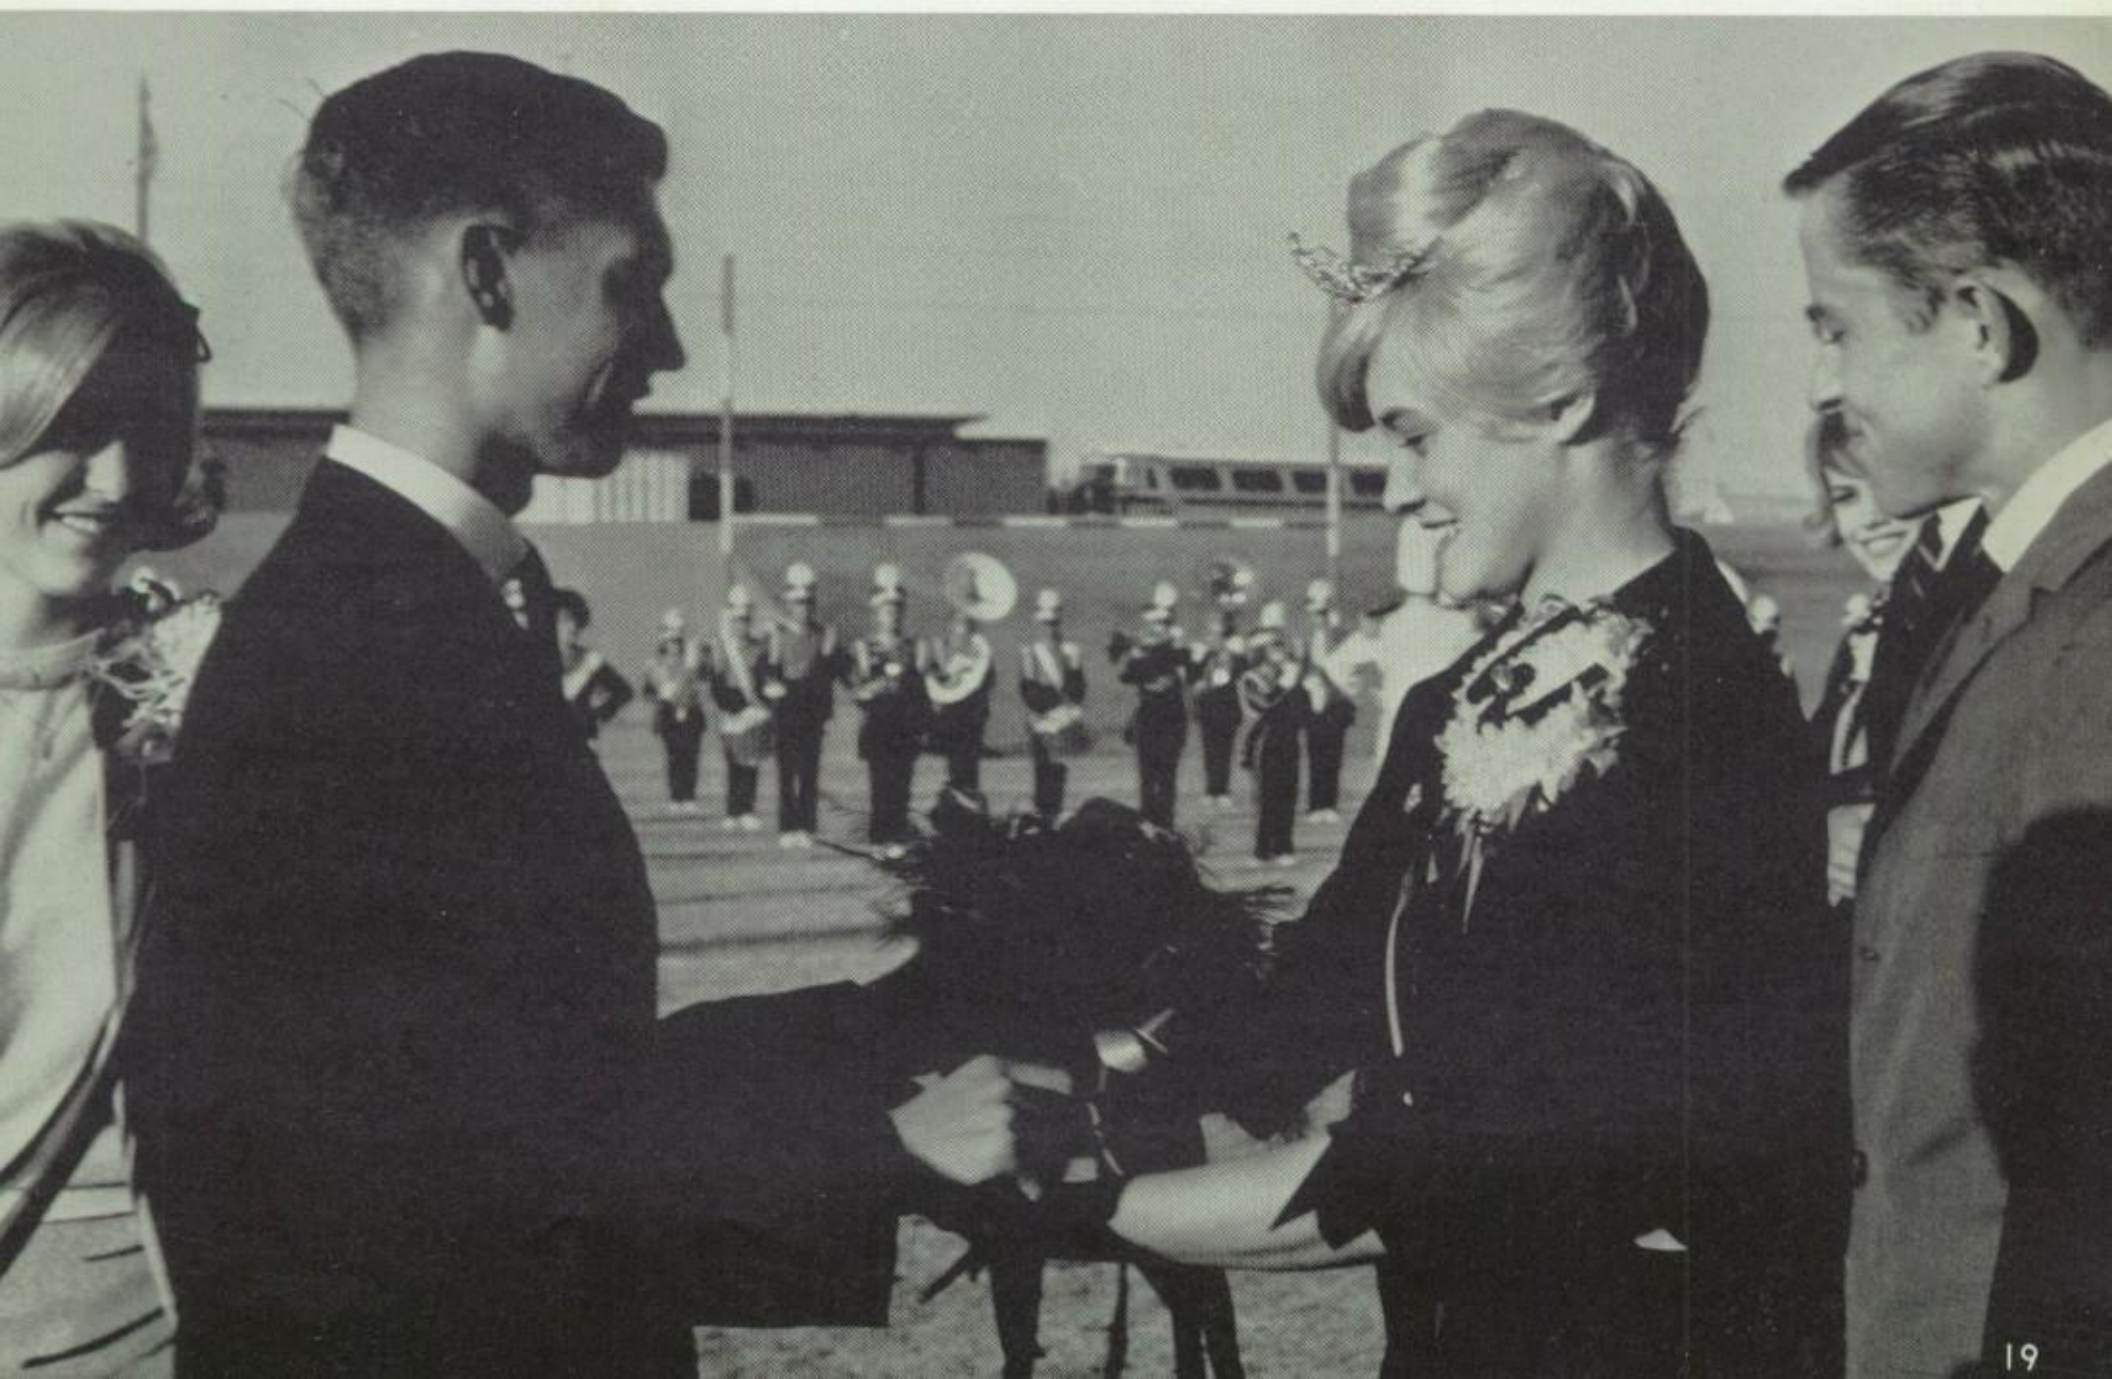

Beaming with joy, Gin Turner, Black and Gold Queen, graciously accepts the traditional yellow roses from Keeton Zachary as Cathy Leftwich, '63 honoree, and Mike O'Neal show their approval.

Munching on homemade candied apples, senior carnival enthusiasts enjoy the multi-colored homeroom booths, as well as the atmosphere of "Main Street, U.S.A.," the theme of the annual affair.

Crowning Spark Feverish Month

Christmas Spirit Presents Turmoil To Hectic Season

Visions of sugar plums danced in their heads—or was it just an out-of-season heat wave that transposed fairly calm scholars into a dizzy turmoil during the long-awaited month of December? Thanksgiving turkeys were hardly out of sight before the halls and cafeteria donned decorations capped with melodious carolers.

Homerooms traditionally furnished Sanders and Guadalupe schools with gifts and fruit while others donated old toys to organizations. Amid all the gaiety, however, seniors had to take time out for college board tests while juniors struggled through Iowa achievement tests.

With only one day remaining before the eagerly anticipated twelve-day vacation, the yearly Christmas assembly instilled in every Westerner the true spiritual meaning of Christmas. Students then left school to enjoy a holiday and welcome in a new year of different activities and another semester of studies.

As the joyous Yuletide Season penetrates the atmosphere, LHSers find moments to interrupt busy schedules in order to reaffirm the religious meaning of this time of year.

Seniors may act mature sometimes, but the Christmas spirit captivates everyone* as Karen Clawson climbs on Santa's knee to express her wishes for the holiday season.

Vocalizing to the rhythm of the Satins, Priscilla Searsy sings "500 Miles."

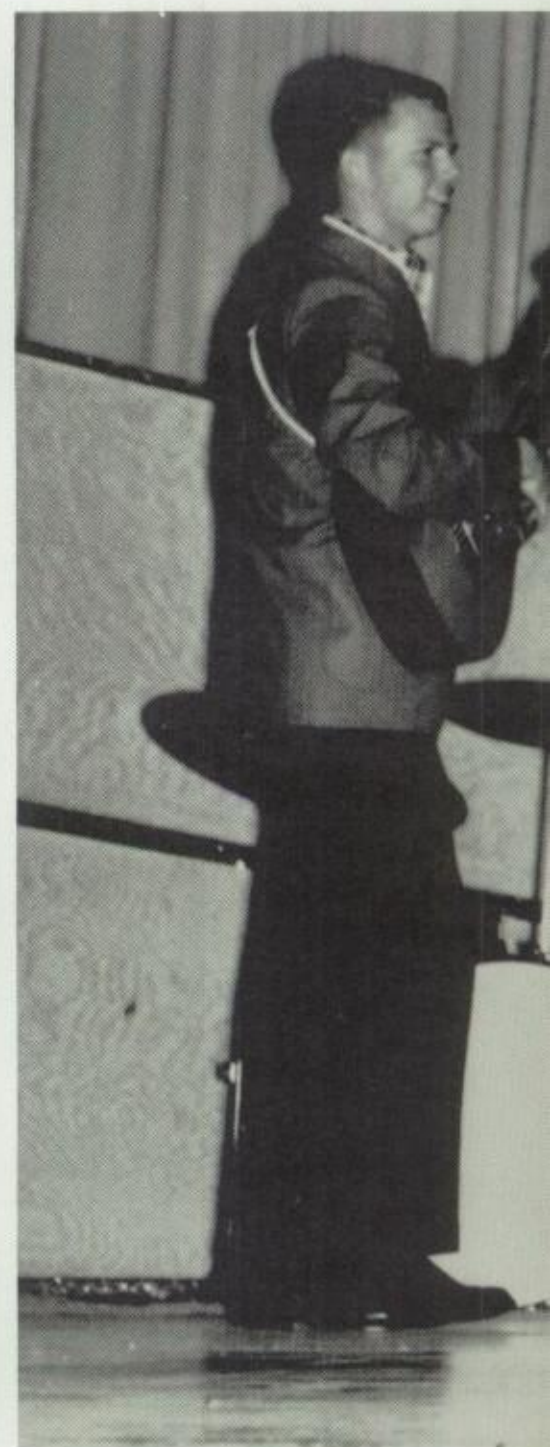

Thinking laboriously, juniors Bo Boren and Beth Clark strive for a good average on the annual Iowa tests.

Showing that sophomores can take strong initiative, Marsha McCurry adds decorations to the giant Christmas tree in the cafeteria, part of the sophomore plant and decoration committee's project.

"More" is the tune created by Court Carolers Sheila Malone, Carol Griffin, and Sylvia Haught, as they perform for the senior production "Hamlet Lot of Camelot."

Unique Assembly Initiates New Semester

Amidst all decisions of changing schedules and mid-semester exams, students finally began to settle down to the regular routine, attempting to complete the final half of the school year. For eight seniors it was all over, as they accumulated enough credits to graduate at mid-term. Upperclassmen finished their last assembly of the three-year period, with the production "Ham-a-Lot of Cam-a-Lot." There was an addition to the regular class assemblies, as all three high schools combined to produce the unique performance "Return to Tuesday Street."

Among the top ranking students in the city are Elks Leadership winners Brian Reeves, second; Lynn Langston, second; and Keeton Zachary, first.

Appearing in the "Copa Club," Lubbock High's Dave Durham Singers—David, Judith Skinner, Eldon Reynolds, Annette Haussler, Barbara Durham, and Jim Maxey—display folk singing talents in the high schools' combined assembly.

As the old covered wagon rolls down 19th street to advertise Roundup, Elwood Keeney, Robby Layne, Kathleen

Foster, Linda Cobb, Linda Darden, and Johnny Chapman harmonize on the Western ballad "Wagon Wheels."

She may be little, but Karen Conaway's gigantic voice echoes throughout the auditorium on "Do I Worry?" during sophomore assembly try-outs.

Taking advantage of the first, but rather scant snowfall, seniors Sharon Bennett and Judy Brown corner

Spring Signals Beginning Of The End

With the cool breezes of Spring whispering in their ears, Westerners turned to activities of the last months of school. Juniors were busy persuading every student to buy candy made for the annual candy sale to finance the junior-senior prom, while sophomores were preparing for their annual talent assembly.

With the atmosphere of Roundup just around the corner, students buckled on western togs for an All-Western Day, followed the next night by the big event including dancing, eating good ole' barbecue, and a unique rodeo. During the last days of April, girls managed to scrape up dimes and nickels to show bewildered boys an enjoyable time throughout "Twirp Week." Eyeing with anticipation only one more month, busy students scampered to fit in last-minute preparations.

junior Jimmy Poe and senior Doug Dunlap in a "lopsided" snowball battle.

"Hey, give it back!" demands "Bad News" Barnes as Philip Hood overpowers the teacher in the basketball tilt between LHS faculty and junior high coaches.

With all the excitement and hectic bustle of graduation, there was still time for congratulations and tears among Betsy Wright, Brian Reeves, Cynthia Ray, and Barbara Henry.

Normally, this practice of speeding up the time taken to go down the stairs is unacceptable, but on Kid Day seniors like Jan Etheredge may try anything.

Closing Activities Overcome May Fever

Before Westerners could blink their eyes twice, the "bug" of May fever had overtaken them. The persistent spell turned grown-up seniors into frolicking kids experiencing their second childhoods, but later dropped to a minimum when the junior-senior prom, Senior Day, Recognition assembly, elections, track meets, and baseball games gained the spotlight.

But all too soon the doors were closing on the past nine months, and 600 graduates marched down the aisle to take a diploma and a new place in the world, while underclassmen excitedly planned their final years of school.

As the night draws to a close, Carolyn McCutchan and Chris Cox both agree that their first prom was everything they had expected it to be.

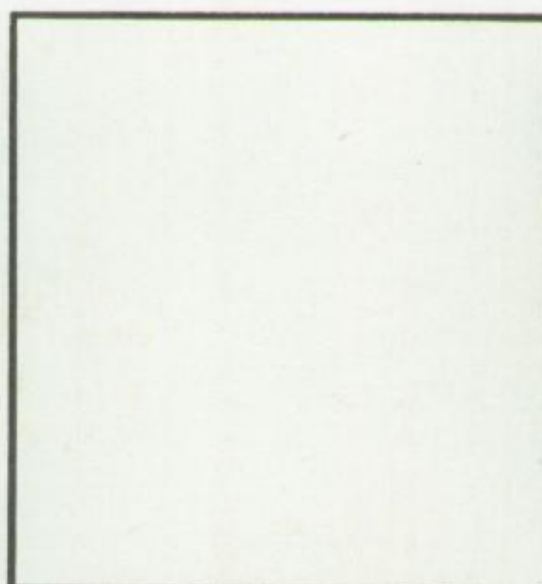

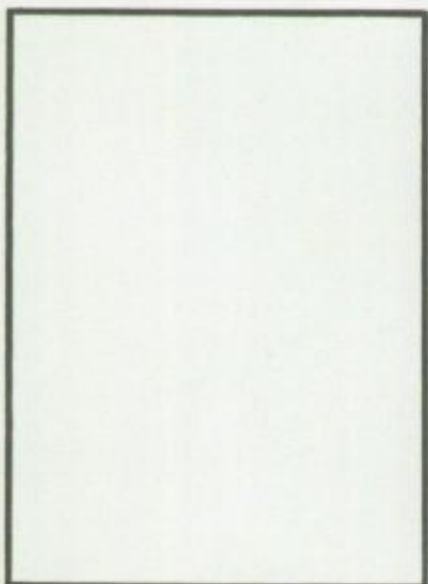

Academics

Informal open houses, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, permit faculty members to acquaint parents with the academic phase of school life and to observe the wide scope of curriculum essential to the learning process.

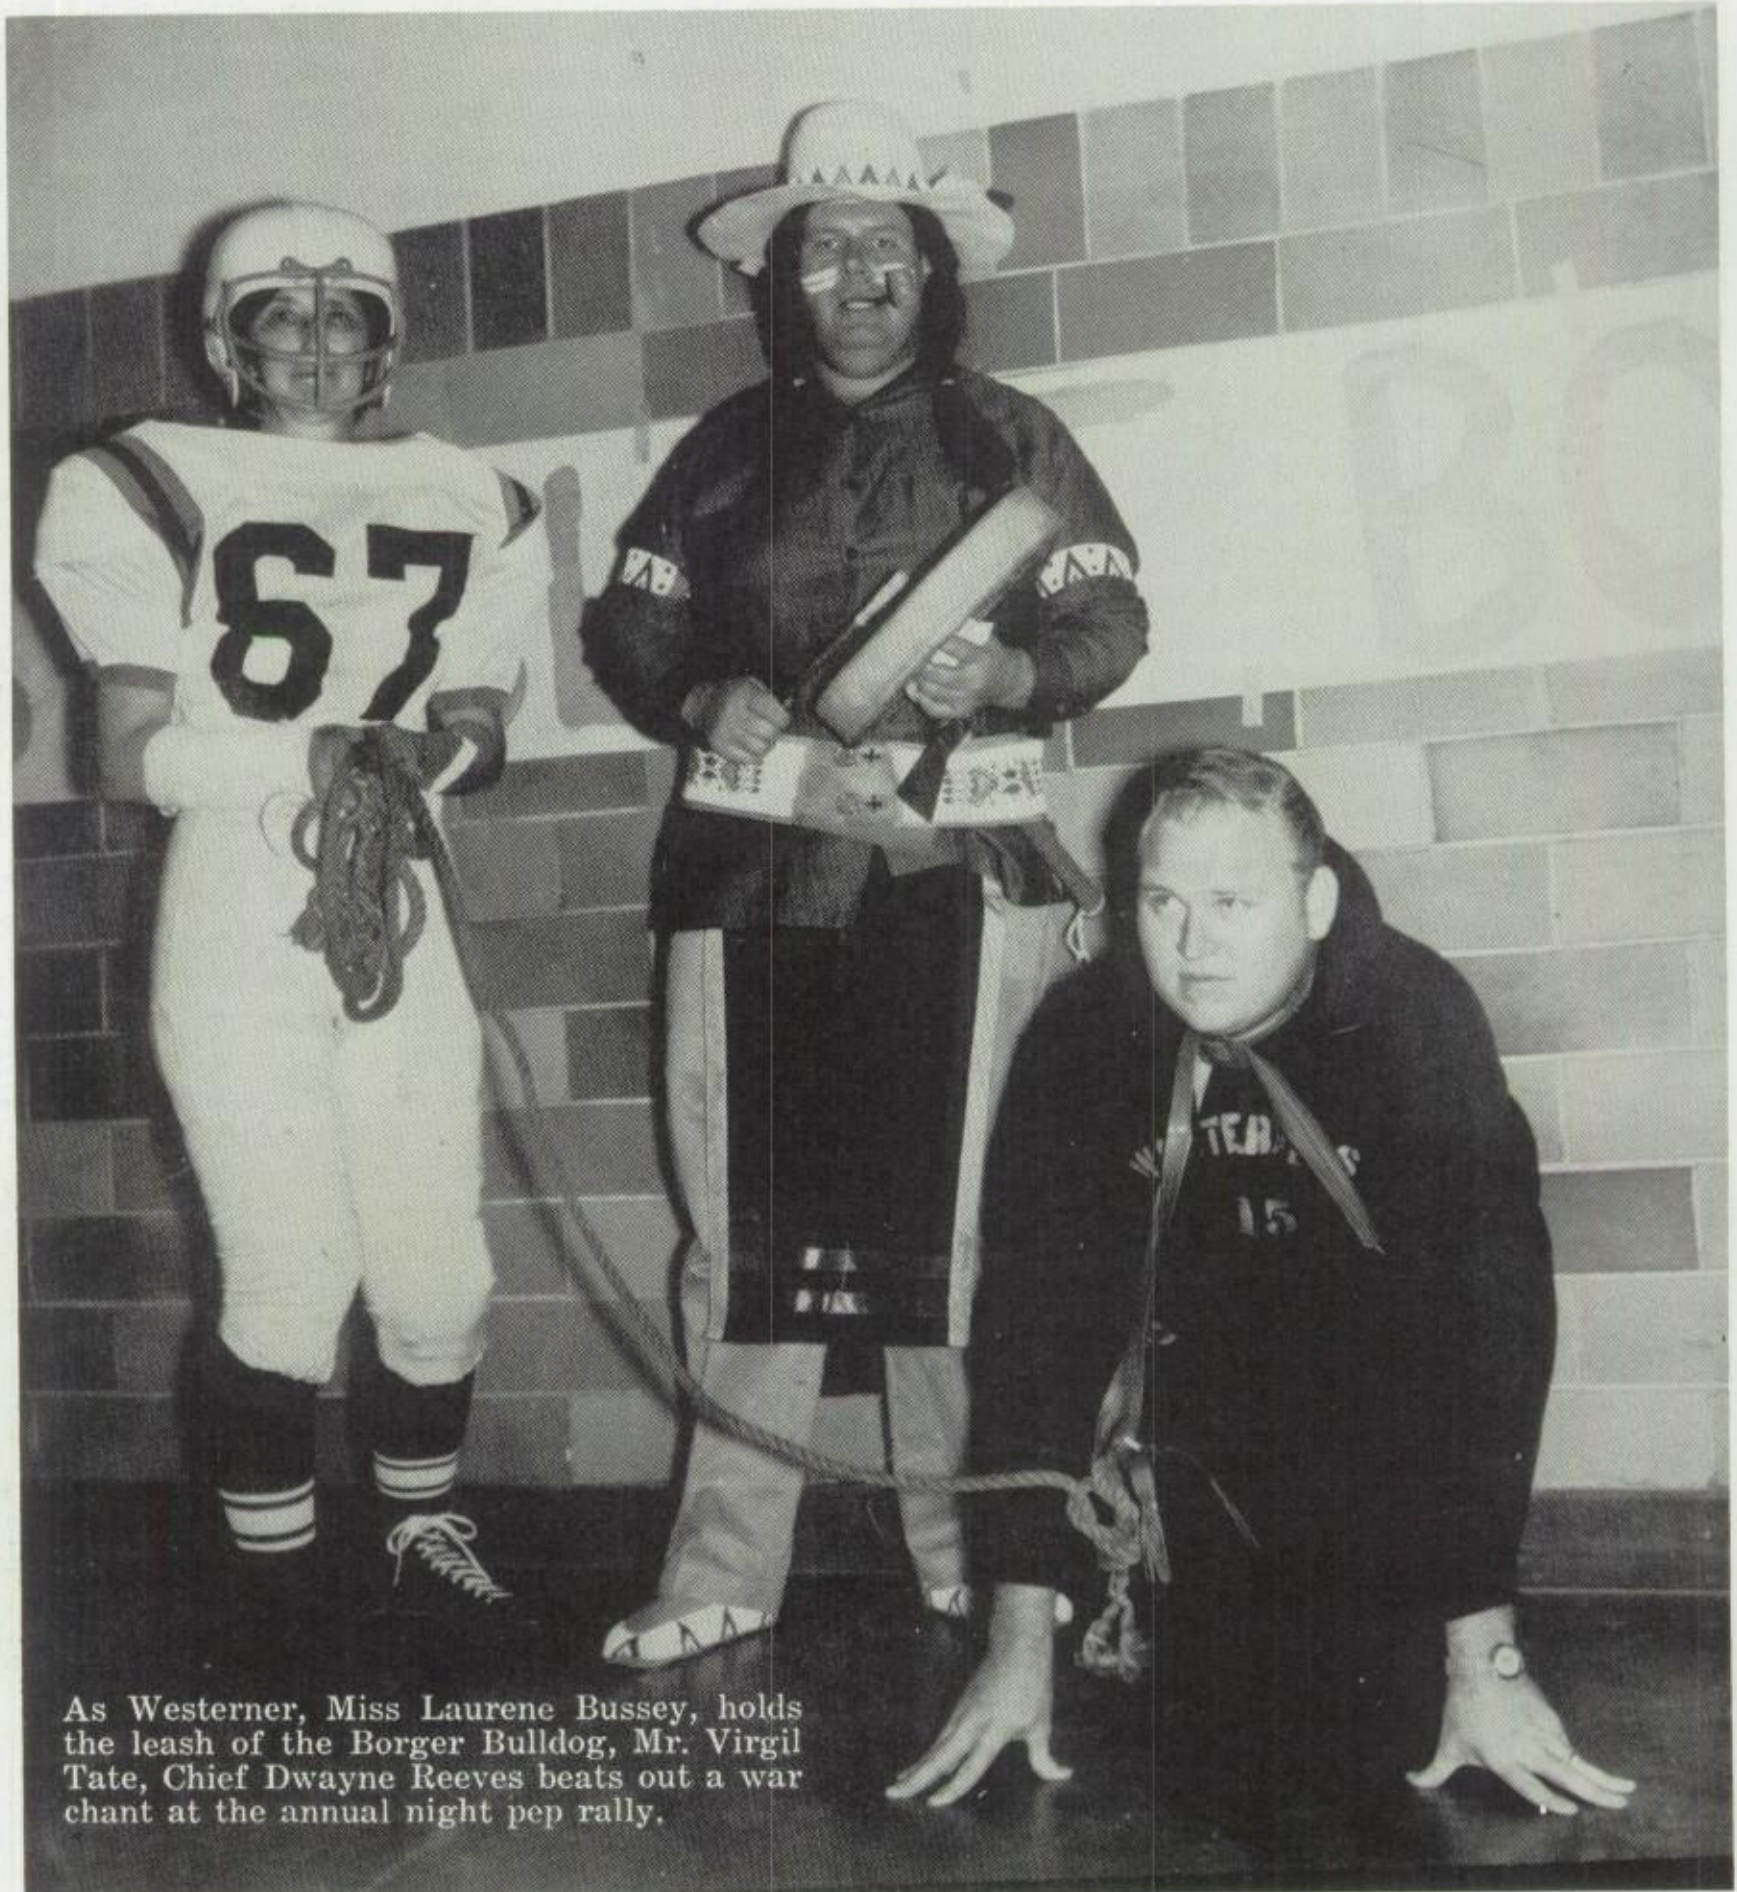

Students Test Old Saying To

For many years there has been a secret drive among students to test to the crucial point the ageless saying that teachers are human. Many have come to the conclusion that this animal, the teacher or faculty member, who makes it to school at 8 every morning, (well, almost every morning) who smiles almost continuously from first period to seventh every day, who yells at a game until he can barely whisper, yet who makes it to school the next morning at 5 a.m. to board a bus for a 200-mile trip to a club convention, and who still can give a quiz the following Monday without even blinking an eye, could never be human. Instead he must be a super form of the human race that has taken some special nerve tonic or pep pills.

What is it that makes that animal perform at a night pep rally, that makes him get up so early on a Saturday morning to paint scenery for the senior carnival, that makes him give the student the benefit of the doubt on repeated occasions when there actually is no doubt? Is it some special desire to get up early, an extra understanding heart, or a hidden love to perform on a stage? Or is it simply a love for teaching, a love for the pupil or a powerful desire to prove to the testing student that teachers are human?

As Westerner, Miss Laurene Bussey, holds the leash of the Borger Bulldog, Mr. Virgil Tate, Chief Dwayne Reeves beats out a war chant at the annual night pep rally.

Crucial Point

"A lizard?"—exclaims Mr. Bill Dean as he opens a surprise "gift" from publication students.

Straying from the usual routine of classrooms and lectures, Mr. Lovic Liston mends a tear in Ronnie Archer's coat tail.

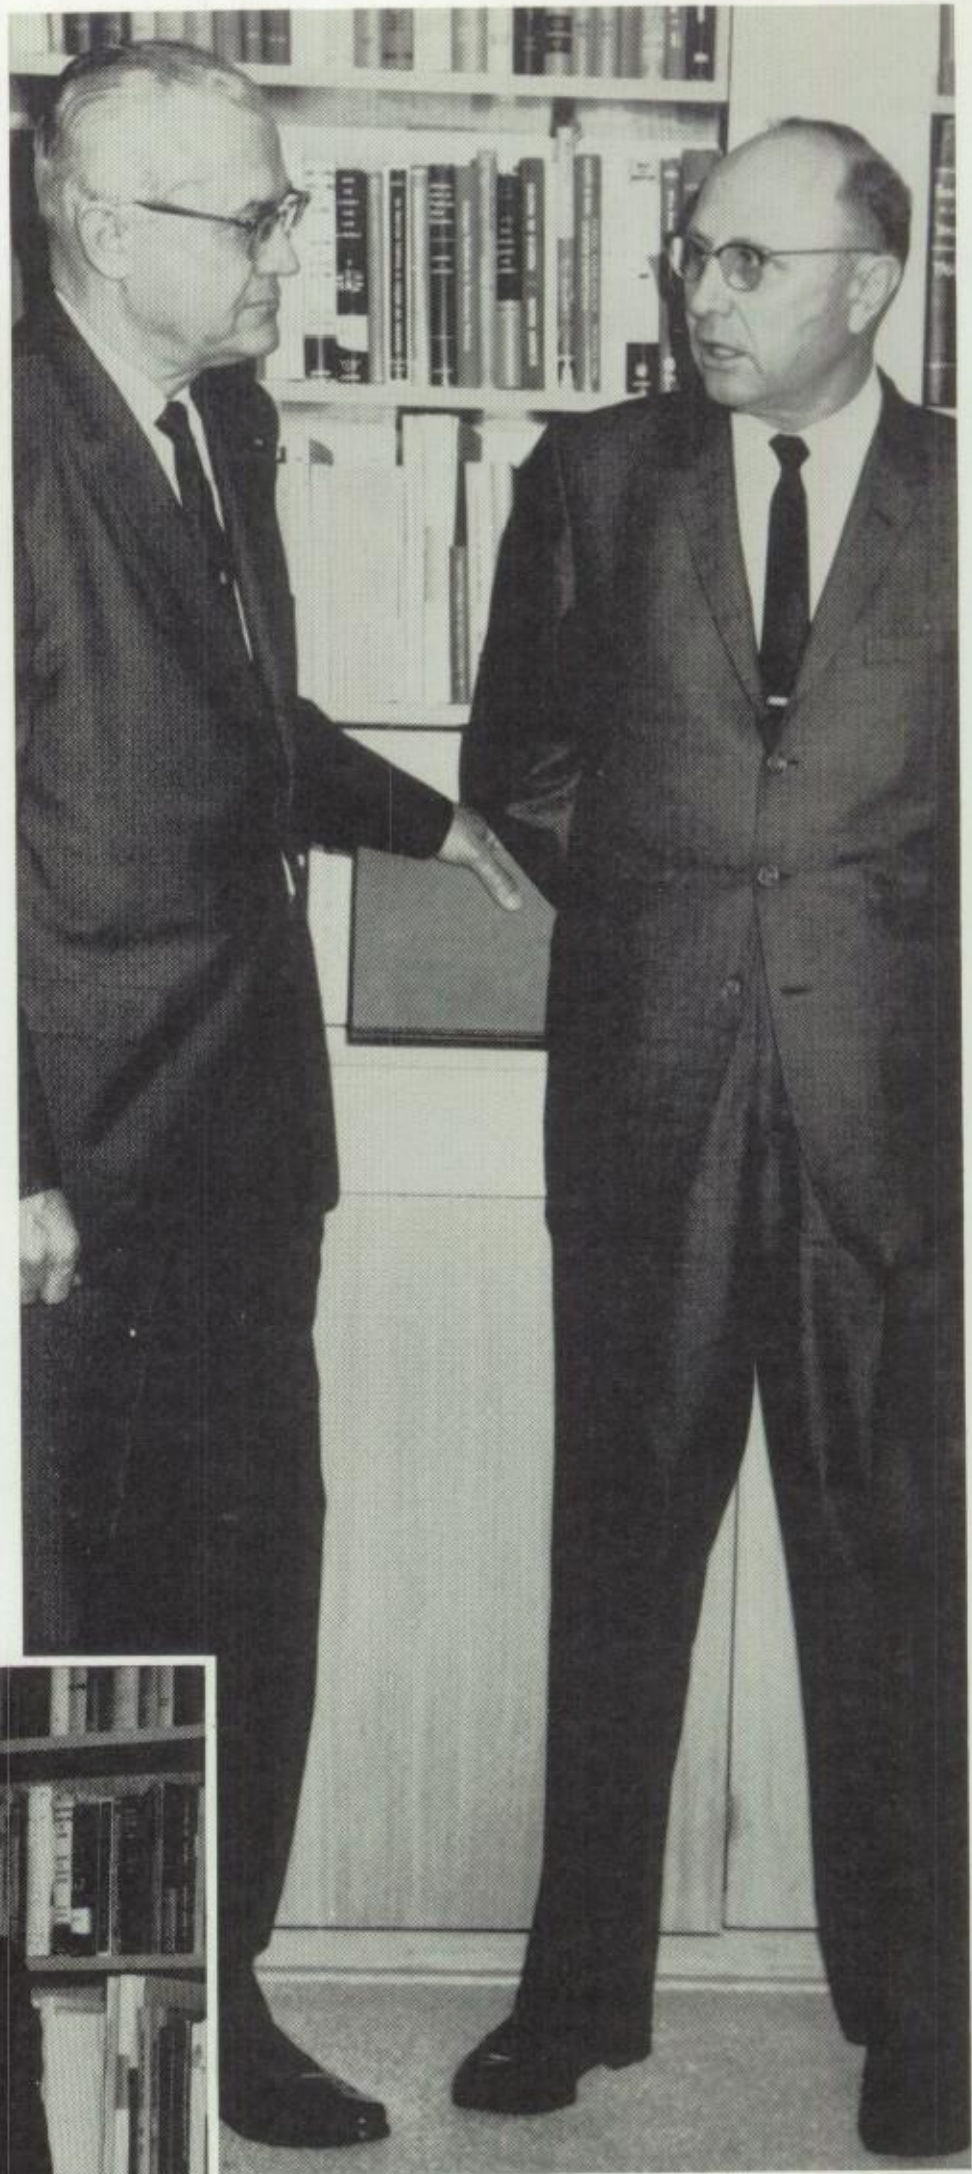

Administrators Think Perspectively, Lift Classroom Standards

While each nine-month period is filled with innumerable dilemmas, this year Superintendent Nat Williams, Assistant Superintendent Dr. Ishmael Hill, and other administrators have tackled the enormous task of shifting and hiring teachers to accommodate the facilities of an additional high school.

These personnel also supervised and blueprinted the building of additional offices and a new library at LHS.

Always laboring over current problems, the Lubbock Public Schools' administrators spend many sessions discussing more recent methods of improving teacher-pupil relationships. Other duties of these officials are the yearly ones of scheduling holidays and continually increasing and raising school standards. They work perpetually to improve classroom environment by providing better facilities, textbooks and instruction.

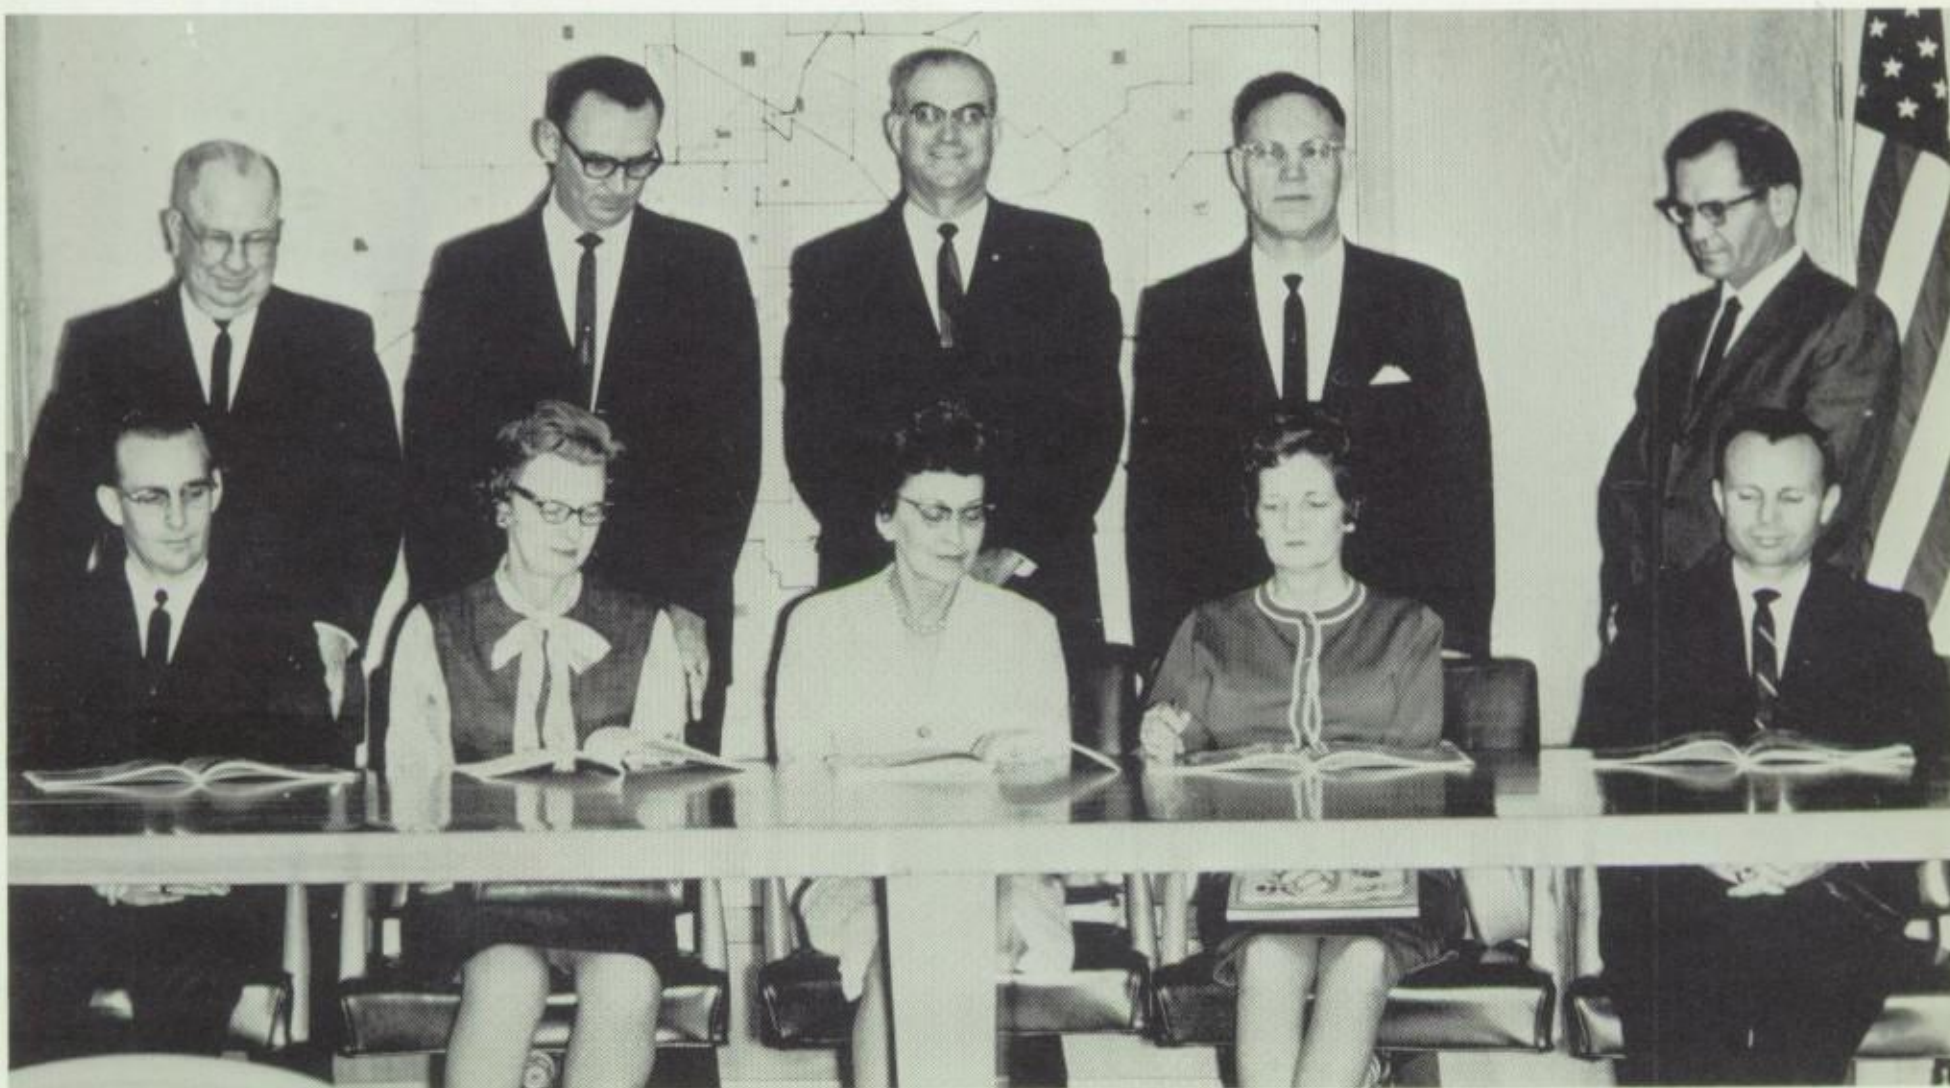

While Mr. Nat Williams listens attentively, Dr. Ishmael Hill voices his views on the solution of a current curricular problem.

Before attending a board meeting, Mr. Nat Williams and Dr. Ishmael Hill discuss the forthcoming agenda.

Administrators Fuse Efforts To Elevate School's Standards

Due to the increase in the student body and faculty this year, the responsibilities of administrative heads increased a proportionate amount. While working together in additional office space, they combined their efforts to insure the elevation of school standards.

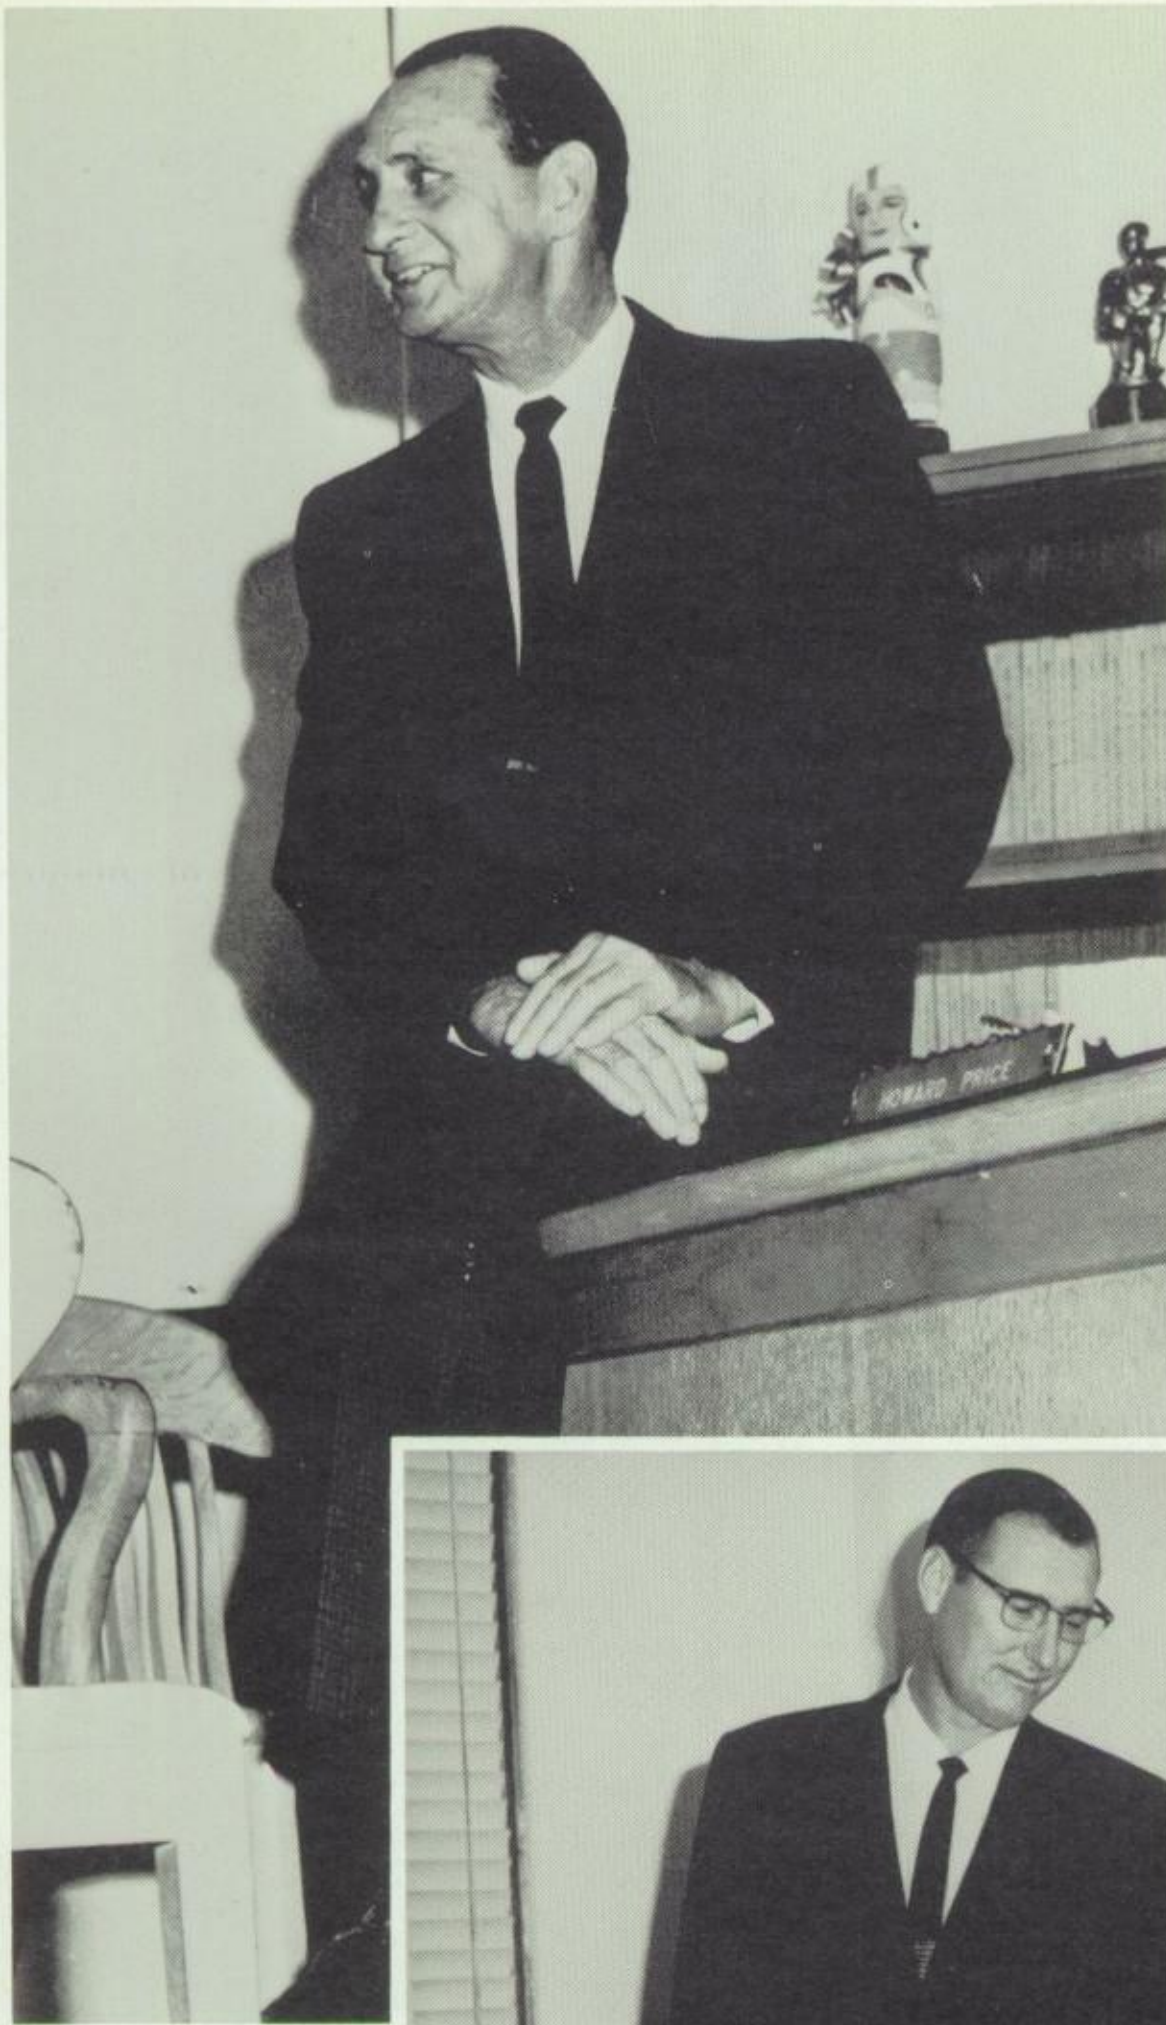

As the principal oversees all activities, the vice-principal is faced with all scheduling and disciplinary problems. The main concerns of the assistant principal are those of maintenance and bookroom supervision. Each counselor works closely with the individual student, helping to solve his personal problems, while the director of activities is in charge of all student council functions and audio-visual operations.

In an effort to achieve the ultimate in high school standards, Mr. E. C. Leslie, Vice Principal, and Mr. Olan Rice, Assistant Principal, fuse their duties of maintenance, scheduling, and discipline to create a unique working force.

Overseeing pep rallies, supervising student council meetings, and caring for A-V materials fills the busy schedule of Mr. Knox Williams, who will move to Assistant Principal next year.

While directing administrative duties, Principal Howard Price emphasizes student participation in all athletic, academic, and extra-curricular activities.

Playing a vital role in school functions and performing guidance services are counselors Mrs. Ethel Short, Pupil Personnel Services; Mr. Paul Young, Senior; Mr. Ronald Robertson, Junior; and Mrs. Hazel Morris, Sophomore.

Special Personnel Yield Many Services

Characterizing the typical "Angel of Mercy," Mrs. Jo Cline, LHS's first full-time nurse, attempts to solve a student's dilemma.

Often the backbone of a school lies in those people who work behind the scenes rendering services to both students and teachers. Included in this group are the clerks, custodians, speech therapist, nurse and cafeteria workers. They work to complete their individual jobs which range from typing absentee lists to sweeping at the end of the day.

With the emphasis on correct enunciation and pronunciation, speech therapist Mrs. Alphaeta Healer assists a student in overcoming her speech difficulties.

Widens Program

Endeavoring to accommodate the vast expansion in communications created in past years, Lubbock High's English department has been working to perfect and broaden its present programs.

Through knowledge gained by the study of Shakespeare and other writers, students are able to improve their oral and written compositions. As the year progresses, units in poetry and creative writing are introduced.

Members of sophomore and junior honor classes go into a thorough study of American and English literature while regular classes have a comprehensive course in grammar. Highlighting the second semester for juniors is the study of an American author and the writing of term themes.

Finally in the optional senior English classes, which are recommended as college preparatory, students go into a more detailed study of literature and one of vocations.

'Scientists' Confront Modern Concepts

Both in classroom discussion and laboratory experiments, LHS 'scientists' acquire basic fundamentals and a scientific background to meet the challenge of tomorrow's modern concepts. With emphasis on the space age and scientific research, students attain knowledge by the use of models, charts, projects, and lectures.

Students gain an overall understanding of this field in applied science; while the advanced courses of biology, physics, and chemistry test initiative and increase incentive. Biology students undergo a thorough study of both plant and animal kingdoms, as 'chemists' work with valences and formulas. Physics, the most advanced course offered in this department, exposes the scientifically-minded student to the application of difficult mathematical equations.

Language Students Experience Foreign Cultural Exchange

For at least an hour a day, the foreign language student transposes himself into a different world while new words and strange sounds create the unique atmosphere of cultural learning.

That student involving himself with Publius and Furianus discovers Latin a study in both the language of a lost people and the history of that people. German, Spanish and French students find their courses mainly concerned with the speaking of a common and present-day language.

Through the study of the cultures of these languages, the student gains a better insight into the American heritage.

Journalists 'Dig' Production Techniques

Under the direction of Mr. Bill Dean, journalism students dig into the technicalities of yearbook and newspaper productions each day in his sixth period class. Through a thorough study of writing techniques and the actual selling of advertisements, these journalists gain enjoyable yet educational experiences. Although the present units are concentrated on a broad outline of both newspaper and yearbook output, these students may extend their knowledge by actually working on one of the two staffs the next year or during the same year.

Craftsmen Develop Creative Know-How In Art Department

Because the art department has acquired such an extensive curriculum through classes in art, pottery, applied design, painting and graphic arts, any student with a creative knack is given ample opportunities to show his ability. Through special instruction and working closely with others, each student may develop his talents in any number of the creative phases of this field.

In more elementary courses, students are introduced to basic principles of lettering and coloring schemes which are frequently put to use in advanced courses. Also in later courses students begin to develop their ideas in sketch books.

Accumulative Studies

In the infinite scope of mathematical science, it is necessary to study a portion of the subjects to accumulate a basic understanding of the principles of the whole field.

Elementary analysis, introduced this year, presents an advanced study of algebra, while regular algebra classes are confronted with the solving of more elementary equations. Geometry, trig., and analytics are concerned with proofs and theorems, whereas applied math strengthens the basic mathematical knowledge of the students. As this basic understanding continues to a greater depth, students are constantly confronted with ideas and more advanced problems.

Vocal, Instrumental Groups Send Forth Continuous Melodies

At Lubbock High School, music is expressed in three different aspects. The first of these involves the choral department. The vocal student, after extensive voice training in high school and junior high works to attain a part in the highest choir, Westernaires. After having made Westernaires, these students spend many hours practicing for special assemblies and for membership tryouts in district and state choirs.

Orchestra, the second group, delicately performs the more lengthy and classical pieces, while the band is perpetually performing in pep rallies and at games with more rhythmical tunes. Instrumentalists in both groups work for high ratings in district meets and positions in the All-State band or orchestra.

For the musically-minded student, whether his interest be vocal or instrumental, the music department provides an outlet for this interest.

From the chills and fears that precede a play to the extensive research that foregoes a debate, a member of the speech department is continually on the go. Achieving the ability to speak or perform effectively and with ease before people is experienced by debate students as they compete in regional and district meets.

Play productions often hide the hours of preparation required to produce them. As each student does his part to complete the play, he learns acting techniques as well as forceful speech delivery.

Extemporaneous speaking and persuasive speaking enable students to extend their effectiveness to thinking at impromptu moments.

Whether delivering an informative speech or displaying dramatical traits before a waiting audience, timely training and practice are afforded through daily study in this field.

History Classes 'Dig Up' Past Events

This year the eleven faculty members of the history department are altering their basic approach. Teachers are promoting student discussion on a voluntary basis rather than depending on the conventional lecture method.

Many have tried to eliminate the over-study of well-known historical events by analyzing the effects of minor occurrences. The teachers' mutual objective has been to create more interest in subject matter and to encourage students to "dig out" unusual information for themselves through numerous reports and extensive use of cross-reference reading.

Covering a wide scope of time, history courses allow students to study the Biblical era or history as it is being made today.

Vigorous Exercises Stressed By

Exercising to limber up, junior Annette Anderson prepares for the strenuous routines executed in modern dance.

Designed to help the student obtain coordination, balance, and physical fitness, PE programs stress vigorous exercise in such activities as volleyball, basketball, baseball, football, and tennis. Students are required to participate in the President's Council of Youth Fitness tests, which measure and record each student's physical ability.

To help girls develop muscles that are not ordinarily used, scooter boards were introduced to girls' PE classes for the first time this year.

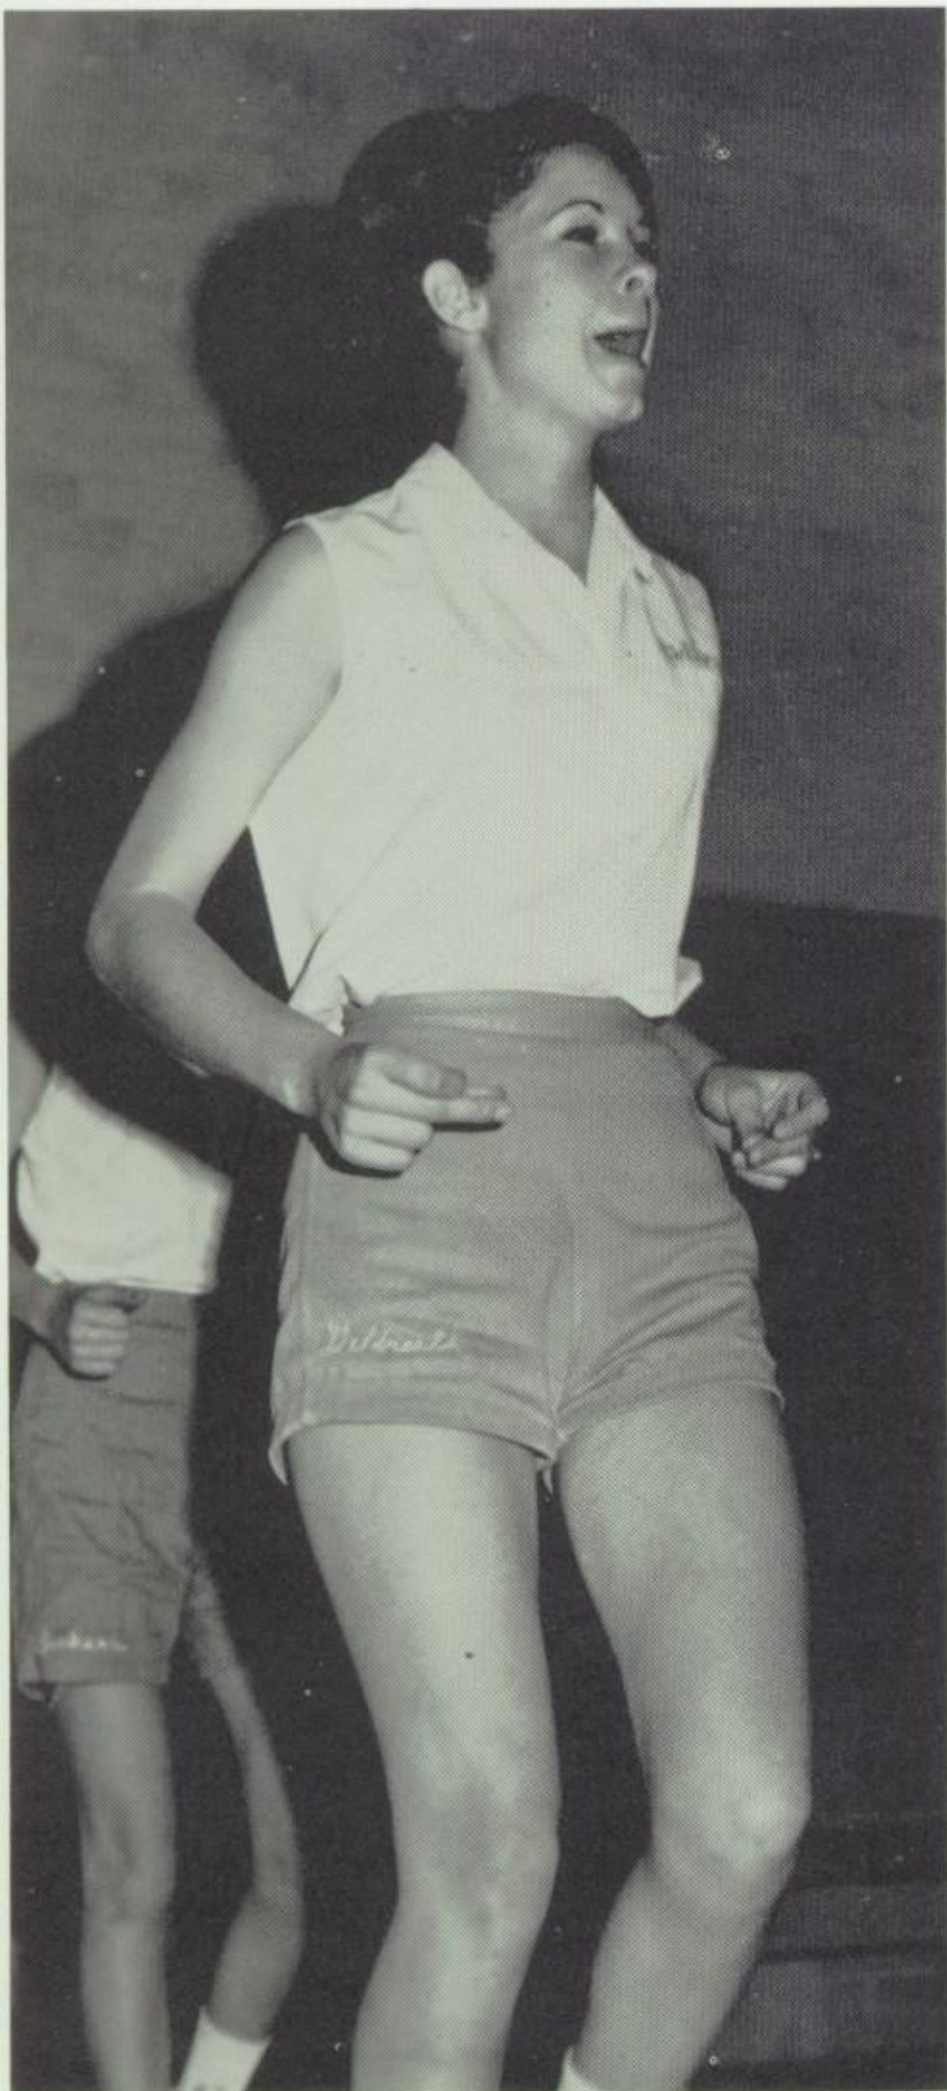

Near the end of basketball and volleyball units, intramural tournaments enable both boys and girls to compete against members of other classes for All-Star Championship.

Business Students Prepare To Enter 'Work-A-Day' World

By focusing their attention on future plans, many students in the business department take preparatory courses for jobs immediately following graduation, while others take such courses merely to lighten college studies.

Those contemplating an entrance into the business world evolve their schedules around such courses as clerical practice, general business, business math, and bookkeeping. In clerical practice, the most advanced business course, students learn to use such machines as electric typewriters, dictaphones, duplicators and other office machines.

Stenography and typing are offered to the secretarially minded and are often taken by college-bound students. In these classes, emphasis is placed on a high degree of speed along with constant accuracy. The business department is continually growing as more students begin to make use of the present facilities each year.

During a make-up hour, Miss Nelda Jobe explains the previous day's stenography lesson to Judy Brown, Linda Thomasson and Tony Wells.

While listening to a dictaphone recording, senior clerical practice student Donna Simmons practices typing by the frequently used sound-response method, a new innovation used in this field.

Young Homemakers Eye Future Plans In Basic Courses

Whether preparing for a role as a housewife or as a professional home economist, one can find suitable preparatory courses in the LHS homemaking department. Homemaking is taught in three basic areas: sewing, cooking, and family life.

Although most enroll in sewing and cooking courses to better those fundamental arts; child care and home and family living are offered to those who want to further their skill and attitude toward family life.

While explaining the intricacies of a finished article, juniors Susan Richards and Linda Costilla learn together the minute details of serving.

Examining the results of a clothing project, Connie Boyd, sophomore homemaking student, notices with care the finer details of her own sewing creation.

As Mrs. Wilma Dunias emphasizes the care of refrigerated foods, Charlotte Hendrick, Mika Irons, and Paula Hedrick listen attentively.

On-The-Job Training Creates

As she demonstrates the techniques of good salesmanship, Shirley Thornton, junior DE student, points out the quality of a throw rug.

Training as a lab technician, Barbara McEwan, senior ICT student, examines a blood smear at a local hospital.

Unique 'School'

Three areas of high school curriculum: distributive education, industrial cooperative training, and building construction technology, have a mutual purpose—to allow students to receive on-the-job training while working for their diploma. Students in these classes take required courses during part of the day and work at their individual jobs the rest of the day. Many work on Saturdays also.

Building construction technology, added this year, gives junior and senior boys an opportunity to learn carpentry by the actual building of a house. These students learn to use power tools and, by rotating crews, to work in all fields of carpentry. Rather than spend much time in classrooms, they work constantly on their "dream house."

In DE and ICT, students are paid wages for their efforts. These students attend school in the mornings and work on afternoon shifts. Distributive education is offered to students wishing to improve their salesmanship, whereas industrial cooperative training is fundamentally taken by students wishing to gain more technical training.

Semi-Professionals Receive Instruction In Technical Fields

If a typical female were to venture into the metal or auto shops of LHS, she might become fascinated by the roar of seemingly gigantic machinery or by the rapid pace set by the workers performing their semi-professional skills.

In the automotive technology section, she probably would encounter students caked with grease to their elbows rebuilding a car motor. While exploring the general metal's shop, she might find a boy cutting steel with a complicated device or another re-checking a finished product to be sure that it fits exact specifications. Such courses as these allow the masculine element of the school to gain essential knowledge and experience necessary to their chosen occupation.

After putting in new rings and inserts, senior Larry Knowles strains to replace the oil pan of a repaired car.

While reducing and smoothing a board for a woodworking project, Jim Ward, Larry Mankin and Donald Stevens learn the techniques of using the "surfacers," a necessary machine in this skilled classroom.

Craft Courses Stress Ingenuity, Skill

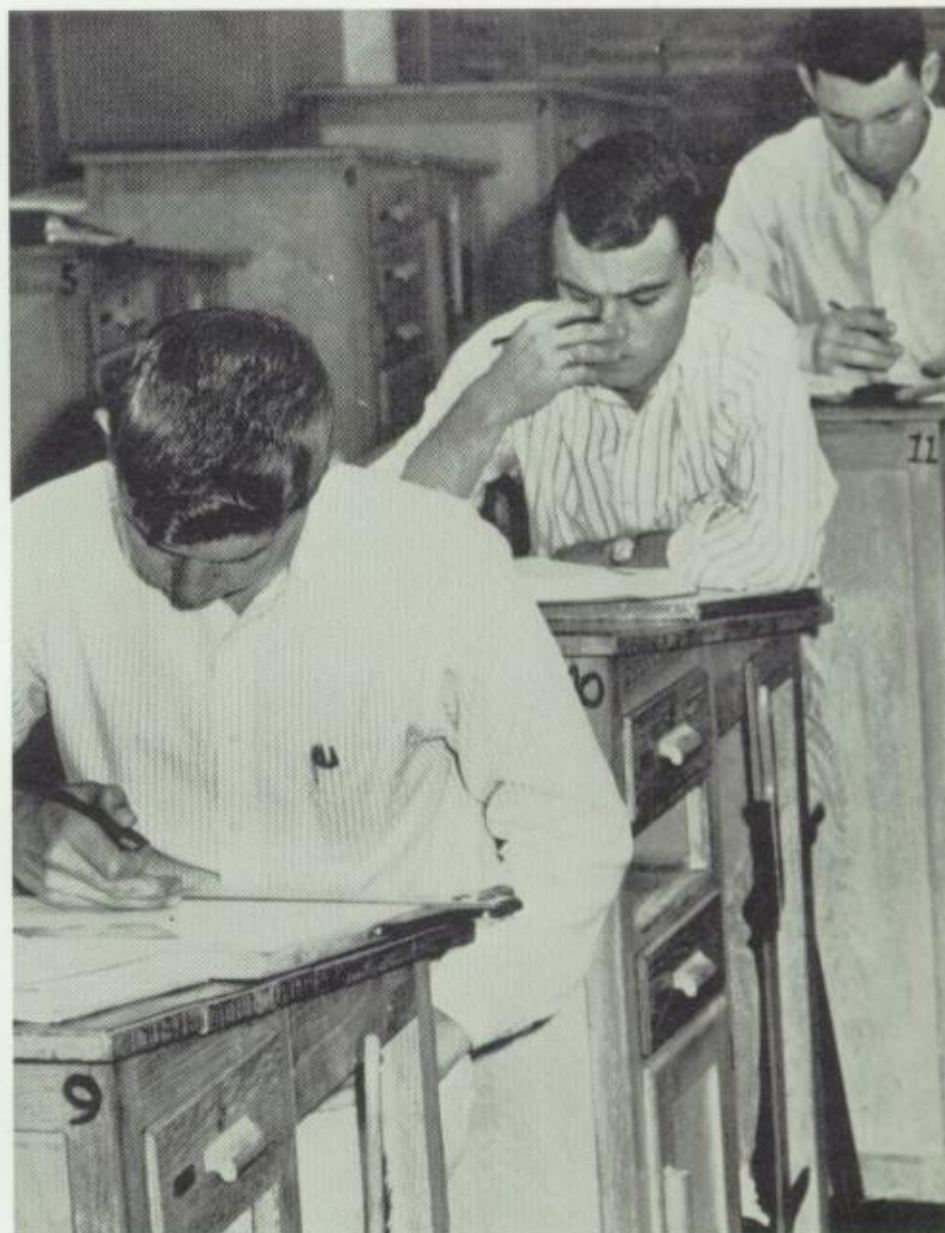

Besides the numerous physical additions at LHS this year, many curricular expansions have been accomplished. After acquiring a basic knowledge through beginning courses in woodworking and mechanical drawing, students may go into a greater depth of learning in secondary classes. Ingenuity and skill are incorporated into many articles which are produced in the woodworking shops; while mechanical drawing has been expanded to include courses in blue-printing as well as technical drafting. Advancing through many stages, students now may acquire a more well-rounded education in these fields.

Ag Boys Keep Farm In Top Condition

Although many boys take vocational agriculture with the objective of becoming farmers, others take it to gain a basic knowledge of animal care and crop cultivation. In the two hour class, principles of modern farming which are later applied to individual projects are studied thoroughly. Boys take on such duties as building fences, plowing fields and caring for animals, and keeping the LHS ag farm in "top" condition.

Before beginning to plow, Bobby Wilkinson takes the ag farm tractor on a trial run.

Library Staff Moves To New Location

In the many phases of expansion witnessed at LHS this year, the new library is one of the most prominent.

After the immense project of re-alphabetizing files was completed, the even greater job of moving each separate book from the old to the new library began. Arranging the books, magazines, and reference material in the well-appreciated space, librarians worked together to make available the new facilities to more students.

Making use of the increased facilities of the new library, students work at individual study desks and reference tables.

Honor Students Mix Effort, Efficiency

Comprising a group of devoted students with high scholastic ratings, National Honor Society provides additional training in leadership and scholarship. Eligible students are juniors and seniors with no grade below a B, and at least one A. These scholarly students help fellow classmates boost grade averages in difficult subjects by providing a morning tutoring service before school.

Each year NHS presents a $100 scholarship to the third highest student in grade average, who is not selected valedictorian or salutatorian. The fall and spring semester students are actively engaged in projects to raise money for the scholarship fund. Fall semester members organized into ten teams, which were to raise at least ten dollars each by having bake sales, selling vanilla extract, and coat hangers.

Selling a bottle of Watson's double-strength vanilla to senior Gary Harris, National Honor Society student Debby Byrd adds profit to the NHS fund.

Girls Emphasize Christian Fellowship

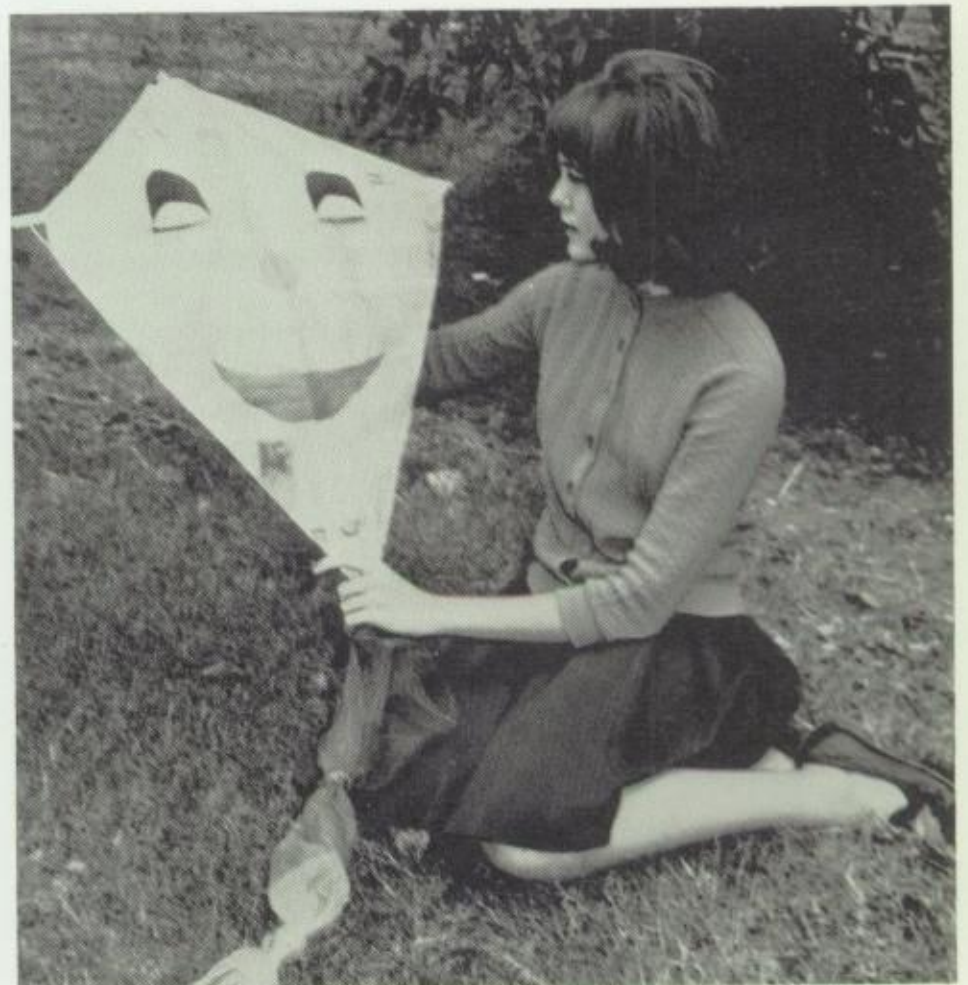

As a member of the YWCA, Y-Teens' main purpose is to build Christian fellowship among young girls. This goal is obtained by participating in various club functions, including numerous service programs such as the adoption of a Korean orphan and clothing drives for needy families. Money raising projects—cookie sales for homeroom parties, a spring kite-flying contest, and the traditional mum sale for the Lubbock-Monterey game—provide funds to carry out these service projects.

Adding fun and social experience to the 250 girls' agenda are the initiation service, a hot chocolate party, and the annual Sweetheart Banquet and hamburger fry.

Legislative Action

Hi-Y combines spiritual guidance with leadership qualities to provide club functions for 41 boys. Although there are two separate clubs—Westerner Senior Hi-Y and Lubbock Sophomore-Junior Hi-Y—the clubs work jointly to carry out their various programs.

Fall activities include a Pre-legislative conference at Texas Tech and Youth and Government in Austin. This year's club sent Keeton Zachary as Senator and Don Lamprecht as Representative to Youth and Government. These boys performed actual duties of Texas Legislators. Any bills passed by the Hi-Y members will go to the Texas legislature for proposal. The boys also participate in a Spring Conference at Texas Tech.

Throughout the year, inspirational and educational programs are stressed at club meetings, as well as opportunities to learn more about government through guest speakers, governmental films, and delegate reports.

Unique Riots

Bedlam broke out among the "foreigners" at LHS when two language clubs introduced new activities this year. Gens Togata instigated an informal initiation, "A Trip Through Hades," for their pledges. The old members dressed in the Roman style of the aristocrats, and initiates wore the simple slave tunics. The "trip" consisted of a tour through a horror house resembling dungeons in the days of Caesar.

Turning from an earlier age to the reality of today, El Club Pan Americano battled in a shaving cream fight with the Monterey Spanish Club. Later, club members enjoyed a Mexican Fiesta, a formal dinner served in native style.

Proving their serious aims, both Gens Togata and El Club Pan Americano settled down to serious Thanksgiving and Christmas projects. Each organization conducted rummage sales as money-raising projects for various banquets and other club activities.

Rather absorbed in his subject, James Bass defends himself during a shaving cream battle initiated this year between Monterey and Lubbock Spanish clubs.

Le Cercle Francais Develops Knowledge Of Romantic French

For the students of Le Cercle Francais, a mysterious mood of romance and excitement mingles with the year's activities. Club members are encouraged to explore customs and cultures of the French people, ancestral to present.

Setting the moods for the "French explorers," the club programs provide unusual skits, films, and well-informed speakers. Annual events which create enthusiasm for the members include an initiation party and a French night club. As fund-raising projects this year, Le Cercle Francais conducted a puppy sale, a rummage sale, and a car wash.

Checking sizes and conditions of clothing donated for the French Club's fund-raising rummage sale are members June Waggoner and Mickey Seymour.

Piling up merit points earned by practical experiences, such as grading papers, filing, and typing for the teaching staff at LHS, each participant strives for "High Point Member." The selection of Teacher of the Month, climaxed with the voting of Teacher of the year, is a new feature of FTA. The club further honors faculty members during Teacher Appreciation Week.

Jake Night Pledges Personify Beasts, Entertain Members

Quill and Scroll, national honor society for high school journalists, each year presents a scholarship to a worthy senior planning to major in the field of journalism. As a fund-raising project, members sell plastic yearbook covers to boost the club's treasury.

Turning to the lighter side of life, this year Quill and Scroll engaged in a spin of social affairs. The most prominent and unusual party was the annual Jake Night Initiation. New pledges arrived in flocks, packs, and herds, ranging in variety from owls and peacocks to lions and bears. The true-to-life "menagerie" dutifully obeyed their masters, that is upper-classmen, by literally waiting on them hand and foot. Initiates were later honored by a formal initiation where they were presented the Quill and Scroll pin.

Climaxing a week of torment, pledges Marilyn Neunaber and Howard Cameron delight in "turning the tables" on old member Delila Stephens by supplying a couple of "helping" hands at the Jake Night supper.

GRA, FNA Stress Health Programs

Serving as candy strippers and orderlies in local hospitals, members of Future Nurses of America gain valuable training for their decided occupations. These volunteer services are carried out through working after school and on Saturdays. Films, discussions, and speakers are included in the club's program.

Members of Girls' Recreational Association probably have the least need for services rendered by future nurses, for GRA's emphasis is on physical fitness. Hardy exercise, recreational games, and other health programs contribute to an interesting and healthy year.

Scientific Clubs

Learning to determine hydrolic contents and discovering chemical reactions of certain solutions are only two of the problems delved into by members of "Telling New Truths." TNT is designed for junior and senior students who have at least a "C" average and are presently enrolled in chemistry. Tuesday meetings include field trips, films, and unique experiments.

While TNT concentrates on chemical reactions, the Amateur Radio Club explores the world of communication. By developing code practice and demonstrating radio equipment, each member gains practical experience in operating radios. The club also delivers Civil Defense messages on the school's radios as well as their own sets.

Keeping chemistry lab material in order are TNT officers Albert Parrott, vice-president; John O'Neal, secretary; and Don Coleman, president.

Thespians also gain experience in production of drama, and members benefit from instructional and entertaining programs during club meetings.

The members of National Forensic League participate with more realistic affairs as they devote much time to research and organization of facts for debate. Many club programs deal with poetry and prose reading.

Interscholastic League competition provides an opportunity for both speech and debate enthusiasts to display their abilities and talent. The dramatists and orators' year ends with district competition in the spring.

Melvil Dewey Captures District Honors

Melvil Dewey, an organization for library assistants, offers an opportunity to increase literary knowledge in several aspects of life. Covering future job opportunities, individual hobbies, and general know-how of a library, the club places special emphasis on personal characters of its members.

An active chapter, present members hold three district offices including president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary; as well as having representatives to both the State Executive Board and the State Nominating Committee. The ingenuity of these members was further shown in their outstanding competition.

A new atmosphere surrounds Melvil Dewey Club this year with the addition of a modern library which includes lounge furniture and conference, work, and listening rooms. Club members waxed and polished the new furniture and prepared bulletin board displays.

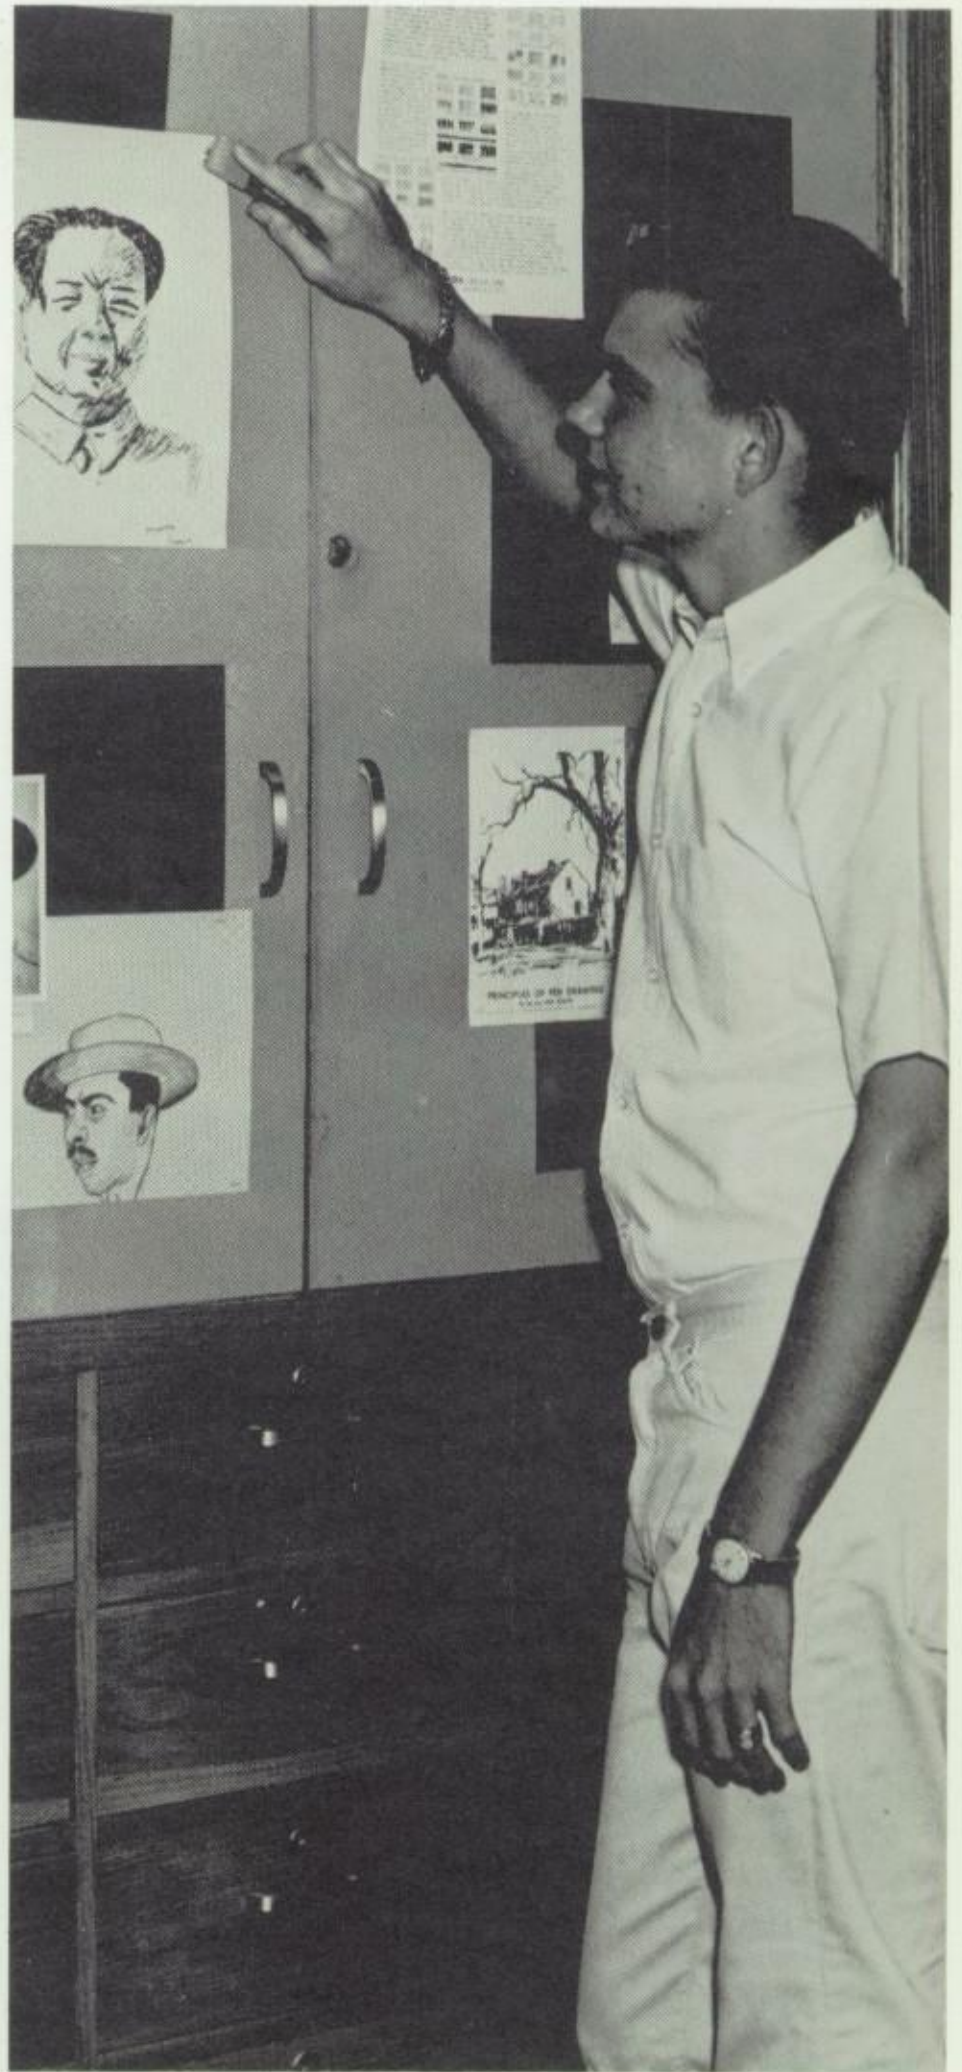

Fulfilling official duties for the Melvil Dewey Club, Lee Finch, parliamentarian, and Rita Corley, reporter, begin the task of shelving books in the spacious new library.

Art Club Offers Tints Of Creativity

Blending a taste of creativity and culture, Splash or Splatter, LHS art club, offers members a menu of opportunities. Club participants are given the chance to discover and develop their talents for either a hobby or a future occupation.

Heading the agenda for the SOS schedule are programs which include speakers from both LHS and Texas Tech, demonstrations, and field trips. This year's club activities were based on service projects for the school, such as art work for the Senior Carnival and Round-up.

As the fall term begins, another active year also starts for art club officers, Judy Mask, co-vice-president; Donna Hudson, co-vice-president; Brenda Turner, secretary; and John O'Neal, president.

There are few organizations in which efforts exerted by a small group of students becomes beneficial to the entire student body as well as to the individual himself. Co-ordinating, as well as directing extra-curricular activities, the student council serves as a medium through which the student population is incorporated into all school functions.

Committee heads consolidate the working and enjoyable aspects of their jobs when directing the activities of the respective groups. Besides endeavoring to improve the traffic problems facing students, the Traffic and Safety Committee assumes the task of scheduling fire and civil defense drills. Members of the Buddy Committee

Publicity Committee workers spend hours preparing posters and banners to advertise extracurricular events, while the Publications Committee undertakes the job of compiling and printing the student directory. Band

'Lung Power' And 'Small Stick'

Speak loudly and carry a small stick. This is Mr. Paul Branom's formula for rounding up the Lubbock Westerner bandsmen each fall and teaching them new marching performance drills. Putting his organizational formula into action, Mr. Branom employs lung power to help him "speak loudly" while using his baton, "the small stick," to co-ordinate band presentations.

Aside from playing at pep rallies and entertaining at half-time shows for football games, the band also performed in special assemblies for various junior high schools.

Although many tedious hours are spent in practice, musicians take time out to participate in extra-curricular groups, such as Band Boys and Band Girls.

Adding spice to half-time band performances are drum majors and majorettes FRONT ROW Timmons and Horner. BACK ROW Irvin, Morris, Evans, Hutchins, and Reynolds.

Orchestra

'Strings Are Attached' For Recognition

Organized in 1924, the honor-winning LHS orchestra has kept its heritage, receiving countless awards and honors. This year, member musicians took part in the annual All-State competition in Dallas sponsored by the Texas Music Educators Association. In December, the orchestra presented a concert to the public to help raise money for the trip. Performers also participated in the Interscholastic League Contest this spring in competition for sweepstakes award.

Many hours of practice and concentration prepare students to combine their abilities in the approximate eighty-piece group. Under the direction of Mr. George Robinson, members play selections from classical composers as well as popular music pieces.

History For Choral Department

Making history for the LHS choral department, the Westernaire choir performed in a concert at Texas Tech's Museum Auditorium upon special request from a Tech faculty committee. The only high school choral group featured in the Twilight Music Hour program, the Senior A Cappella choir presented a varied list of selections in the all-college festival.

Because of her "doctor's orders," Mrs. Everett Carver, choral director at Lubbock High for ten and one half years, retired at midterm. Mr. Gene Medley replaced the long-time music instructor.

After many years of directing all LHS choirs, Mrs. Mildred Carver retired at mid-term with a treasure of memories.

Musical Knowledge, Diligent Practice Produce Perfection

Conscientious practice supplemented by a fundamental knowledge of music enables members of the Sophomore Choralaire choir and the Harmonaires, senior girls' glee, to become more skilled as vocalists.

Combining their talents, Choralaire and Harmonaires participated in the annual Christmas assembly and provided inspirational music for special Morning Watch devotionals. While the sophomore choristers work to obtain positions in the Westernaire Choir, Harmonaires are primarily interested in excelling in one of their favorite pastimes . . . singing. Competition also consumes time for both groups.

Silhouetted in the arch of sunlight, a choir member pauses from a vigorous round of traditional Christmas caroling.

Choirs Serve Community Through Music

Presenting performances for school organizations and civic clubs are Madrigal, Trebleaire, and Chordaire ensembles. These choristers, who are members of the Westernaires, sing for P.T.A. meetings, Morning Watch, and Women's Business Clubs, striving to gain experience and to perfect their voices.

Rythmaires, boys' glee, and Melloaires, sophomore girls' glee, spend many hours preparing for assemblies, performances at other schools, and contests. This year they participated in the annual Christmas assembly along with other LHS choirs.

Yearbook Preserves Westerner Memories

After a week of study at the Texas A&M Journalism Workshop, WESTERNER co-editors Sandra James and Karen Thomas are welcomed home by assistant editor Marilyn Neunaber.

Imbedding in print an unforgettable year is the task met and conquered by a small group of students as they trace the joys and sorrows of each Westerner.

Playing an important role in the quality of publications, photographers frantically work in the dark room to answer frenzied cries for more pictures.

Earning an All-American Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, the 1964 WESTERNER also received an A+ from the National School Yearbook Association.

Plays

Thespians Follow Shakespearean Image

Agreeing with Shakespeare's statement that "the play's the thing," plays production students experience the thrill of bright lights, scenery, and opening night excitement—all components of the world of the theater. Drama students study all stages of plays production and drama, from making scenery to acting and directing plays.

Under the supervision of Miss Helen Schafer, thespians performed in two Children's Theater productions, "The Clown Who Ran Away," and "Simple Simon." For the traditional Thanksgiving assembly, drama students enacted "America's Decision." In addition to this, three farces, "The Bald Soprano," "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," and "How to Propose," also provided entertainment for Westerners.

One of the many immigrants who ventured forth to colonize the new land, Alan Nichols guides the Mayflower to its destination in "America's Decision," a traditional Thanksgiving play presented by the plays production department.

Spiritual Guidance Emphasized Through Morning Devotional

Providing early morning devotionals and spiritual guidance, Morning Watch offers students and teachers an opportunity to "start the day off right."

Spending many summer vacation hours in preparation, officers worked diligently on posters in order to boost attendance and create interest in the non-denominational religious organization.

Meeting each Friday, Morning Watch possesses a varied program agenda consisting of special speakers, chalk-talks, and various school choral groups. Among honored guests who provided spiritual inspiration were Mr. Tedd Smith and Mr. Grady Wilson, members of the Billy Graham Crusade Team.

Sports

When certain Westerners give of themselves and their talents to represent their school in athletic competition, they ask in return a co-operative student body—one to support them in times of victory, to maintain spirit in times of defeat.

Varsity managers John Turquette and Terry Brooks issue Richard Barrett a game uniform as part of their daily chores.

Assistant Coaches Join Football Staff

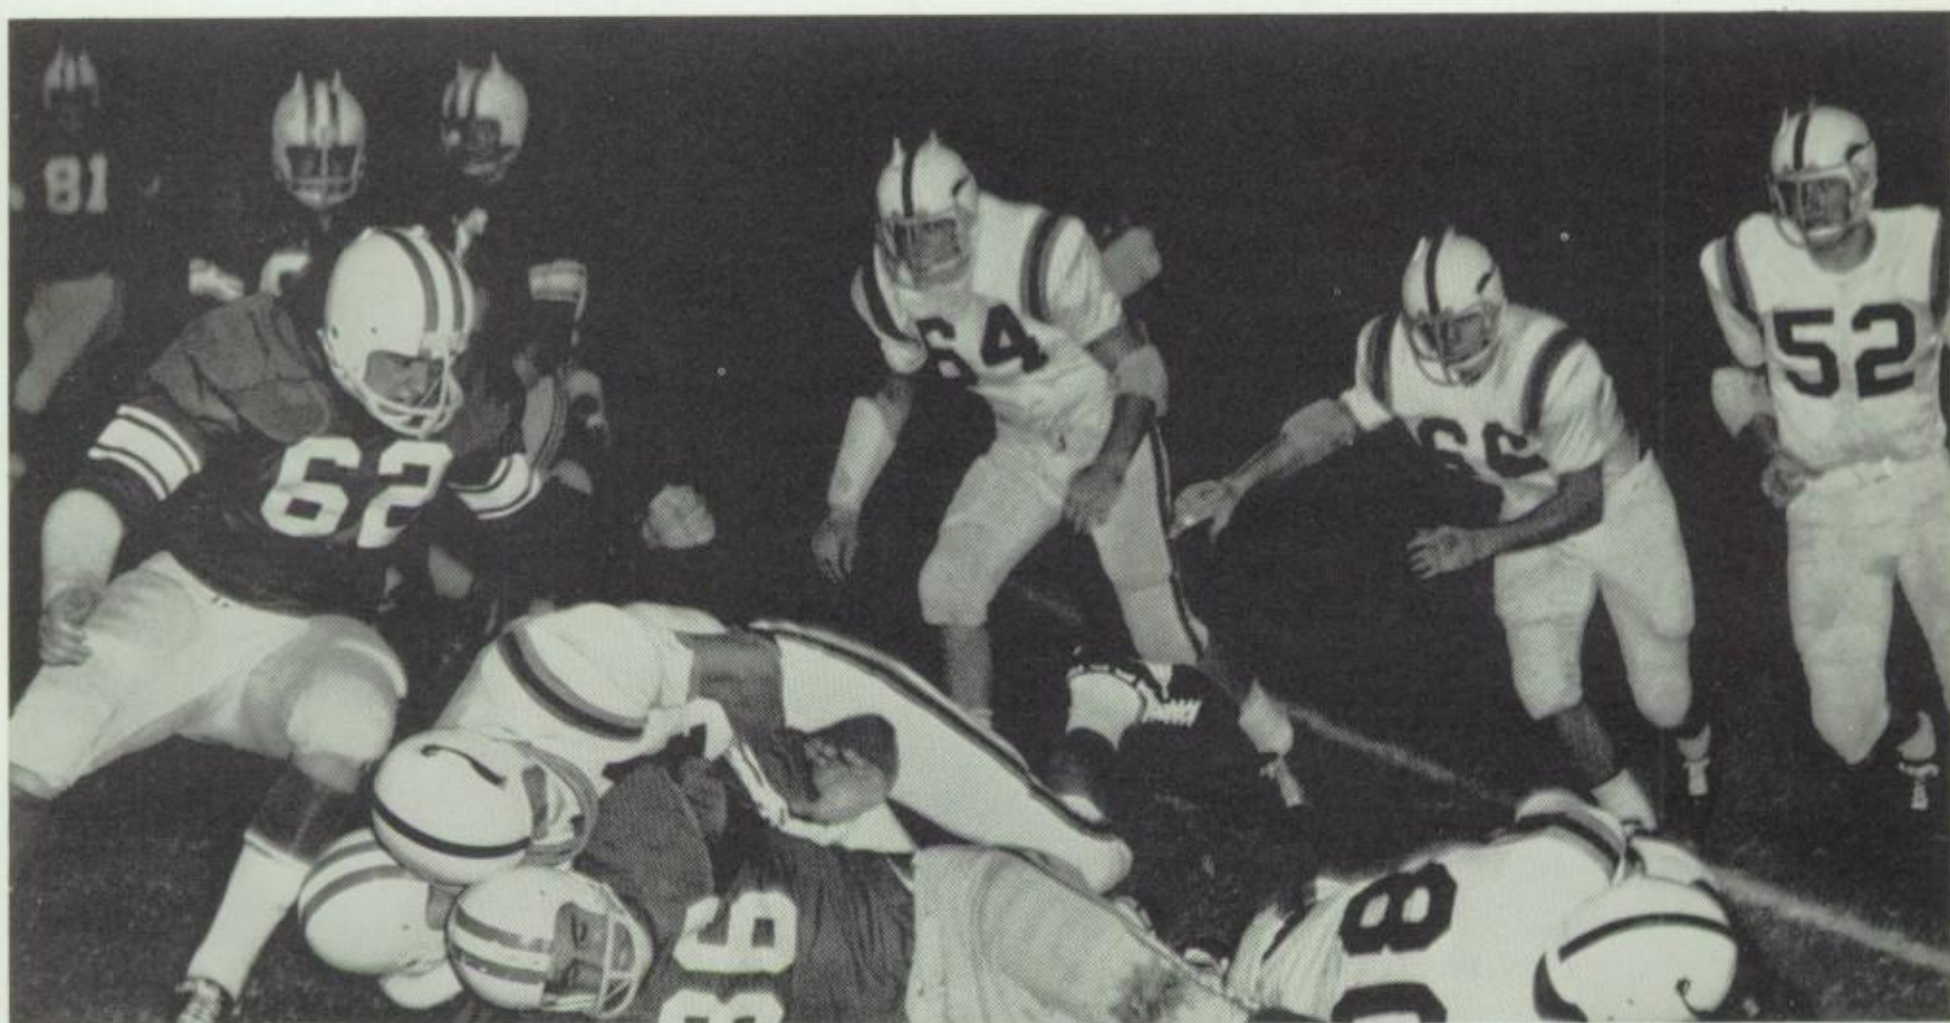

Helping co-ordinate varsity assignments are coaches Claude Chappell, defensive line; George Wright, backfield; and Luke Thomas, offensive line.

Replacing Coach Tommy Turner as defensive line coach for the 1964-65 season was Coach Claude Chappell, former junior high mentor in Lubbock. Coach Chappell began his coaching duties at LHS last spring with the opening of spring training. He attended Van Horn High School and then went to Texas Western where he played football and graduated in 1957.

Two other additions to the football coaching staff were Jack Fry and Eldon Hawley. Coach Fry, who lettered in football at Stephen F. Austin College, replaced Coach Earl Parker, last year's Cowhand head coach. Coach Hawley, a letterman in track and football at Arkansas State Teachers College, assisted Coach Fry. Coach Hawley is the defensive line coach for the "B" team.

In Lubbock's first district outing on Sept. 26, the Tascosa Rebels staggered to a 13-7 victory over the Black and Gold in Amarillo. Despite a strong ground attack which netted 232 yards, the Westerners' upset bid was foiled by a 38-yard touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter by Tascosa. Lubbock's lone tally came on a 79-yard run by quarterback Mike Bowman, who also kicked the extra point.

The following week, on Oct. 2, the Black and Gold defeated Caprock by a 21-13 margin. A two-yard plunge by Joe Mac Tilson, a 29-yard run by Bowman, and a 30-yard pass from Bowman to Don Burrell accounted for the three touchdowns. Bowman again split the up-rights three times for the extra points.

Two first quarter fumbles proved costly to the Westerners Oct. 9, as the Palo Duro Dons scored two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and went on to win 19-14 over Lubbock. Touchdowns by Ronnie Webb and Bowman gave the Westerners their only scores, excluding the two extra points by Bowman.

District Hopes Fall As 'Dogs Triumph

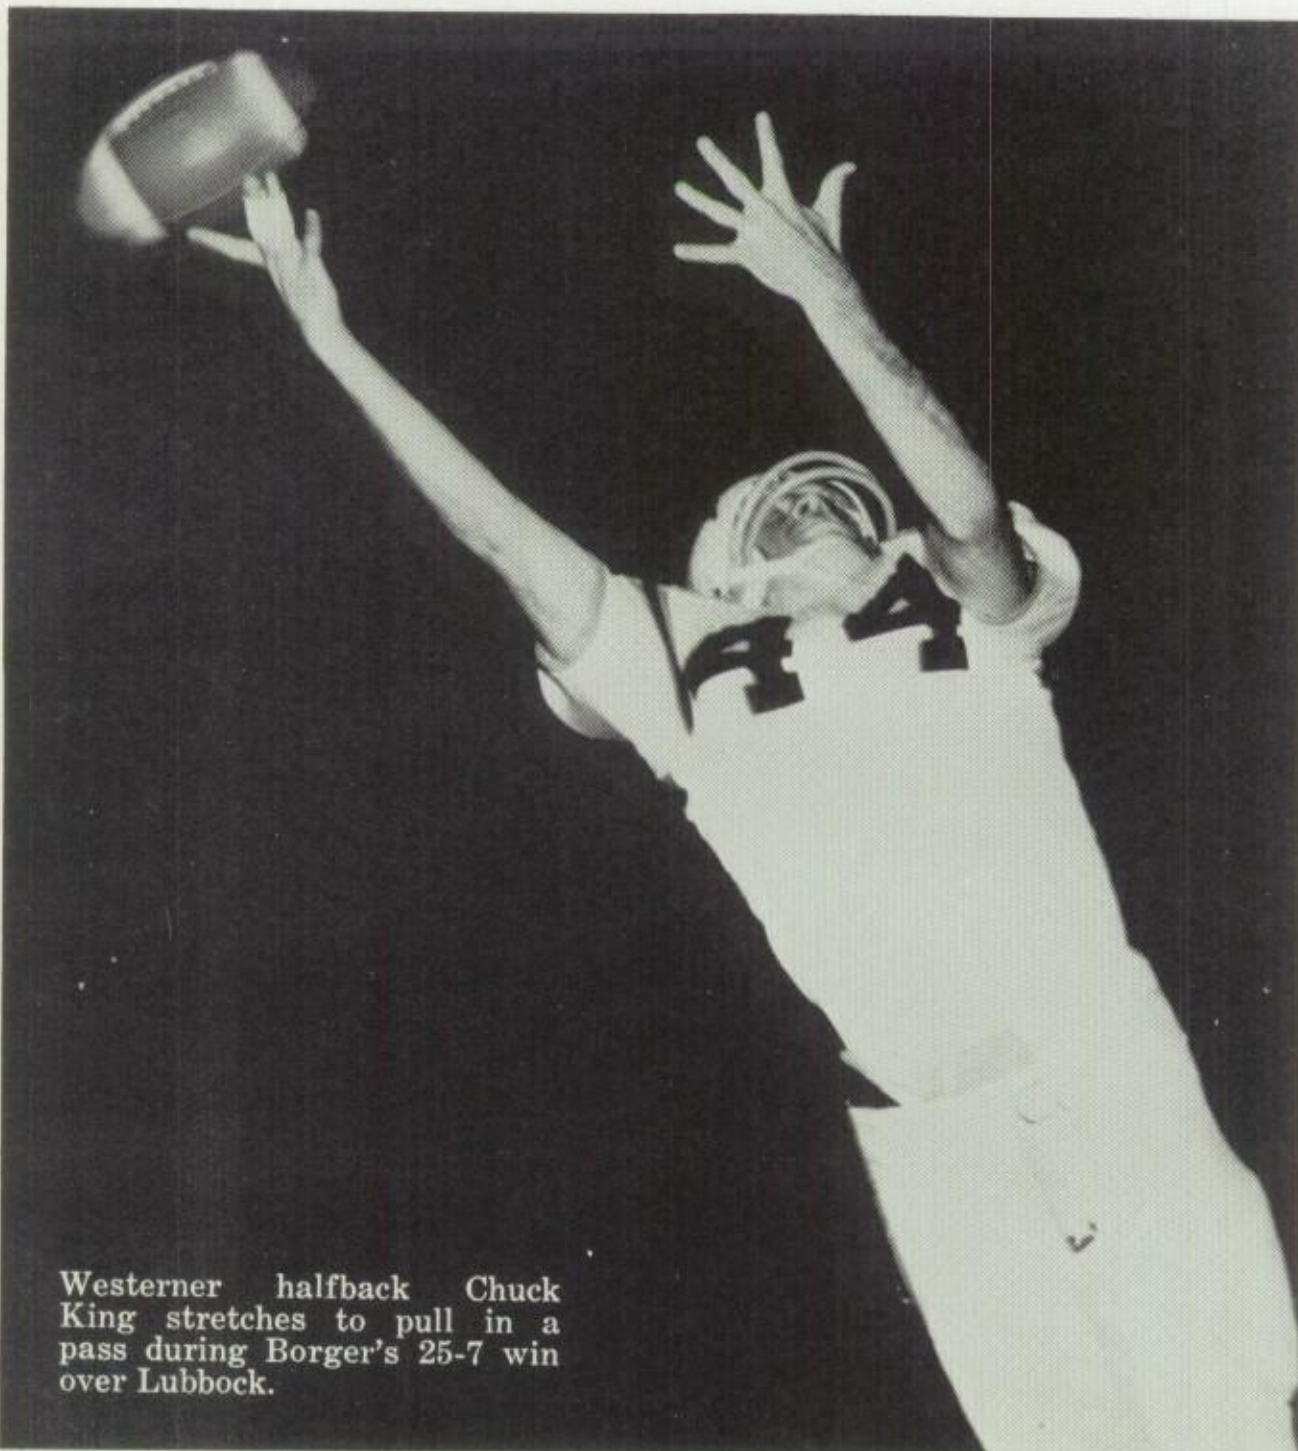

LHS was virtually eliminated from the district race as the Borger Bulldogs once again overpowered the Westerners by a 25-7 margin at Lowrey Field, Oct. 17. A strong ground attack headed by David Dillingham, Terry Teague, and Pete Loftis racked up a total of 360 yards for the northern foes. Lubbock's ground attack was cut short as only 70 yards were gained, but the Black and Gold's air attack kept the Westerners from being completely shut out as a 47-yard pass-run play by Mike Bowman and Roy Farmer netted six points and accounted for a part of Lubbock's 155 yards gained through the air. Without fail, Bowman added another PAT to his record. Fullback Ronnie Webb led the Lubbock team with 34 yards rushing.

In their fifth district game, the Westerners romped to a 32-14 victory over Pampa's Harvesters. Mike Bowman scampered 23 yards for a touchdown and passed to Don Burrell and Chuck King for two more Lubbock scores. Roy Farmer and Ronnie Webb each scored six points on runs of 23 and one yards, respectively. Bowman kicked two extra points.

One week later the Plainview Bulldogs invaded Lubbock to take a 35-17 victory over the Black and Gold. The Westerner attack was headed by halfback King as he was on the receiving end of an 18-yard touchdown pass from Bowman and then ran 34 yards for another LHS tally. Black And Gold Startles Sandies 20-14

Lubbock's scrambling Westerners scored three rapid touchdowns and then snuffed out a late Amarillo drive to take a 20-14 upset victory over the Sandies at Lowery Field, November 13. Mike Bowman passed to end Don Burrell to set up the first Lubbock tally, then two plays later went around left end for the six pointer. On the play following the Westerner kick-off, Roy Farmer recovered a Sandie fumble in mid air and raced 15 yards untouched for the second Westerner tally. Bowman then passed to Burrell for the two-point conversion. End Charlie Evans quickly grabbed off an Amarillo pass and rambled to the 12 to set up the final score, which was recorded by Ronnie Webb on a one-yard plunge.

Conclusive Victory Brings Home Spurs

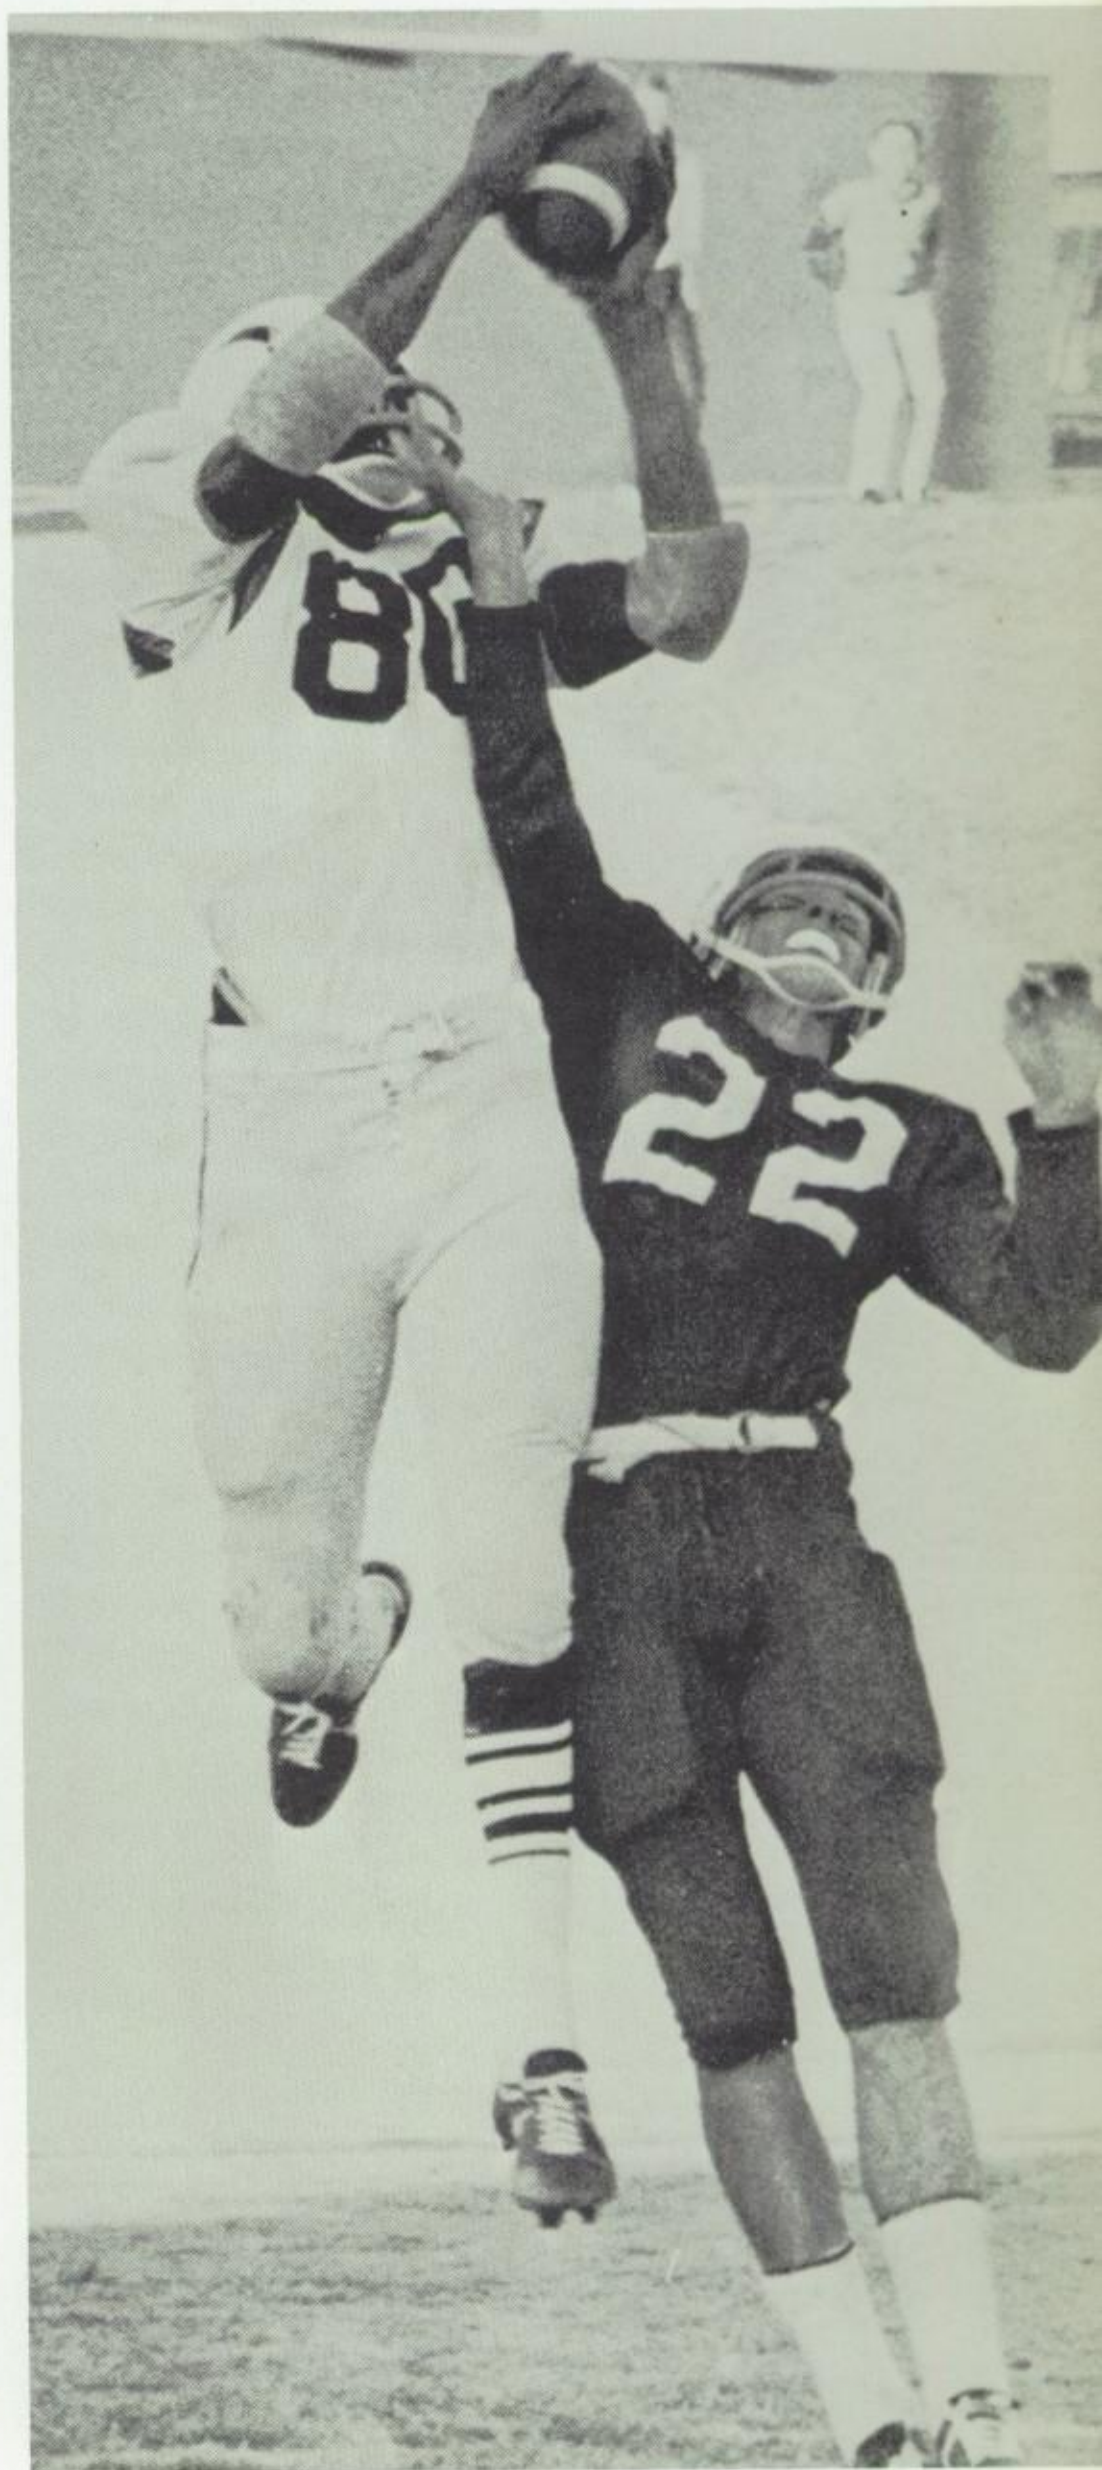

Playing one of their most impressive games of the year on Nov. 20, the Westerners dumped cross-town rival Monterey 19-13 to retain possession of the coveted Silver Spurs for the second straight year.

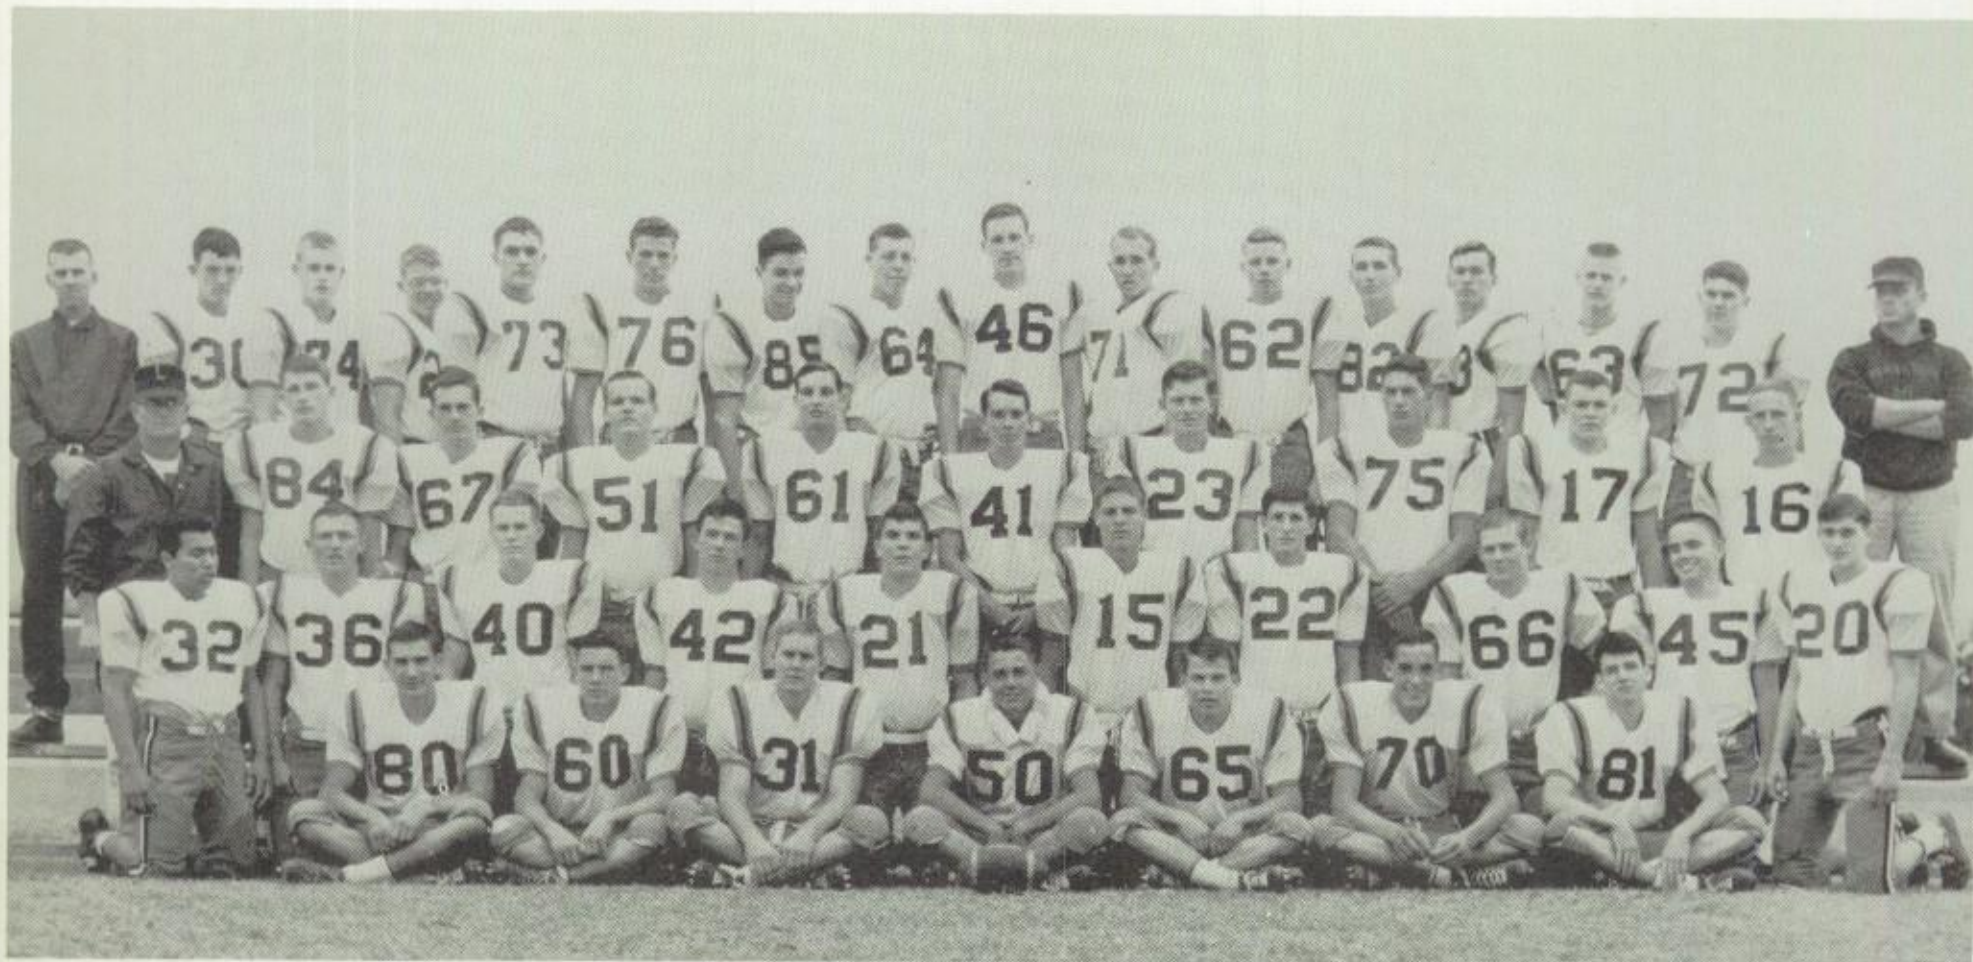

The Lubbock attack was spearheaded by quarterback Mike Bowman as he passed for a total of 120 yards, including two touchdowns. The Black and Gold scored the first time they got their hands on the ball as fullback Ronnie Webb pushed over six points on a three-yard plunge that ended a 76-yard drive. After a Monterey touchdown, Lubbock stormed back and scored on a 16-yard pass-and-run play from Bowman to Roy Farmer. Another Plainsman drive tied the score, but LHS retaliated as end Don Burrell made an outstanding catch in the end zone on a 25-yard pass from Bowman with 2:08 left for what proved to be the winning margin.

After their decisive victory over Monterey, Westerner Co-Captains accept the Silver Spurs for the second consecutive year.

Westerner end Don Burrell hauls in the game-winning pass during Lubbock's 19-14 victory over cross-town rivals Monterey.

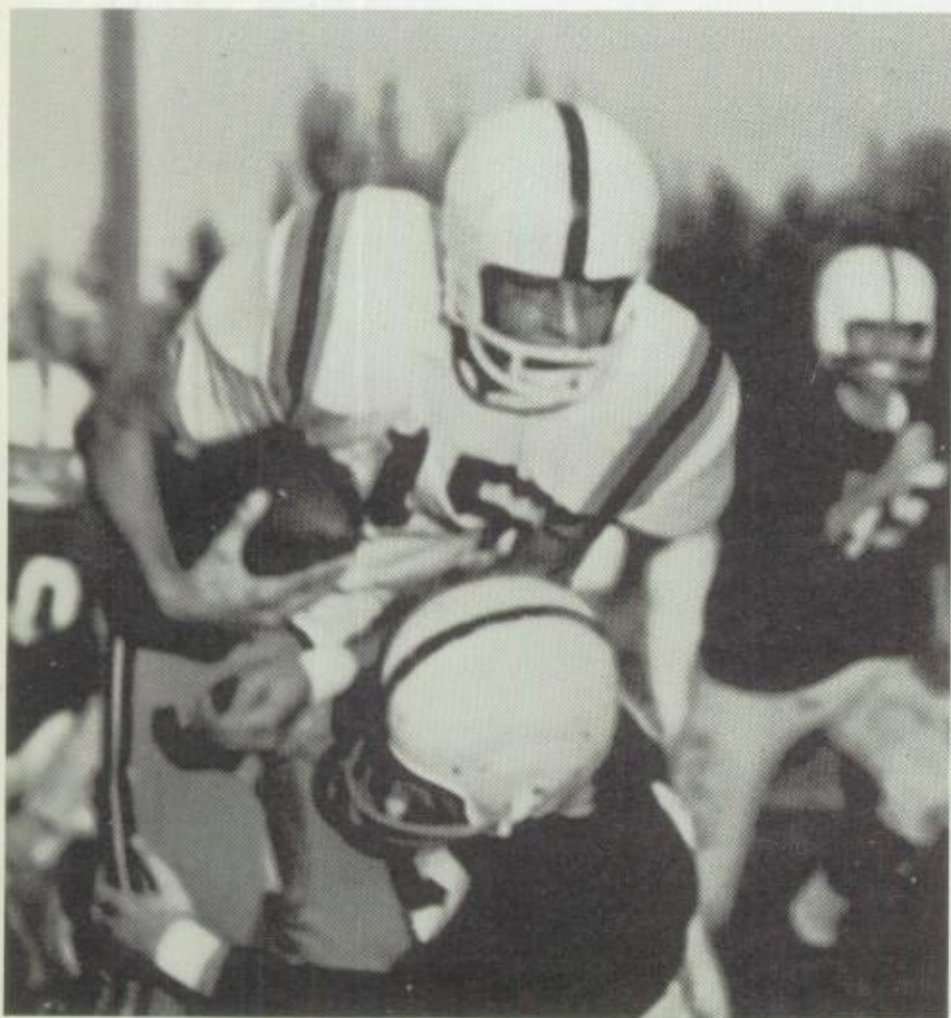

Lubbock's Cowhands for the 1964 season are BOTTOM ROW Thorneburg, Wallace, Hobbs, Ware, Followill, Horne, and Jones. SECOND ROW Valles, Winton, Mickell, Gage, Addison, Underwood, Hendon, Forrest, Reeves, and Ewetz. THIRD ROW Coach Parker, Daniels, Luna,

Cowhands End Season With 7-3 Record

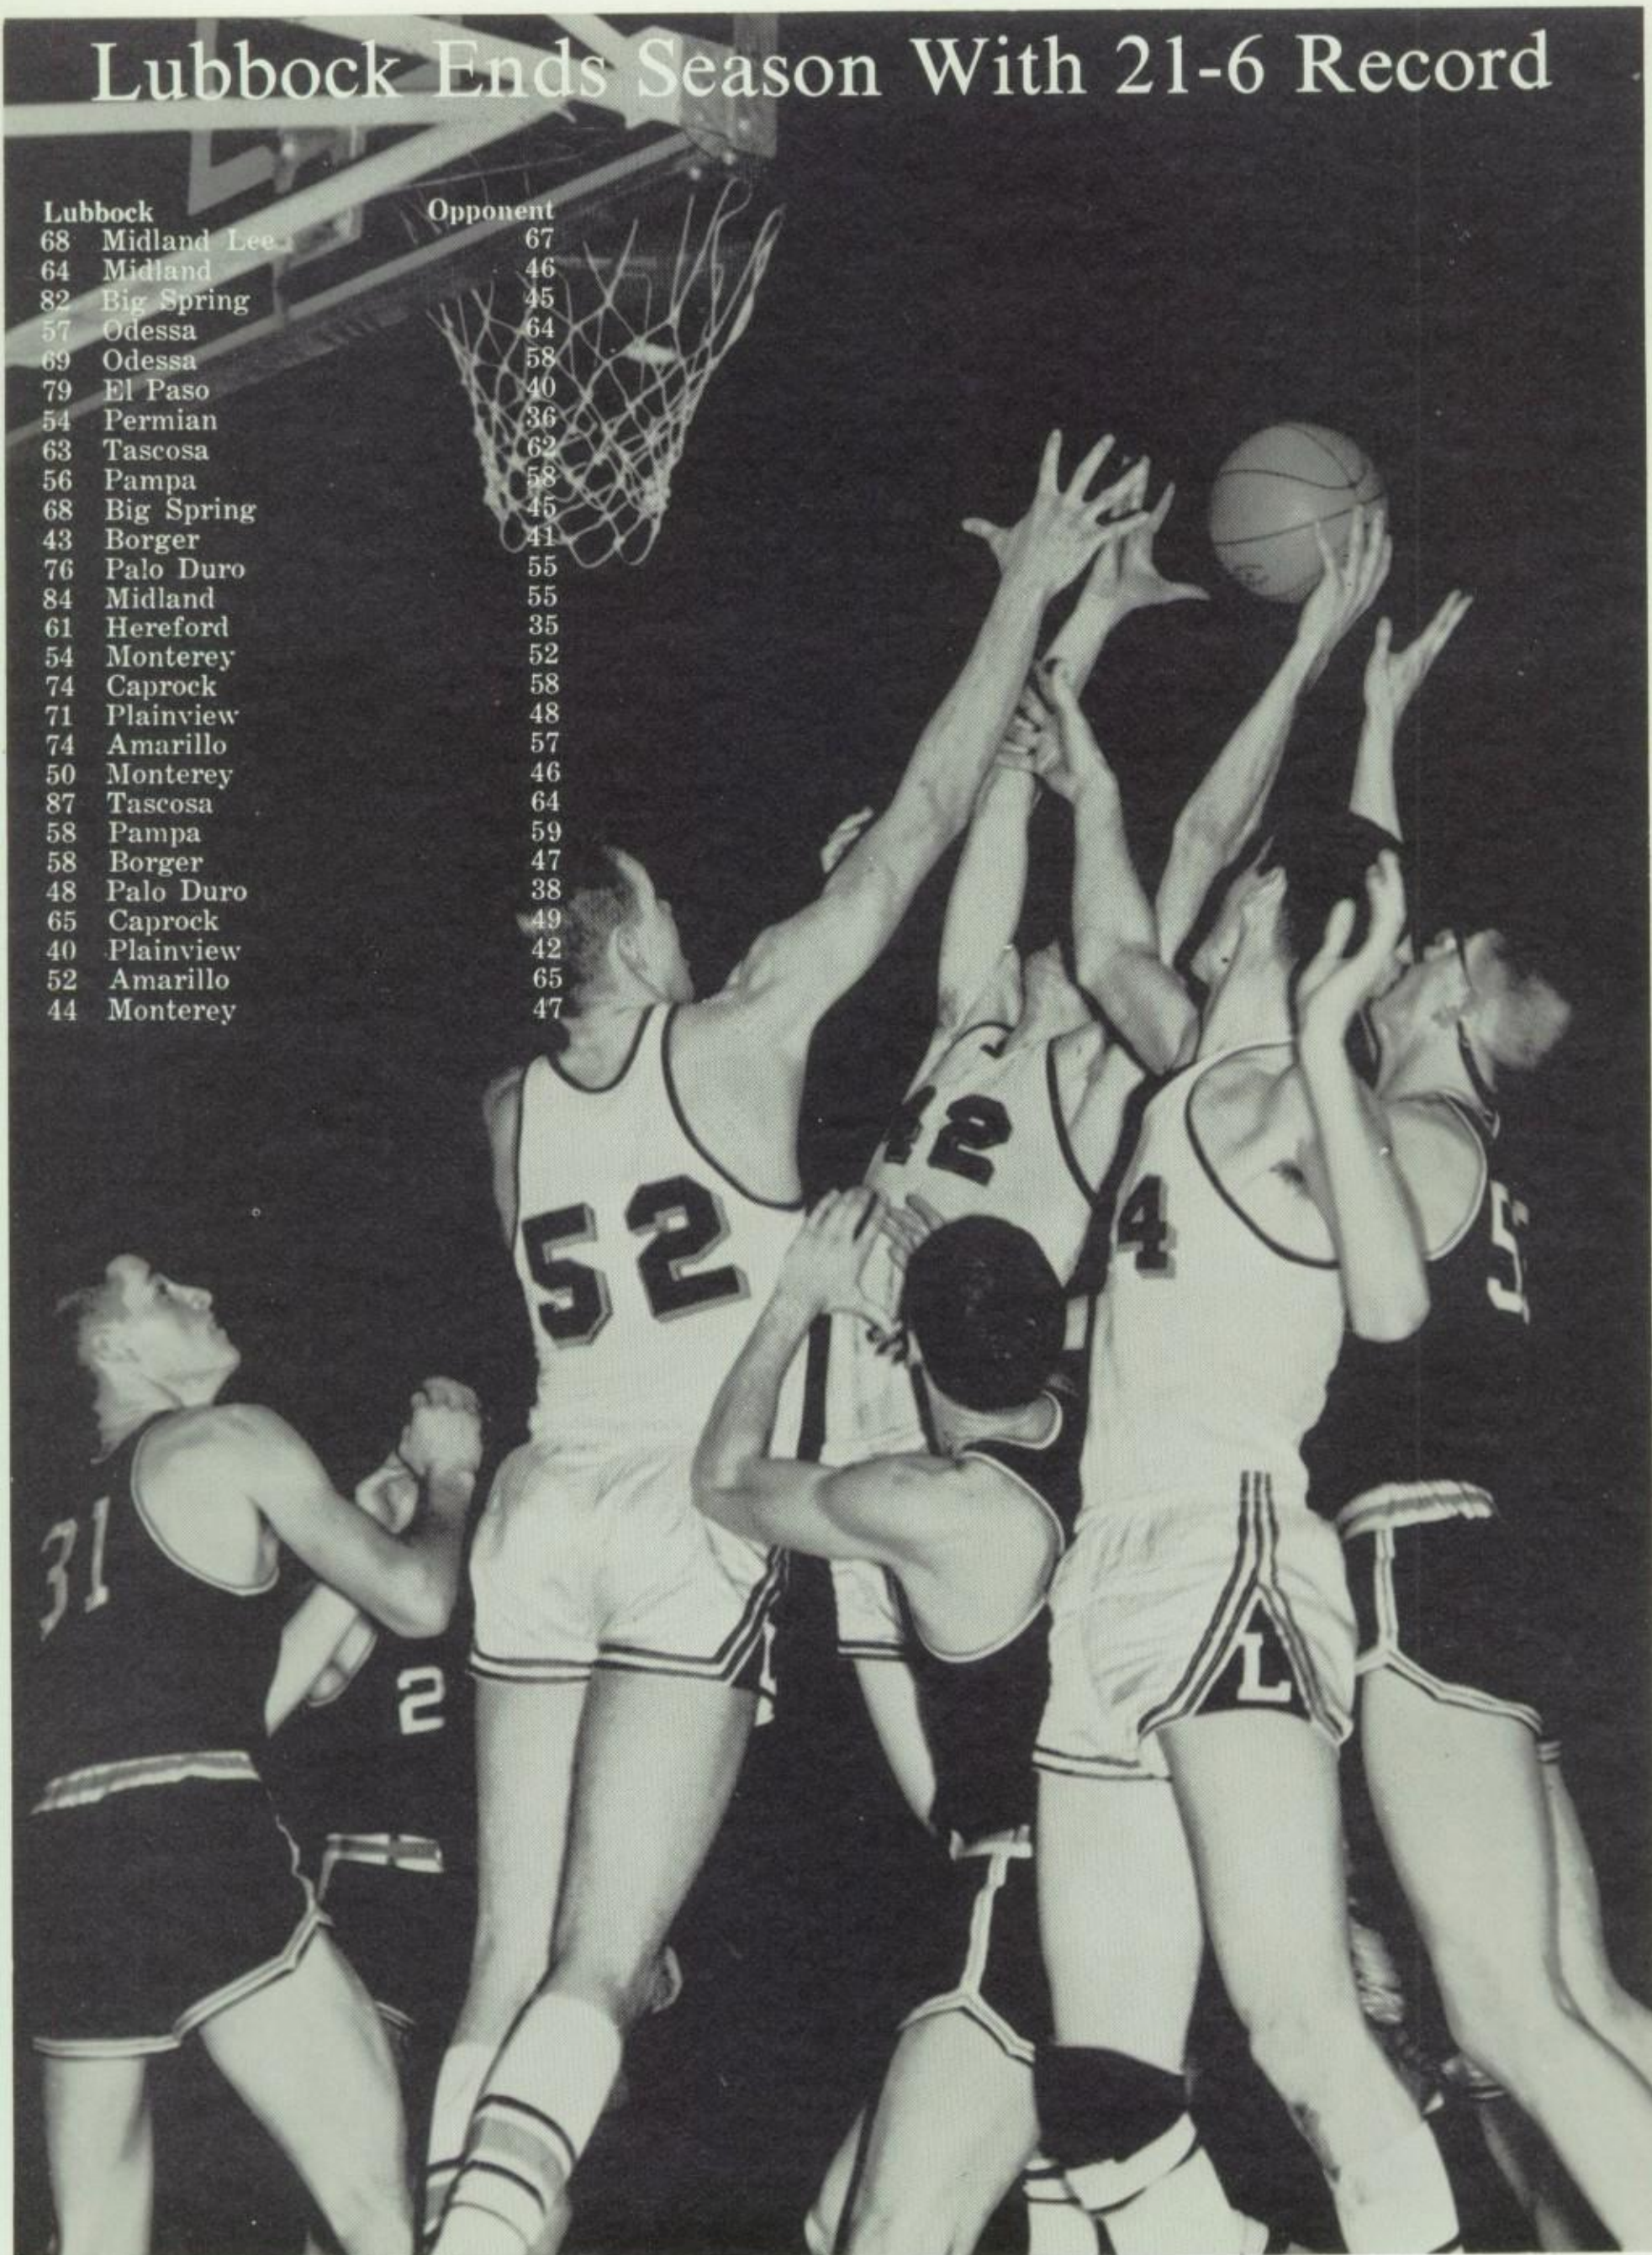

Cowhand quarterback Busty Underwood is tackled by a Tascosa "B" team player as the Cowhands fell to Tascosa, 44-12.

During the 1964 football season the Cowhands, under the guidance of Coaches Jack Fry, Eldon Hawley, and Earl Parker, posted a 7-3 season record, their best in four years, and finished in a second place tie in district with a 5-3 mark.

The future Westerners opened their season with a walloping 61-0 victory over non-district opponent Levelland. In their first district outing the Cowhands fell to cross-town rival Monterey, 18-14. Bouncing back from their first district loss, Lubbock consecutively defeated Amarillo 50-0, Plainview 20-8, Pampa 49-16, Palo Duro 32-8, and new non-district foe Dunbar 39-8. The Cowhands then ran into a stone wall as the Borger Bullpups were victorious by a margin of 22-0. Again the Cowhands rebounded to take a 14-12 come-from-behind victory over the Caprock "B" team, and then closed out their 1964 season with a 44-12 loss to the Tascosa "B" team.

Senior cagers Doug Dunlap, Laurin Prather, Gary Washington, Randy Westerburg, David Milburn, and Dorian

Clawson take a break as Coach Max O'Banion goes over some offensive play to be used in upcoming games.

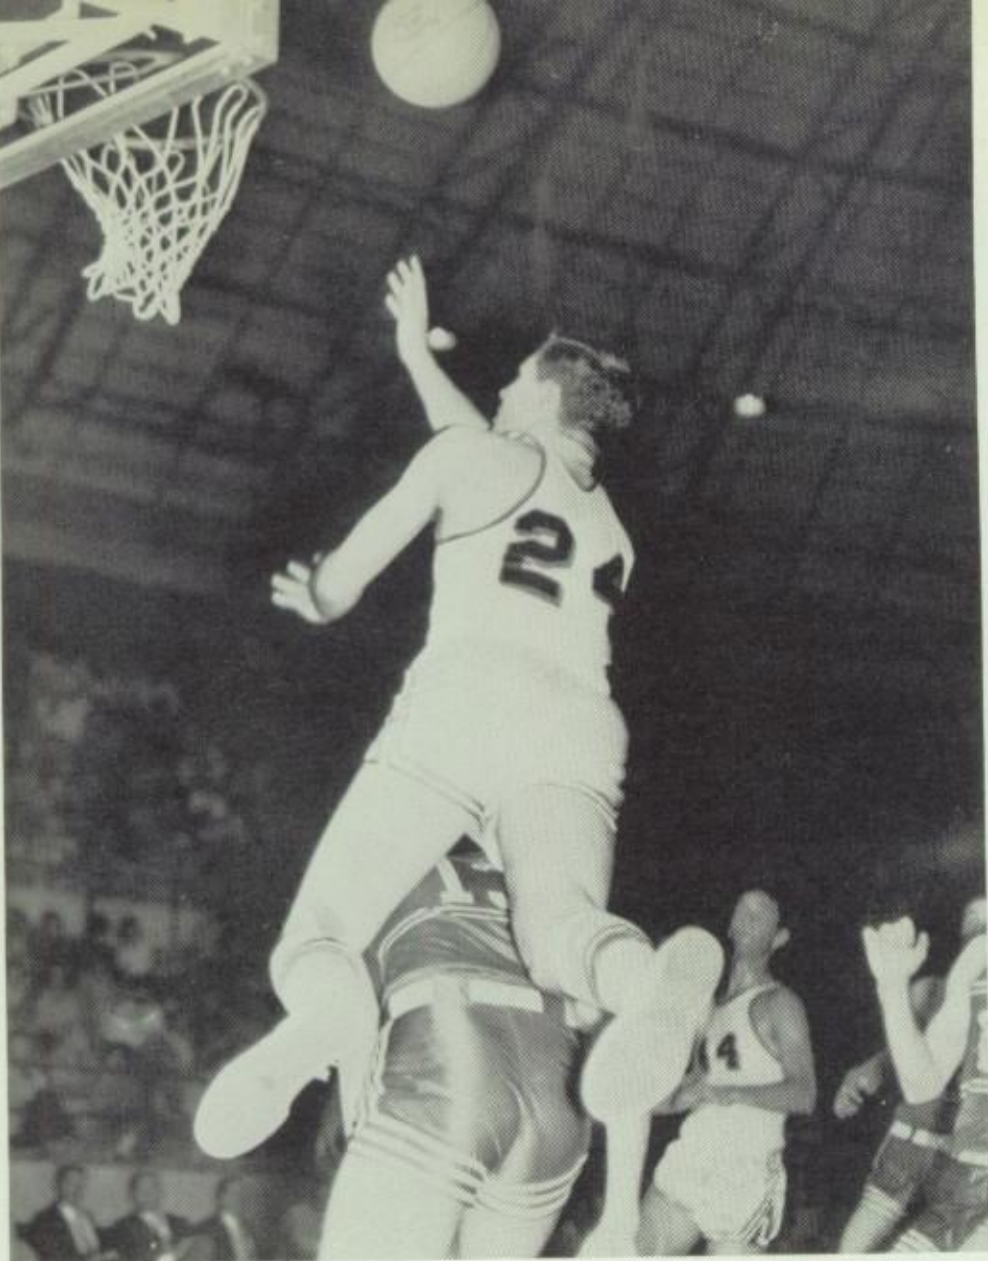

Cagers Enter District With 6-1 Mark;

Opening their 1964-65 basketball season impressively, Lubbock's cagers scored wins over Midland Lee, Midland, and Big Spring, while the only pre-district loss was to the Odessa Bronchos.

In their opening game the Westerners took a 68-67 overtime decision over Midland Lee as Gary Washington scored 25 points, followed closely by David Milburn's 22. The going was easier the next game as LHS scored a convincing 64-46 win over the Midland Bulldogs, where Washington again led all scorers with 28 points. The following week Washington once again found his mark as he put in 21 points to help the Westerners win over Big Spring 82-45. Odessa High handed the Black and Gold their first defeat of the season as foul trouble cost the Westerners a 64-57 loss. In the loss to Odessa, Randy Westerburg was the leading scorer with 17 points. He was followed by Doug Dunlap, who had 12, and Milburn, with eight.

Working as a team for the fifth straight year, assistant coach Don Apple and head coach Max O'Banion led the Westerners to another successful season.

Leaving the floor momentarily, Wesley Verner is fouled by a Midland Bulldog as he makes a layup in the Black and Gold's 64-46 victory over Midland.

Win Tourney

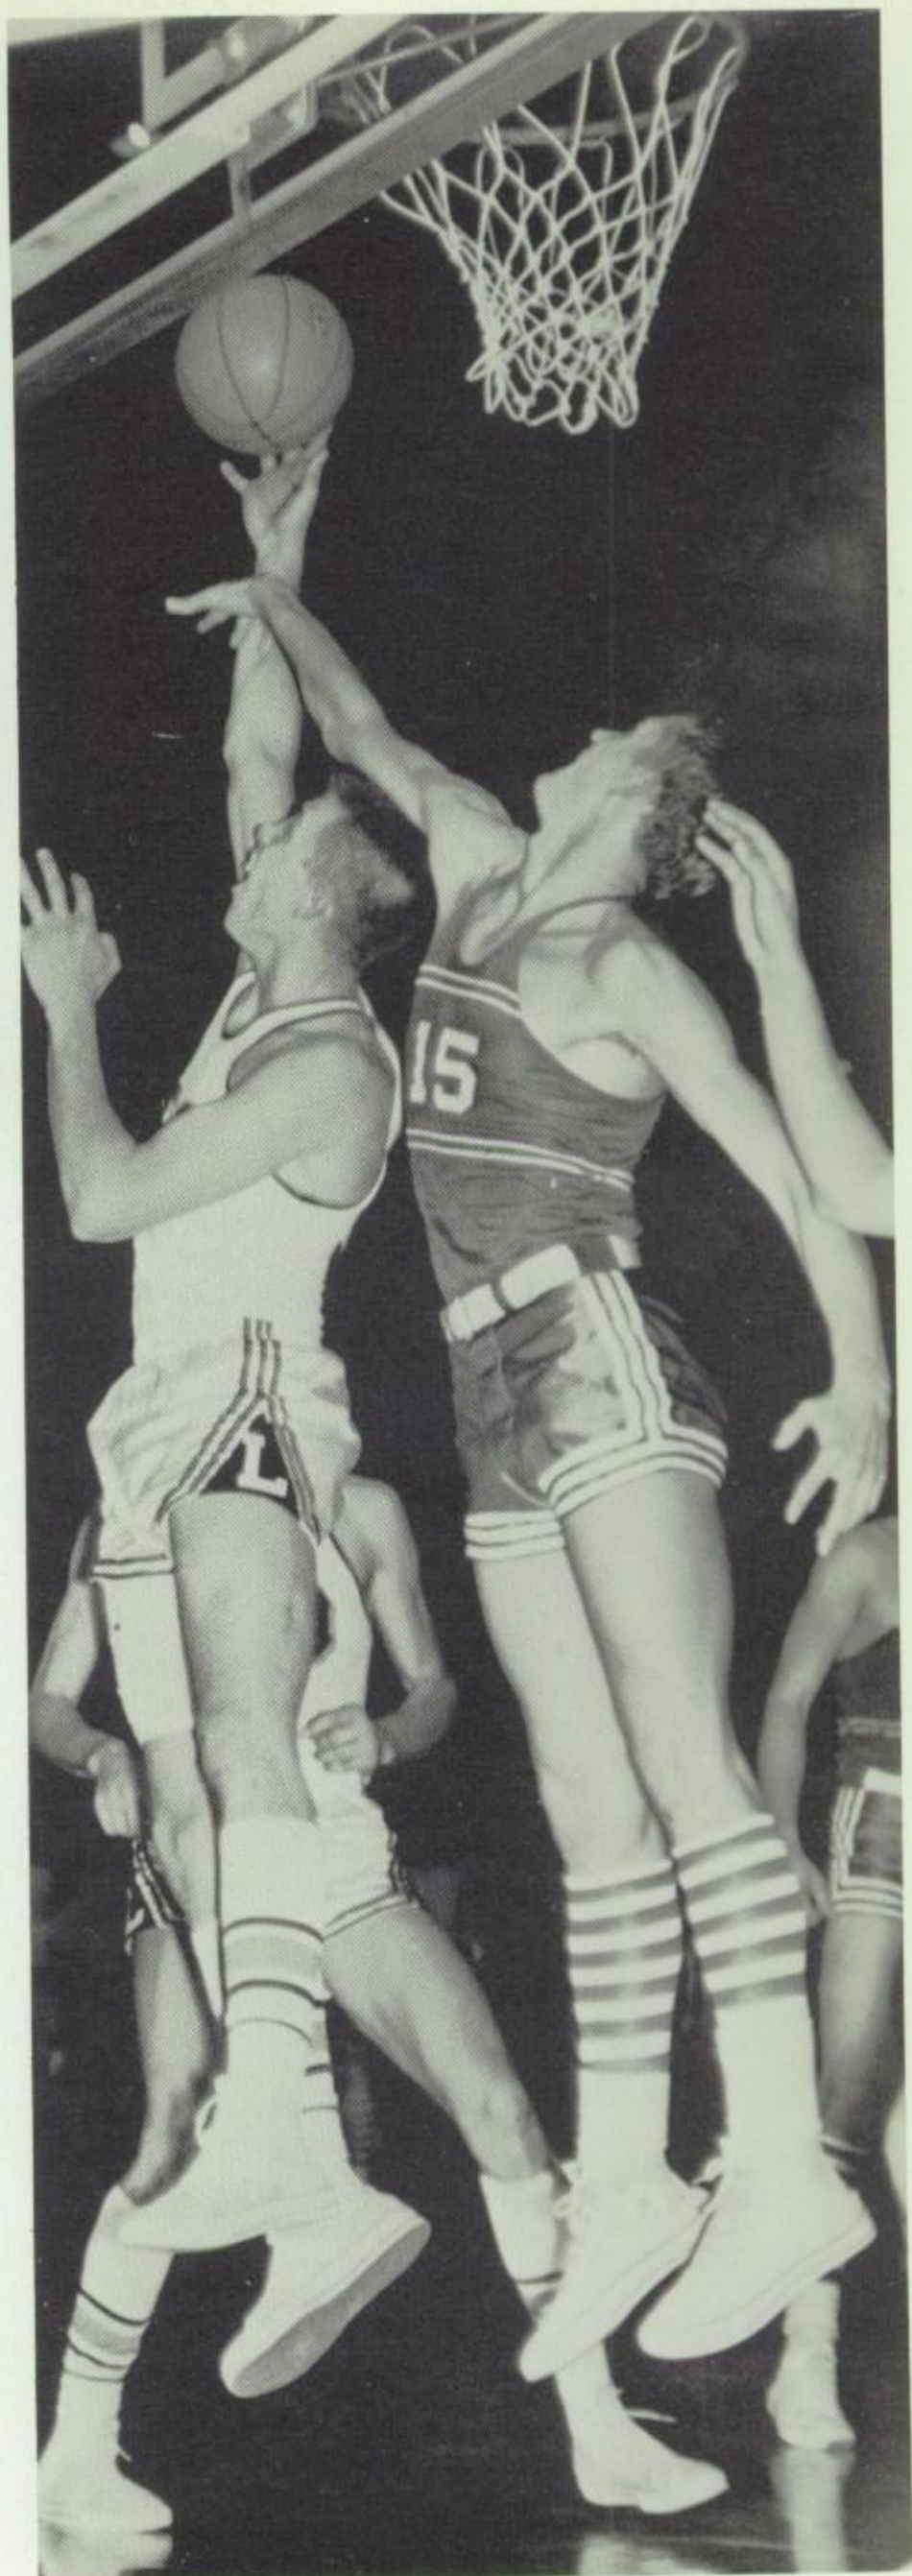

By downing Odessa Permian 54-36, the Westerners captured the Odessa Tournament for the first time under the direction of Coach Max O'Banion.

In first round action of the tourney, the Black and Gold evened the score with the Odessa Bronchos with a 69-58 victory. David Milburn led all scorers with a sizzling 23 points, while Wesley Verner and Randy Westerburg each hit for 14.

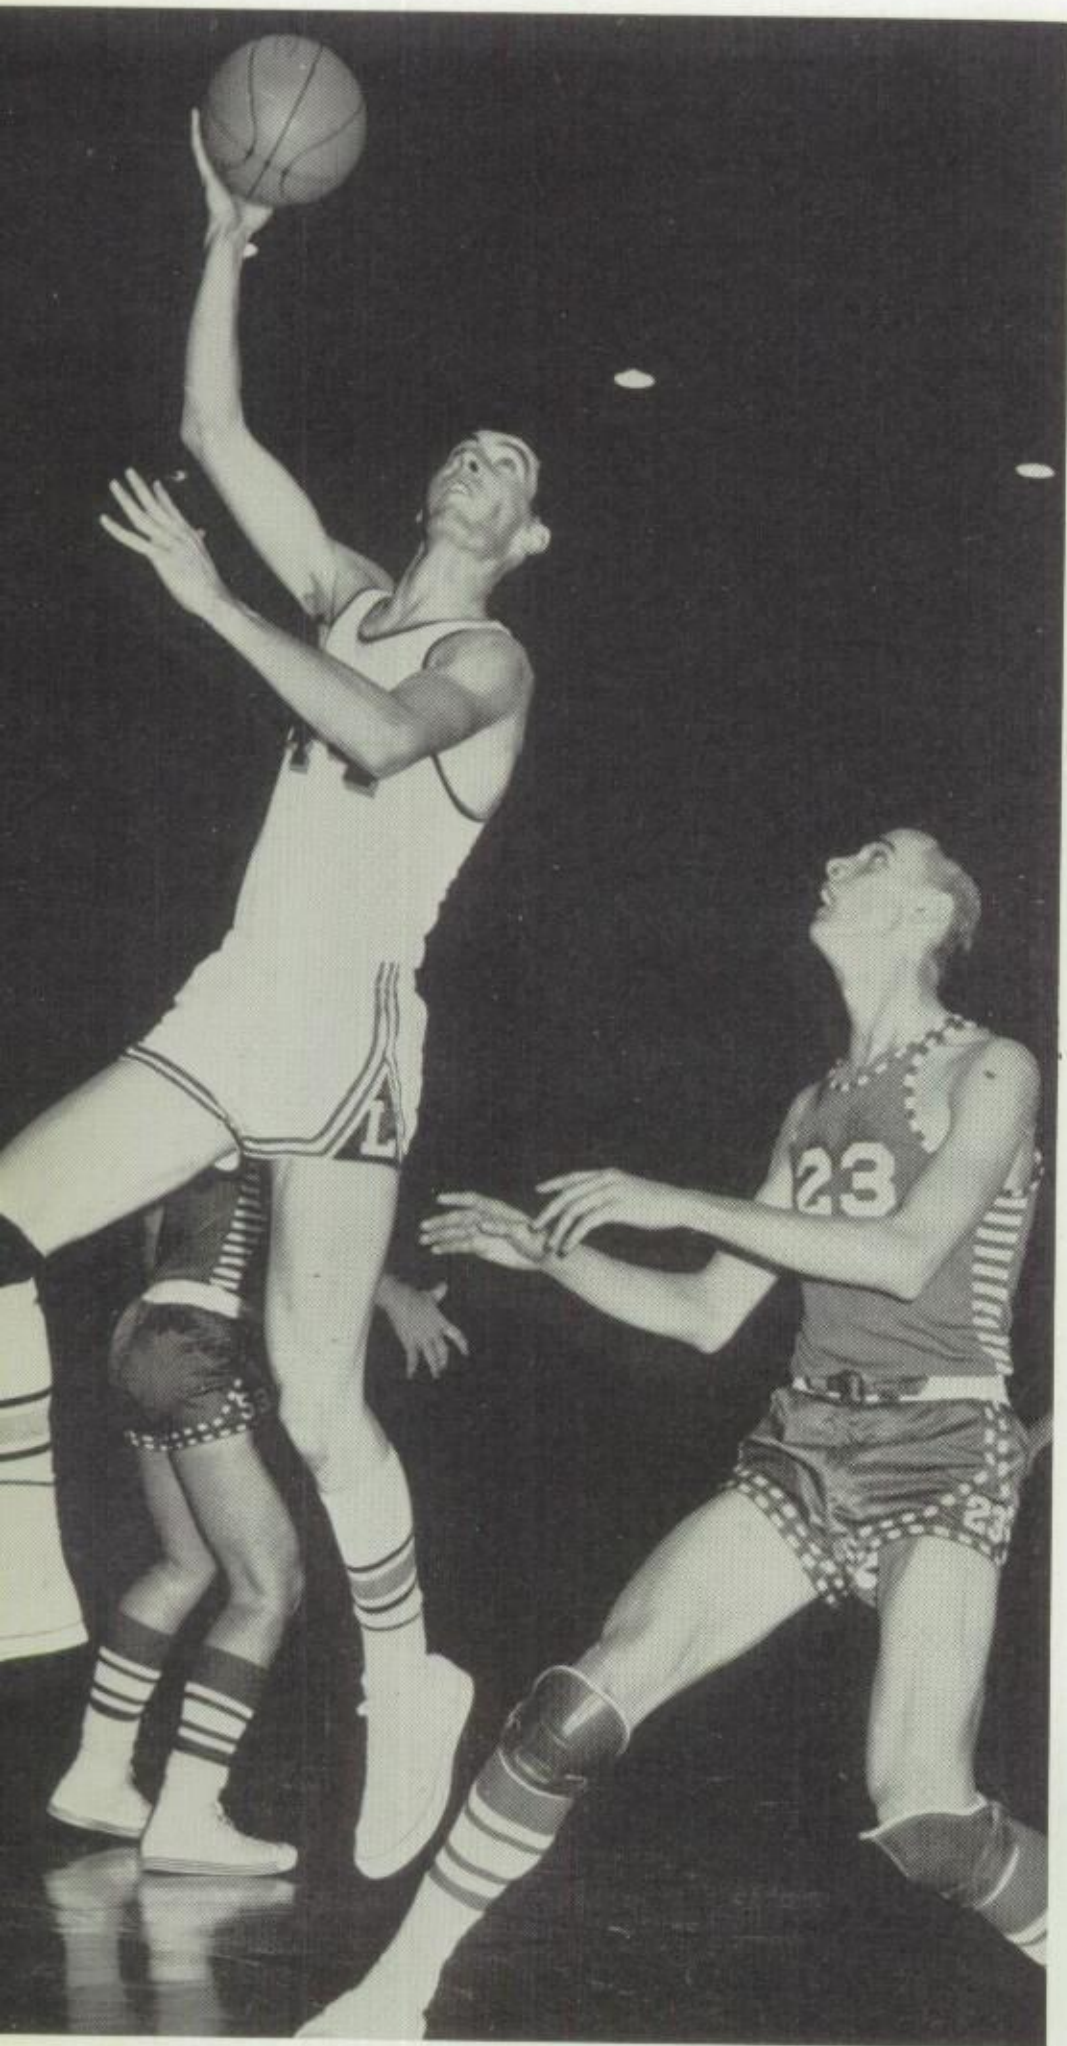

With Westerburg leading the way, hitting for 20 points, and Milburn's 18, the Westerners slapped a stunning 79-40 defeat on El Paso Jefferson to advance to the finals. Also hitting in double figures was Dorian Clawson with 12 points.

In the championship victory over Permian, Westerburg scored 15 points to grab top honors, while Milburn had 12 and Doug Dunlap 10. Senior cagers Clawson, Milburn, and Westerburg were named to the all-tournament team.

A Midland High Bulldog attempts to block a two-point bid by center Doug Dunlap in the 64-46 victory for the Westerners.

Uncertainty Marks First Round Action

After driving past a Big Spring defender, Lubbock scoring ace Gary Washington attempts to add two more points to the Westerners 68-45 victory.

Westerner cager Laurin Prather scraps for a rebound with two Big Spring Steers during Lubbock's 68-45 victory as Wesley Verner and Gary Washington close in.

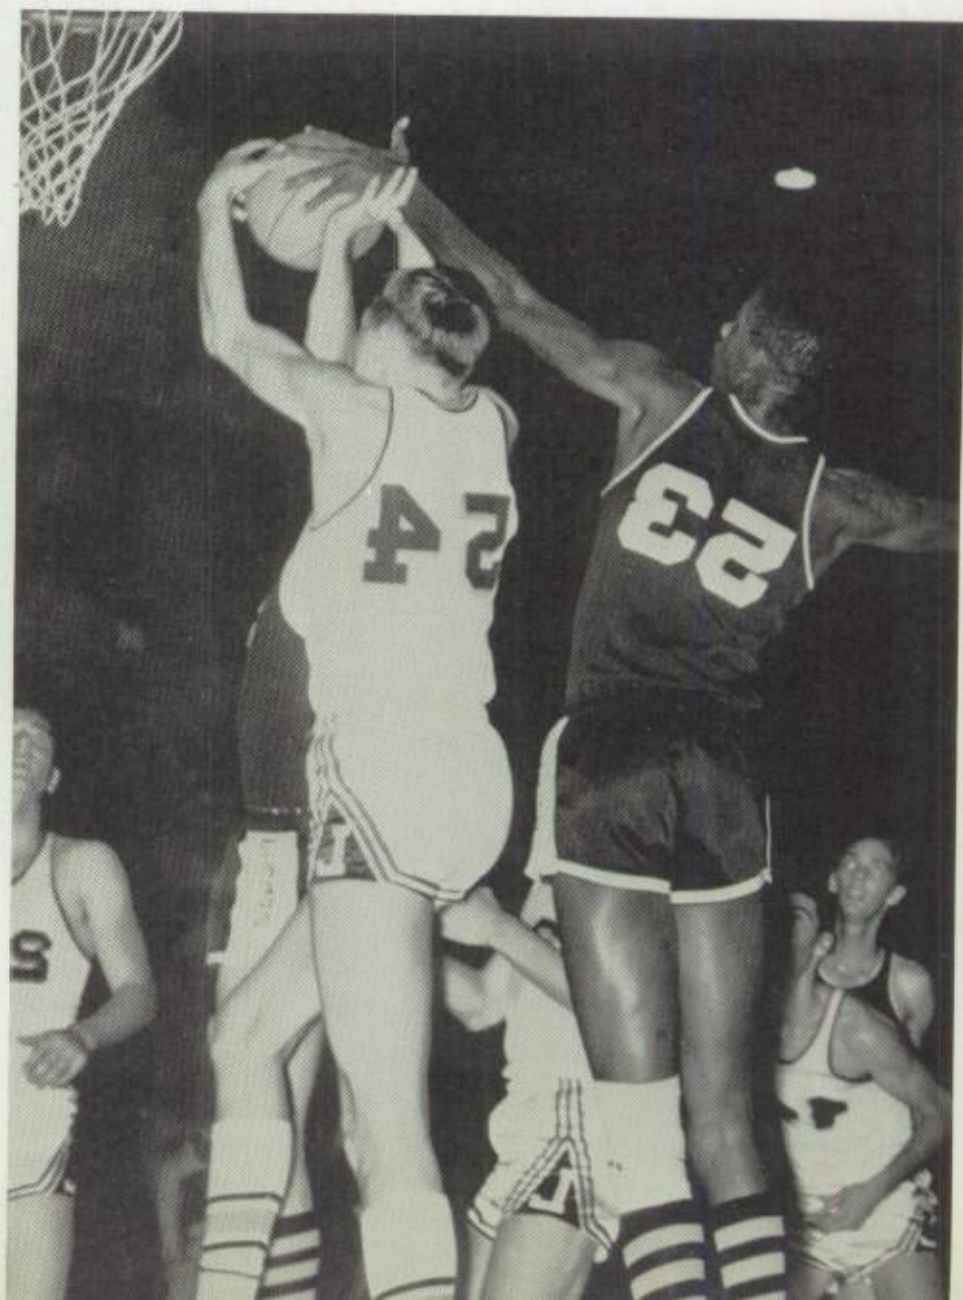

Lubbock opened its district race in a not-too-convincing manner against the Tascosa Rebels as a free throw by David Milburn after the final buzzer brought the Westerners a 63-62 victory. Westerner scoring ace Gary Washington led the Black and Gold with 20 points, with Milburn's 18 close behind.

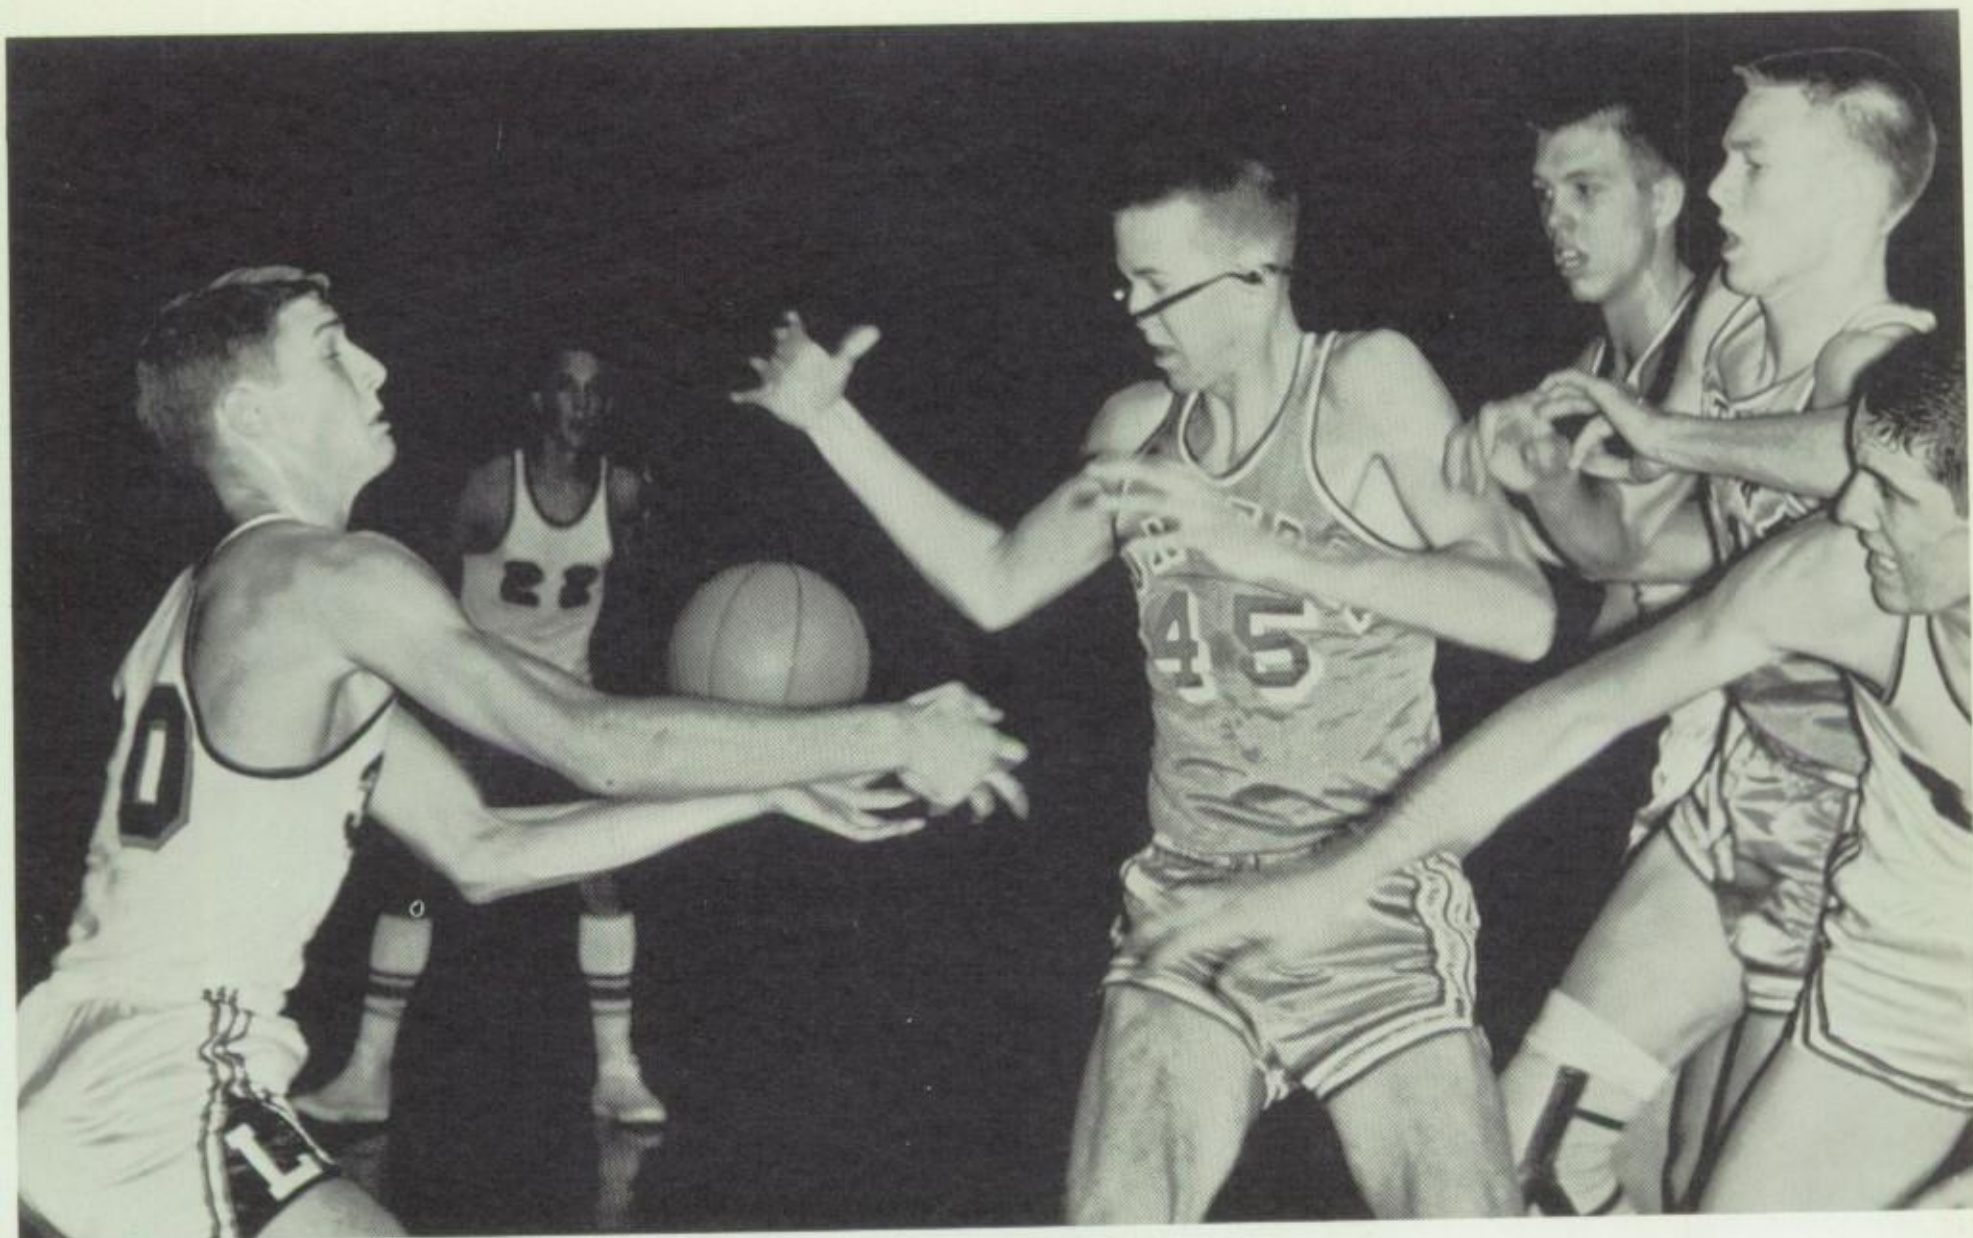

The following week, Pampa's Harvesters fought off a late Westerner rally to take a 58-56 victory over the Lubbock five. Washington and Milburn again led the scoring with 21 and 17 points, respectively.

Taking a break from loop competition, the Hub City crew managed a relatively easy win over Big Spring, 68-45, as Washington pushed in 18 points to lead all scorers.

Lubbock's second district victory came at the expense of the Borger Bulldogs as Washington canned 26 points followed by Dorian Clawson with 11 to help the Westerners in a 43-41 victory.

Gaining momentum and playing their best district game to date, the Lubbock five invaded Amarillo to take a 76-55 victory over the Palo Duro Dons. Lubbock cagers in double figures were Washington, 28; Randy Westerburg, 17; and Milburn, 13.

Tense action, typical in any Lubbock-Monterey tilt, is expressed in the faces of Randy Westerburg, Dorian Clawson, Doug Dunlap, Gary Washington, and Monterey's Bill Abernathy and Steve Hardin.

Lubbock Nips MHS For Caprock Title

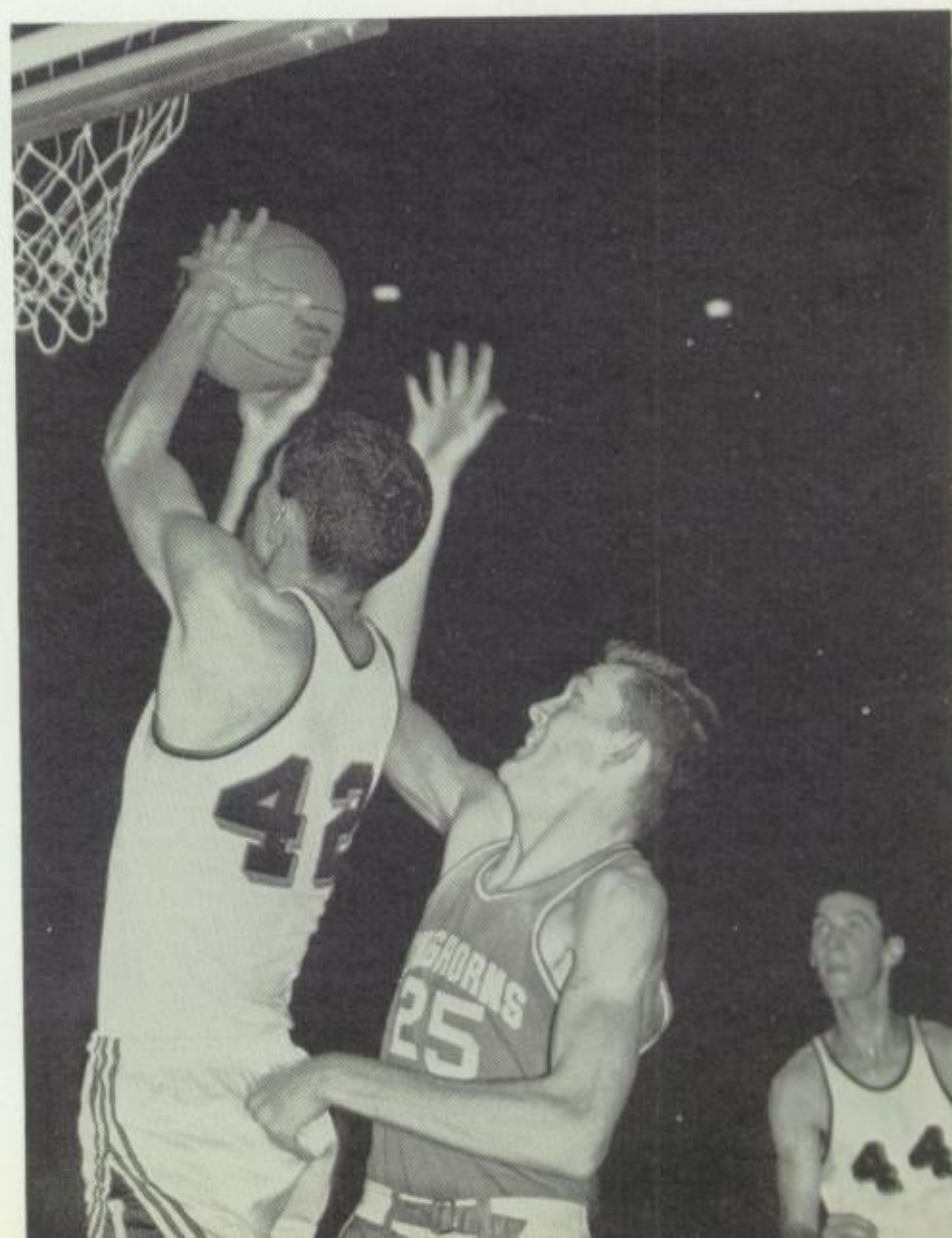

For the third straight year the Lubbock Westerners captured the Caprock Invitational Tournament, this time by downing Monterey 54-52 in a nip-and-tuck affair.

Led by all-tournament selections Doug Dunlap with 16 points and Gary Washington with 12, the Westerners took the lead early in the second quarter and never trailed after that. Also hitting in double figures were David Milburn, 12, and Dorian Clawson, 10.

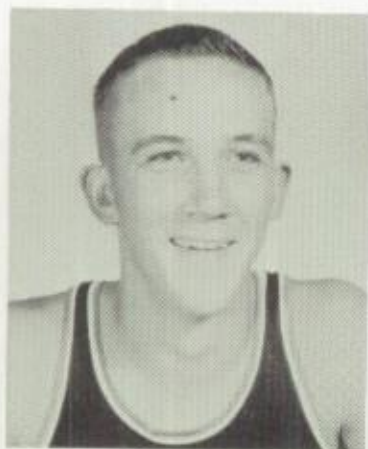

In the first round action the Black and Gold walloped Midland 84-55. Washington led all scorers with 24 points, followed closely by Clawson with 16 and Milburn with 12.

Crushing Hereford 61-35 in semi-final action enabled Lubbock to gain the finals against Monterey. Four Westerners hit in double figures; Clawson 12, Milburn 11, Washington 12, and Dunlap 14.

Breezing to their fourth straight cage win, the Westerners turned back Caprock 74-58. LHS cager David Milburn led all scorers with 22 points.

Plainview offered little resistance as Lubbock took a 71-48 victory to gain a four-way tie for first place. Gary Washington paced the Hub City crew with 19 points.

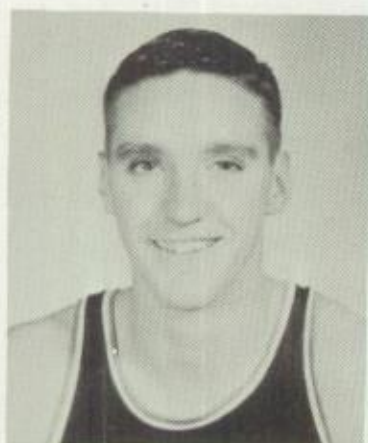

Lubbock's offensive attack went into high gear against Amarillo as the Westerners stopped the northern foes 74-57, with Doug Dunlap hitting for 22 points.

The Westerners gained a first-place tie with Pampa during first round action as Dunlap, with 18 points, led the Lubbock five to a 50-46 victory over Monterey.

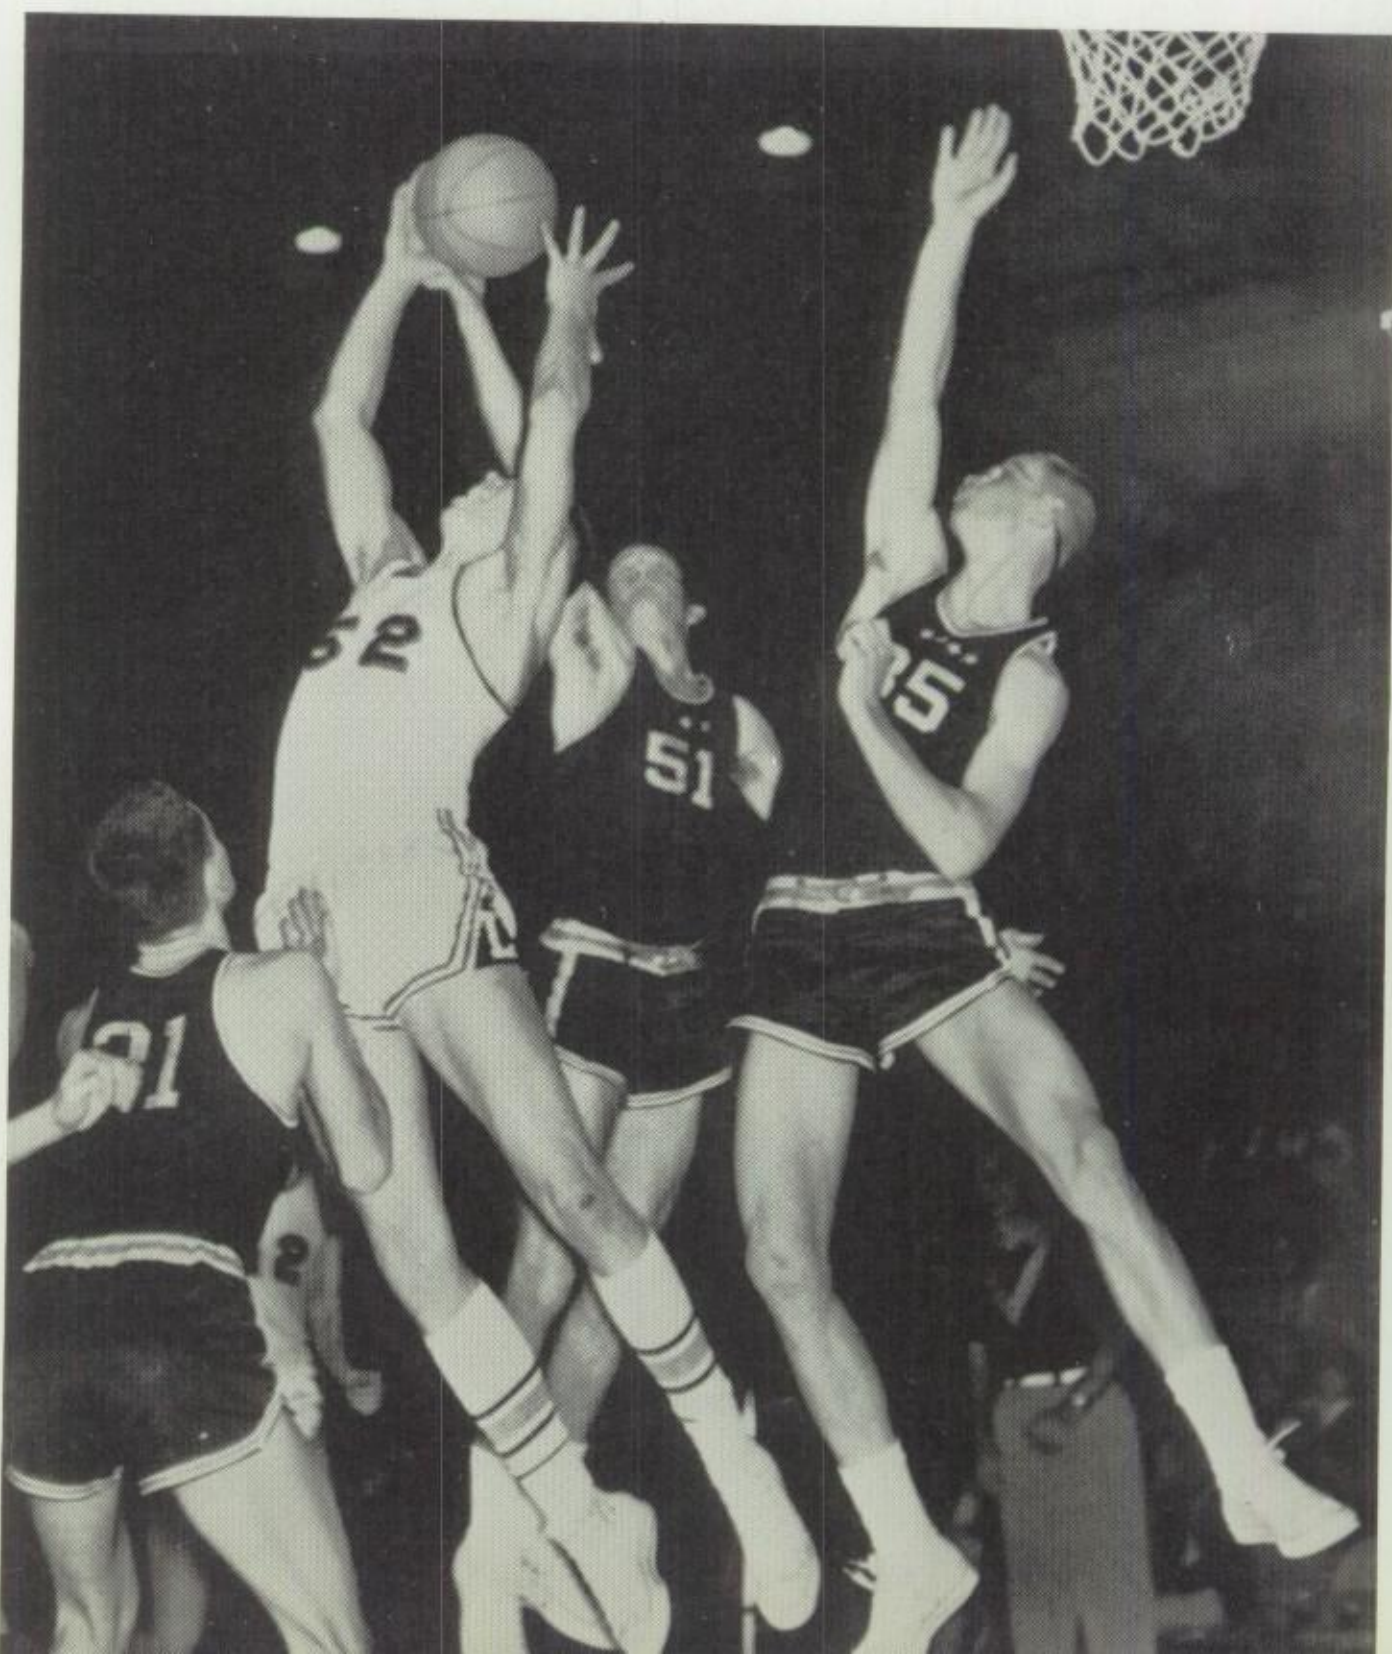

Going high for a rebound against three Amarillo Sandies is senior cager Doug Dunlap. The Black and Gold defeated Amarillo 87-64.

Title Hopes Fade With Loss To Harvesters

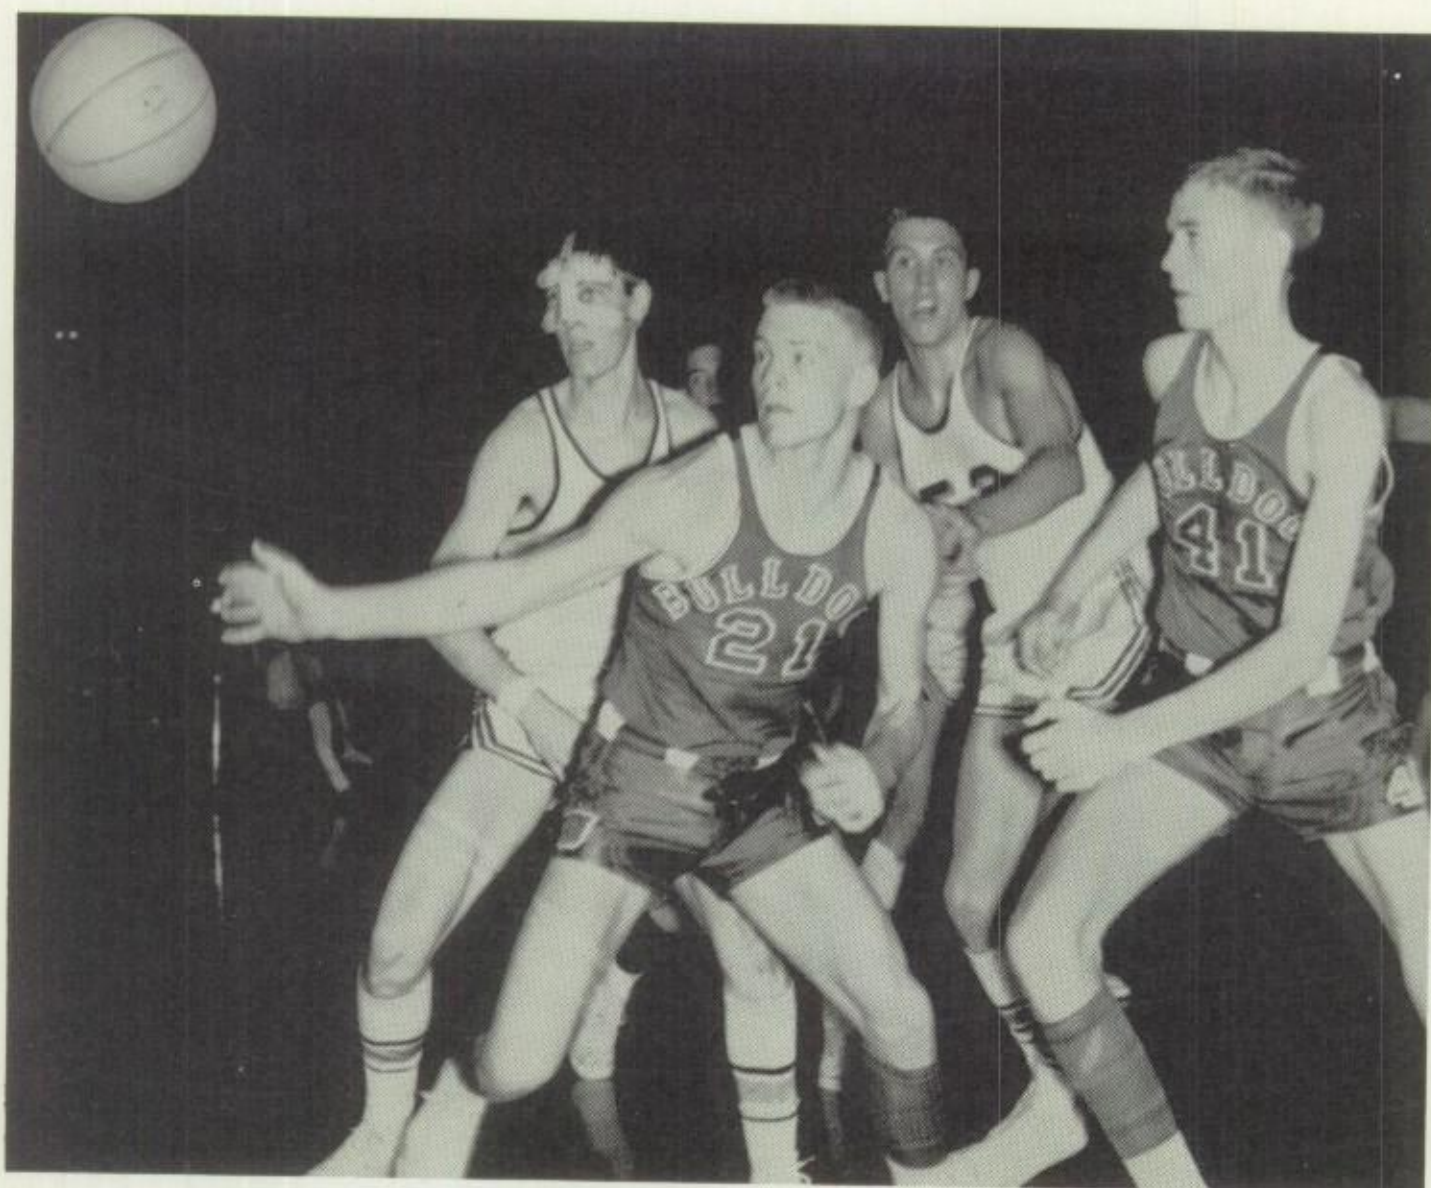

Lubbock opened their second round of district action with a convincing 87-64 win over the Tascosa Rebels. Gary Washington, heading for perhaps his best scoring outing of the year, left the game with 25 points early in the third period after suffering a broken nose. Play was also stopped in the third quarter as the Tascosa coach Ace Parker was ordered to leave the game because of disorderly conduct, but was later allowed to return. Also scoring in double figures were Randy Westerburg with 17, David Milburn with 14, Doug Dunlap with 11, and Don Burrell with 10 points.

Hopes of a second half district title were shattered as the Pampa Harvesters took a 59-58 overtime victory from the Westerners. Trailing most of the game, the Harvesters overcame a six point deficit with 50 seconds left to tie the Black and Gold at 56-all. From there the Pampa crew capitalized on free throws to win the loop encounter.

The Westerners, again led by Washington with 19 points, scored a 58-47 triumph over the Borger Bulldogs. Helping Washington in the loop encounter were Dorian Clawson with 12 points and Milburn with 10.

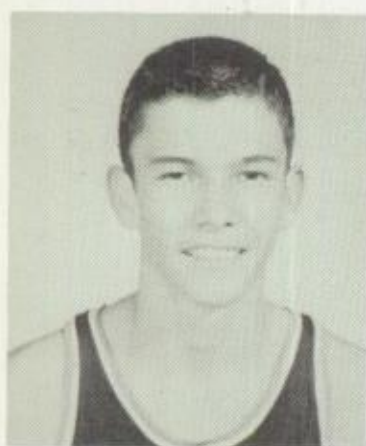

Following a shot by one of the Tascosa Rebels, Gary Washington, David Milburn, and Wesley Verner fight for the rebound in the Westerner's 87-64 victory.

Grabbing their 20th victory of the season, the Lubbock Westerners defeated the Palo Duro Dons 48-38. Continuing his scoring spree, Gary Washington again led all scorers with 15 points, followed by David Milburn's 10.

In their fifth encounter of second-half action, the Black and Gold romped to a 65-49 victory over the Caprock Longhorns. Scoring honors went to Doug Dunlap who ripped the cords for 20 points and pulled down 14 rebounds, followed closely by Milburn and Washington with 14 each and Randy Westerburg with 11.

Towering Ronnie Peret, who led the Plainview Bulldogs with 21 points, tipped in a missed free throw in the final seconds of play to give the Bulldogs a narrow 42-40 victory over the Westerners. Despite the loss, Milburn chunked in 20 points to lead all Westerner scorers. A victory would have given the Lubbock quintet a tie with the Amarillo Sandies and Pampa Harvesters.

Two Defeats Mar Concluding Chapters

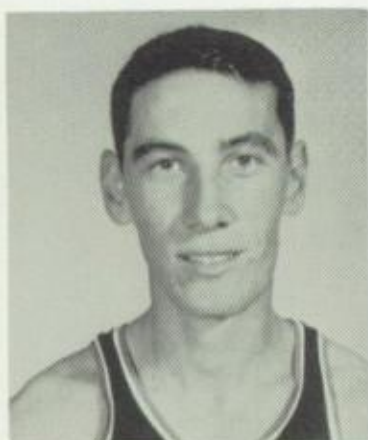

Defeating the Amarillo Sandies in the Amarillo Armory proved to be near impossible for the Lubbock Westerners as they fell 65-52. After leading for most of two quarters, the Westerners hit a cold spell in the third period and the Golden Sandies outscored them 21-9, which was the margin of defeat. Leading scorers for the Lubbock five were Dorian Clawson with 14 points and Gary Washington with 11.

In their final outing of the year, the Black and Gold were handed a 47-44 defeat by crosstown rival, Monterey. Again the third quarter was disaster for the Westerners as the Plainsmen rolled to double digit leads, but the Lubbock combo led by Washington narrowed the gap to three points, only to see the Plainsmen go on to take the victory. David Milburn grabbed scoring honors as he canned 12 points followed closely by Washington with 11.

The Westerners, after finishing 7-1 in the first go round, posted a 4-4 mark in the second half and a 21-6 record for the season, good for third place in the district behind Pampa and Amarillo.

Senior cagers Randy Westerburg and Gary Washington fight with Monterey's Steve Hardin for possession of the ball as Plainsmen Miles Johnson and Gary Hughes close in on the action.

Returning Lettermen Offer Hope

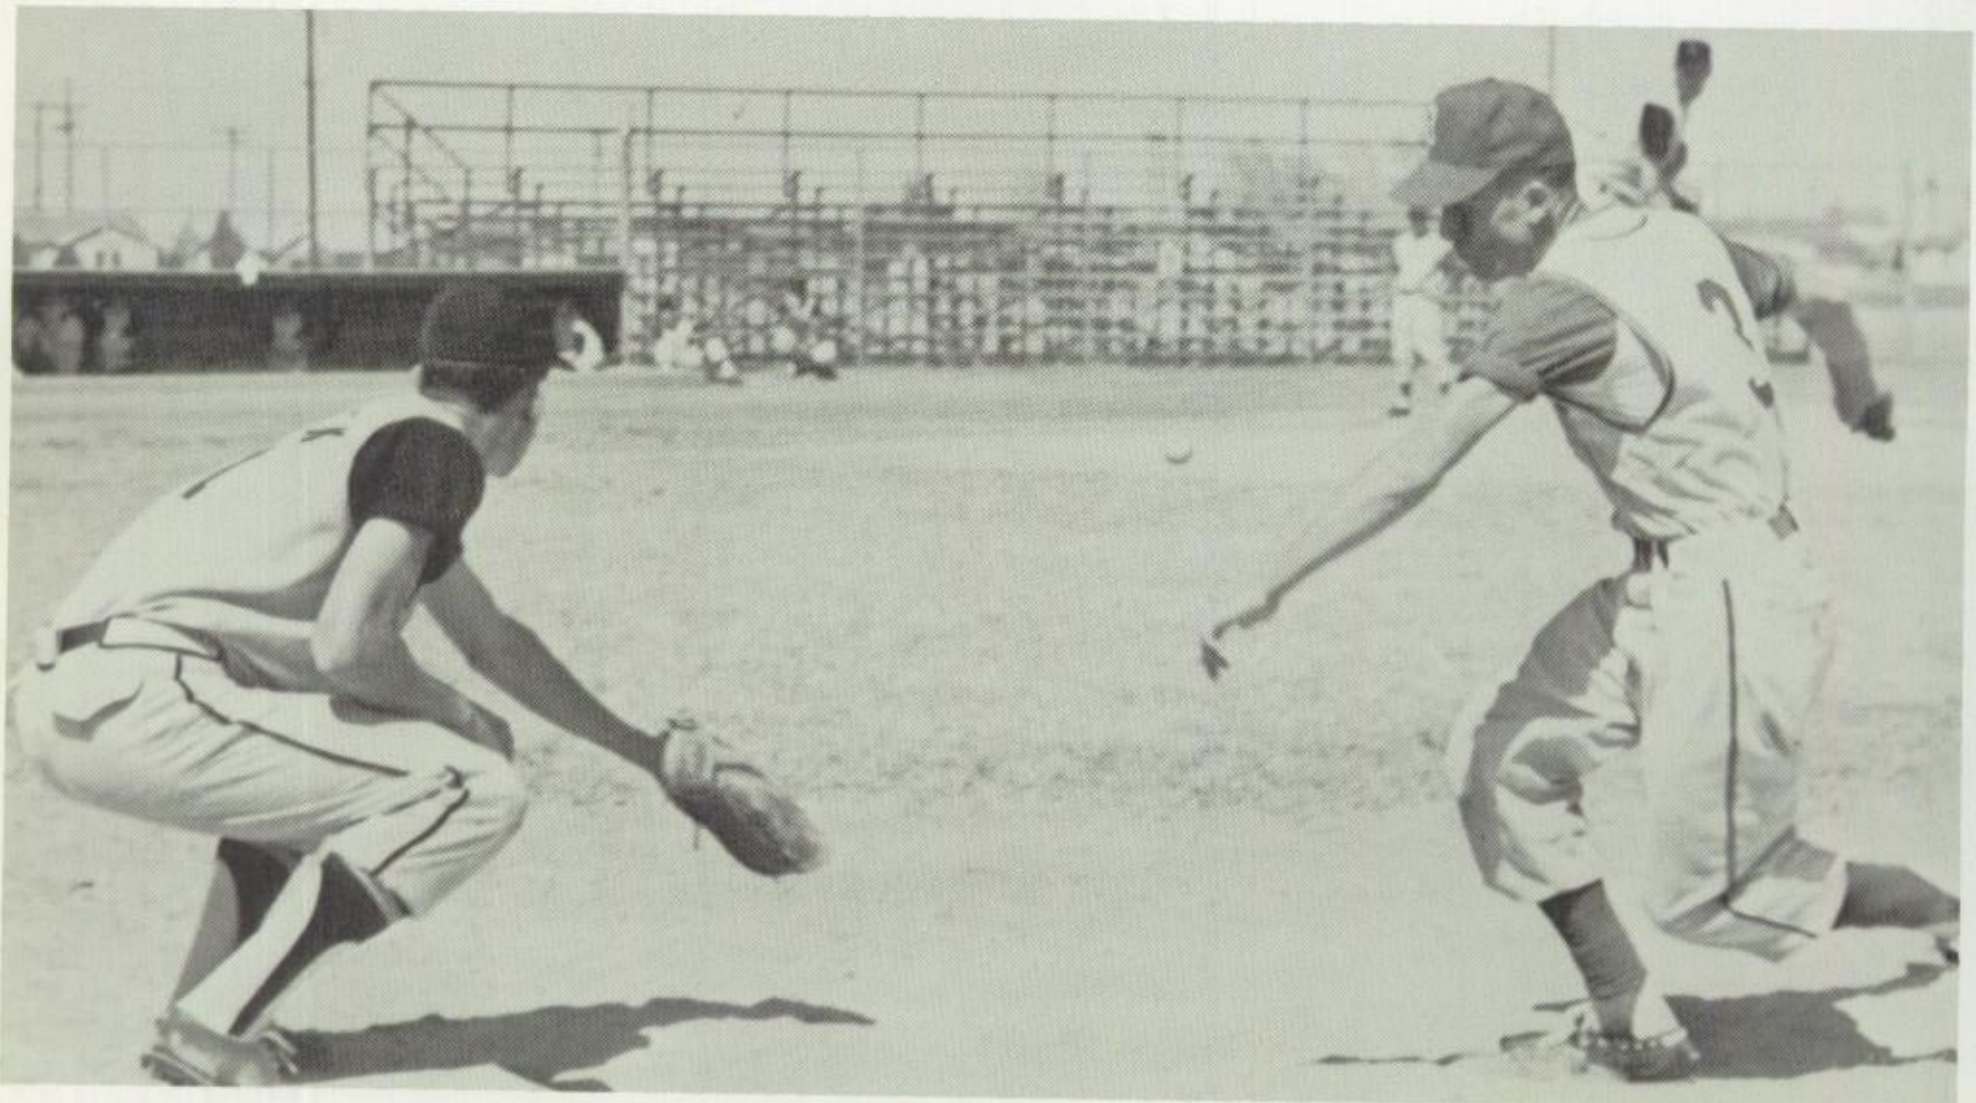

With 10 returning lettermen, accompanied by all the players of a successful American Legion team, Coach Earl Parker greeted the 1965 baseball season with high hopes.

The Westerner diamond mentor guided his 1964 squad to a third place finish in district 3-4A with a 9-7 mark. Last summer the District 19 American Legion team placed second. With stand-outs Dorian Clawson and Gary Washington, pitchers, and first baseman David Milburn the Westerner nine showed signs of being a title contender.

Lubbock High School's future Westerners include FRONT ROW DeSherlia, Garza, Wells, Yarbrough, and Westbrook. SECOND ROW Renteria, Tillery, Bryant, and Trammel.

Lubbock Netters Enter Hopeful Season

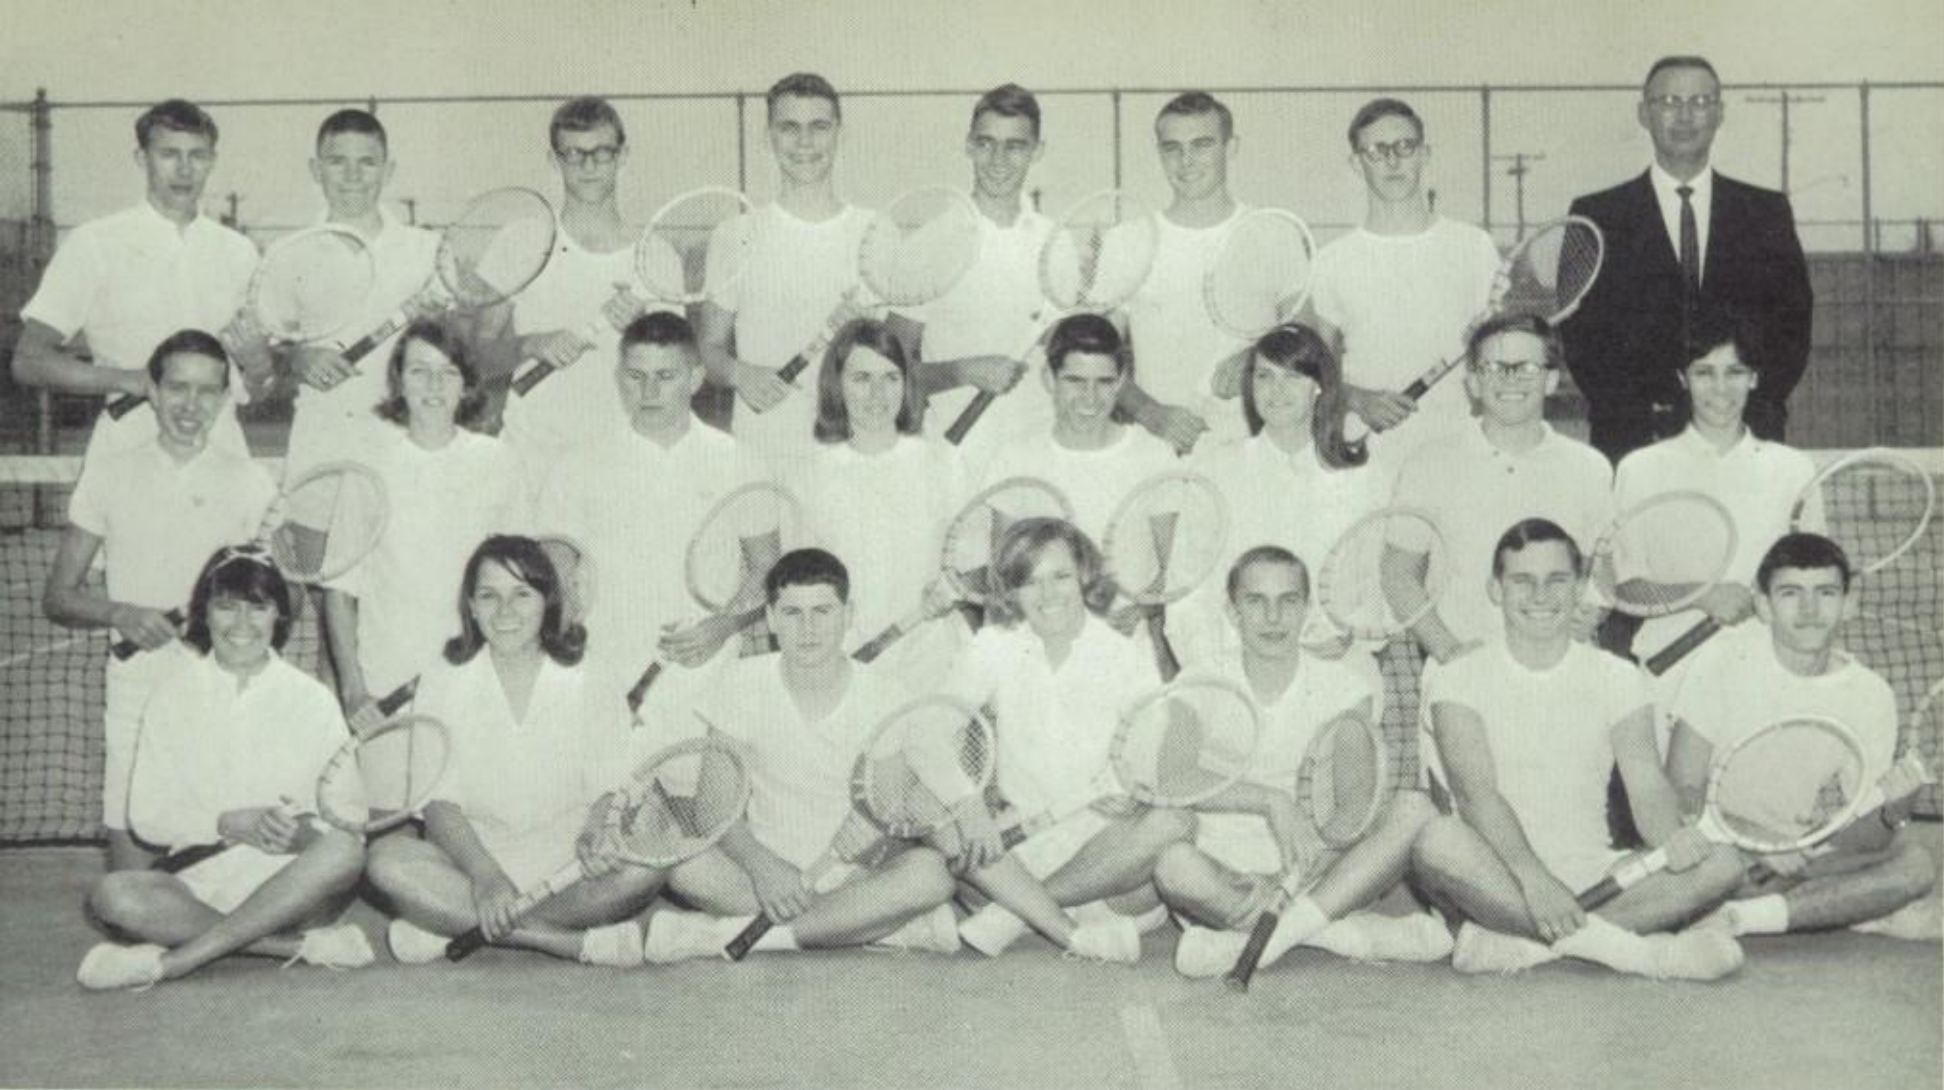

Tennis coach James Burgess places much hope in senior netters Sally Brightwell, Joe Malley and Gwynne Underwood.

Junior letterman Cindy Hale will represent Lubbock's tennis team as number one in girls singles.

Coach James Burgess opened his tennis season for 1965 February 20 in Midland as the Lubbock tennis team, consisting of Joe Malley, Jimmy Martin, John Vickers, Cindy Hale, Sally Brightwell, and Gwynne Underwood led the attack.

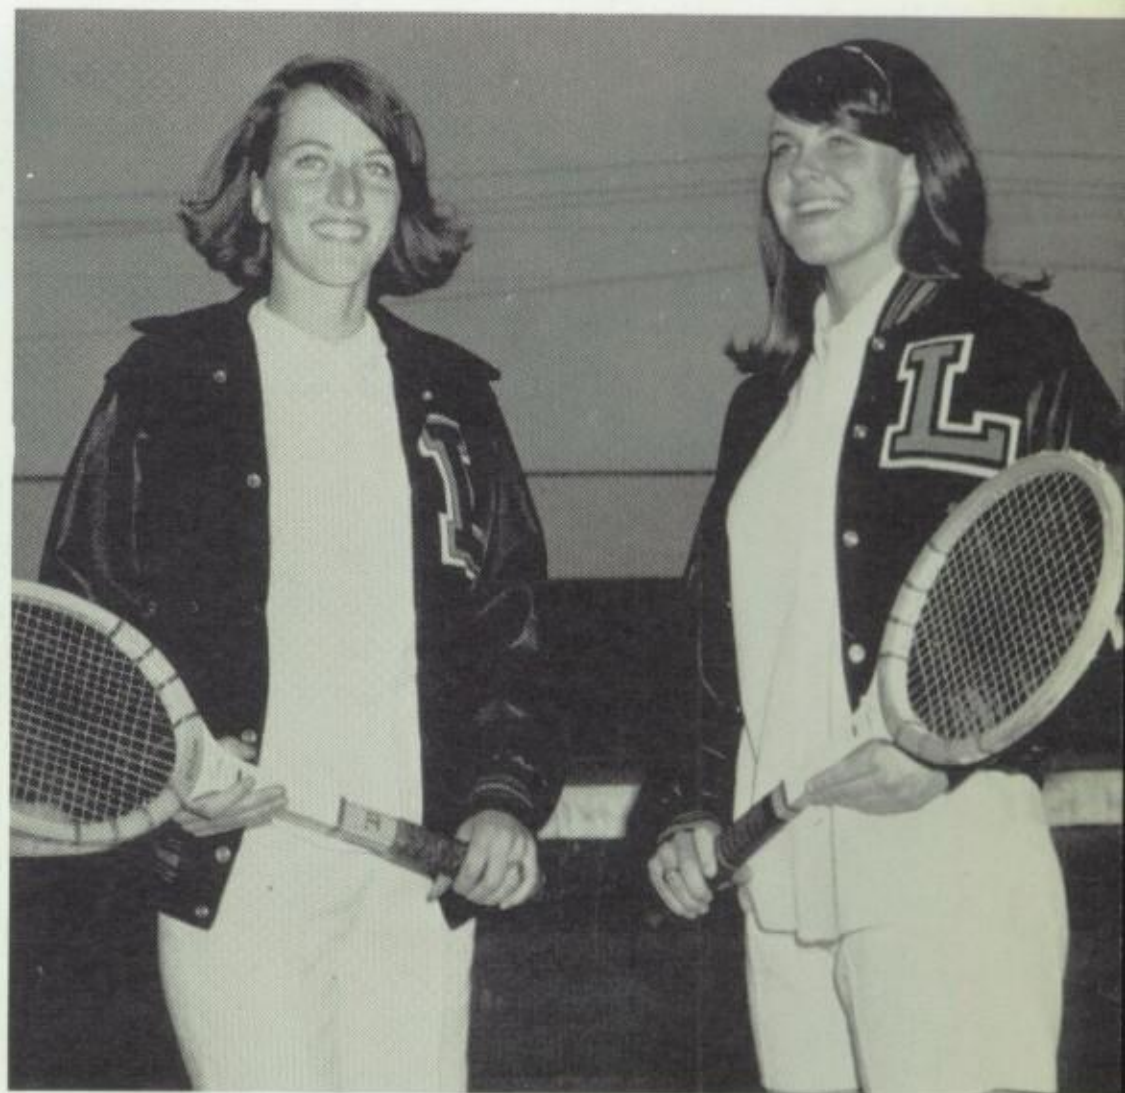

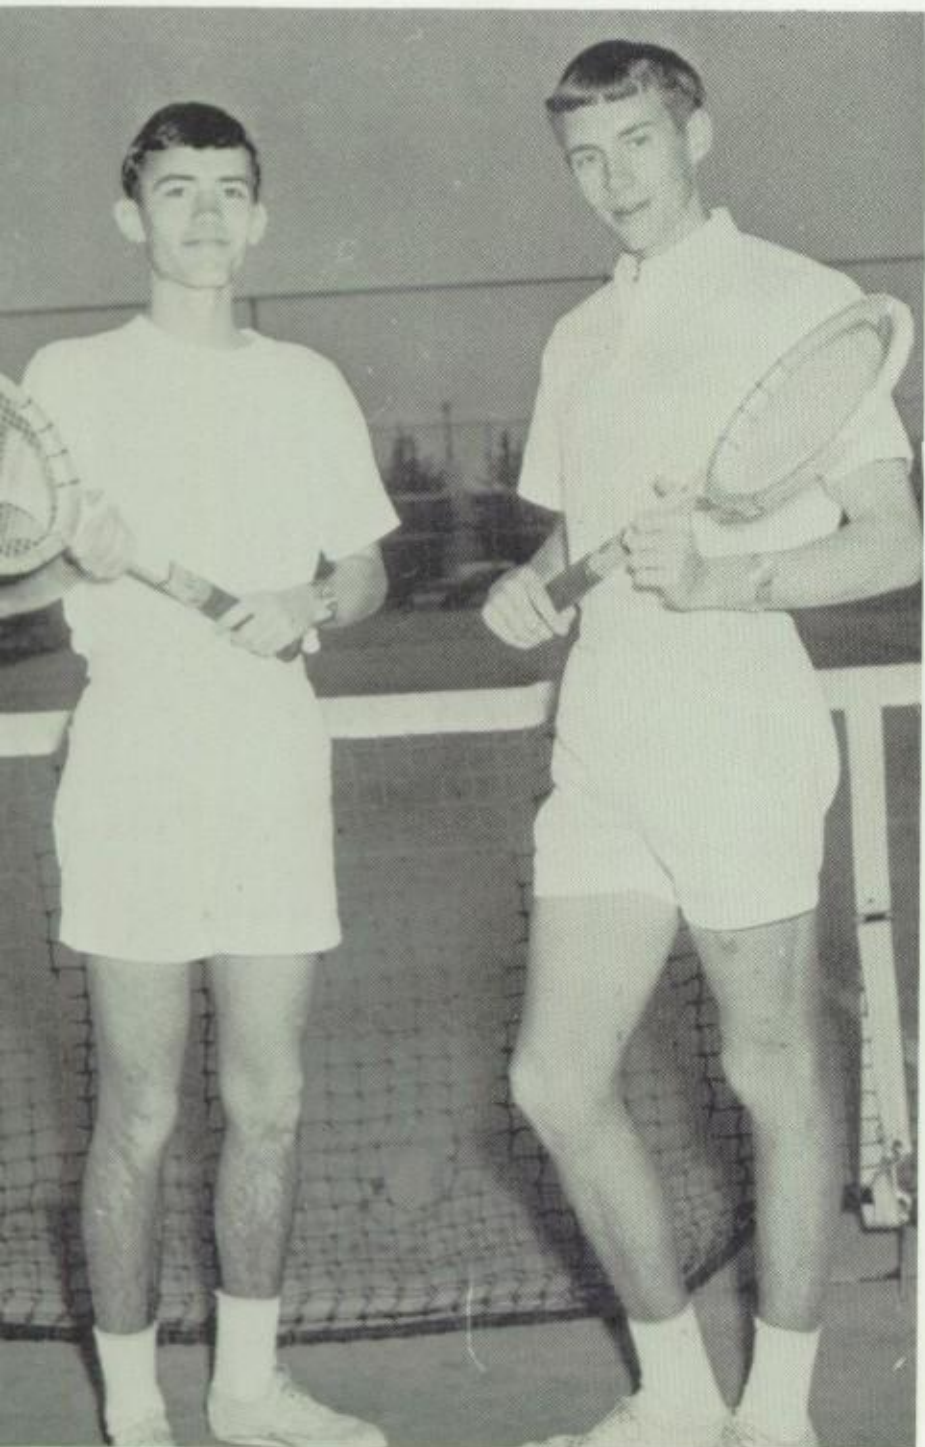

Other hopefuls include Sydney Garret, Maureen Weeden, Janet Brightwell, and Bruce Curry. The Westerner tennis team attended eight other tennis meets this spring before the state meet in Austin on May 6-7-8. Lubbock's netters traveled to the Wichita Falls Tournament, the San Angelo Tournament, the Odessa Tournament, the Midland Tournament, and the Monterey Invitational Tournament before the district meet held at Amarillo and the Regional Meet at Odessa.

Looking to a successful season are the '65 Westerner netters: BOTTOM ROW Garret, Ginsburg, Pierce, Hale, Clendenin, McDonald, and Martin; SECOND ROW Morris, S. Brightwell, Gilson, J. Brightwell, Murfee, Underwood, Harding, and Weeden; TOP ROW Vickers, Graham, Wiley, Tull, Malley, Curry, Marquis, and Coach Burgess.

A team within a team is the Westerner's number one girls' doubles, Sally Brightwell and Gwynne Underwood.

Seeing action as the number one boys' doubles are seniors Jimmy Martin and John Vickers.

George Wright Takes Track Team Reins

Heading the 1965 track team were Coach George Wright and his assistant, Jack Fry. Coach Wright took the track team coaching position after Bob McGuire, last year's track coach, resigned in order to attend the 1964 Olympics. Coach Wright is also an assistant coach in football as is Coach Fry.

Coach Wright placed much hope around returning distance runner Greg Moore. Tommy Jenkins was expected to be a top performer in the sprints. The discus and shot put, based around Ted Ratcliff, was expected to bring in many points for the track team. The Westerners were lacking in the hurdles, however, as graduation saw Tim Garrison and Art Carroll leave Lubbock High as two of the top performers in the state.

Representing the Westerners in distance events are trackmen KNEELING Steve Daniels, Bruce Blankenship, and John Prado; STANDING Greg Moore, John Whitaker, and Richard Lyon.

Under new direction, track hopefuls include: BOTTOM ROW Elam, Prado, Ratcliff, Graham, Easter, Ewerz; SECOND ROW Whitaker, Moore, Heatherly, Barrett, Murphy, Lyon, Daniel; THIRD ROW Porter, S. Daniel, Roberts, Farmer, Hendon, Hill; TOP ROW Blankenship, Holton, Gage, Burnett, Young, Evans, Holmes, King, and Jenkins.

Practicing their form during an afternoon workout are Westerner sprinters Tommy Jenkins, Kenny Gage, Chuck King, Weldon Heatherly, and Dile Holton.

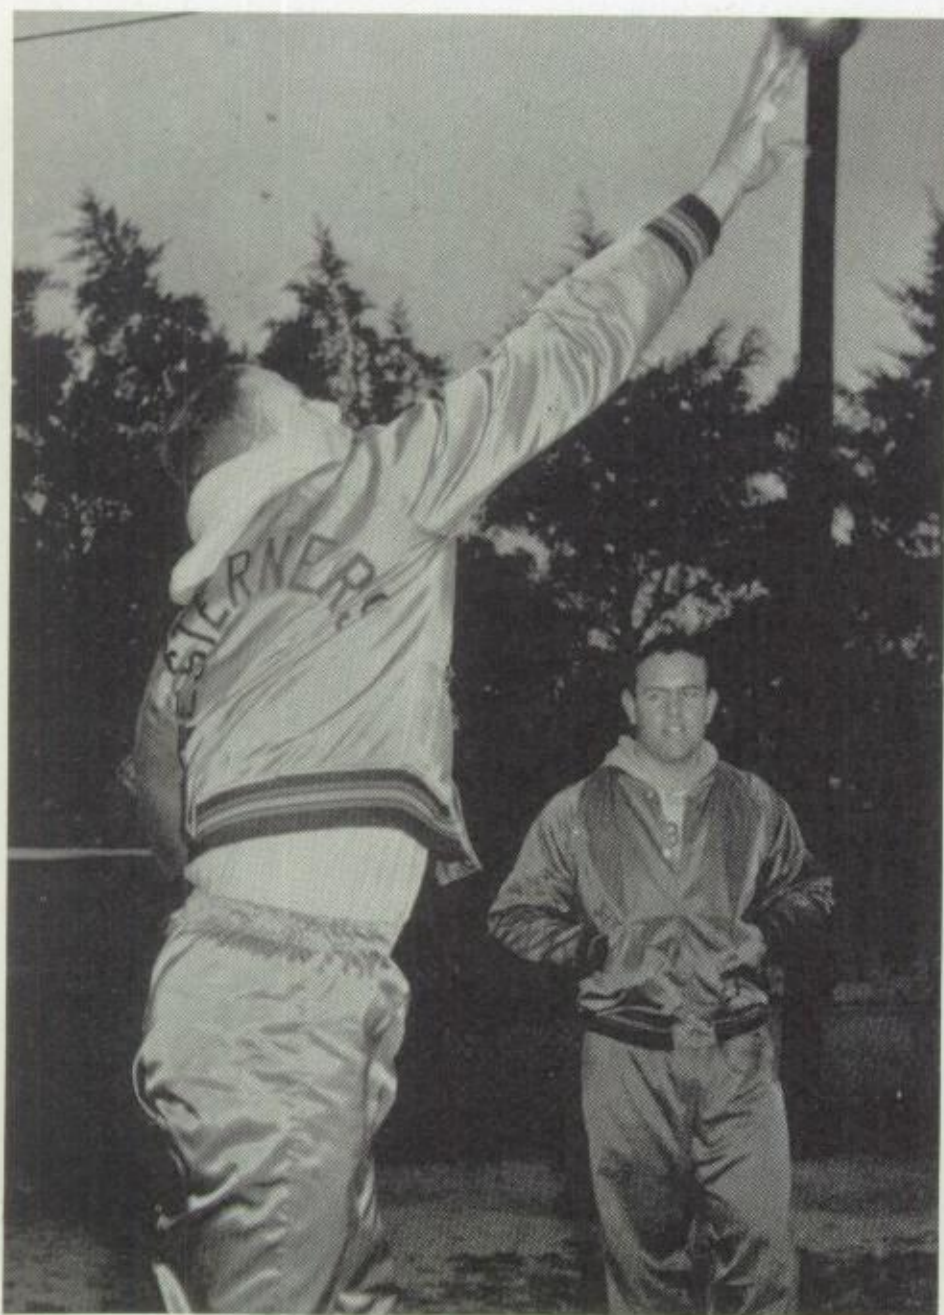

Hurdlers Bobby Hendon, Rodney Roberts, and Roy Farmer hope to represent Lubbock High in district competition this year.

Coach Wright took his track squad to eleven meets this spring. The Comanche Relays at Ft. Stockton on Feb. 27 were followed by the Canyon Reef Relays at Snyder on March 6. March also saw three other meets in the City Meet at Lubbock, the West Texas Relays at Odessa, and the San Angelo Relays at San Angelo. Amarillo was host to two meets in April as the Amarillo Relays were on the 2nd and 3rd while the district meet was on the 10th. The Andrews Relays in Andrews and the Regional Meet in Odessa were on the 16th and the 23rd-24th respectively. The final meet before state competition was at Hobbs with the State Meet at Austin on April 6-8.

Cindermen Hopeful In District Action

Hoping to add strength with additional points to this year's cinder team are shot putters Richard Barrett and Ted Ratcliff.

With the opening of the track season, Jim Holmes will represent LHS in the pole vault.

Leading the Black and Gold thinclads are assistant coach Jack Fry and head coach George Wright. Both are also football coaches.

Hoping to improve on last year's finish, this year's golf team includes TOP ROW Coach Jerry Fairley, Pounds, Cochran, Kirk, Carpenter, Roundtree, Telford, Reed, Mc-

Carty, and Coach Glen McDonald; BOTTOM ROW Farrar, Kerr, Robertson, McFarland, Wright, Lorenzen, and Levenson.

Linksters Pose Threat For Loop Title

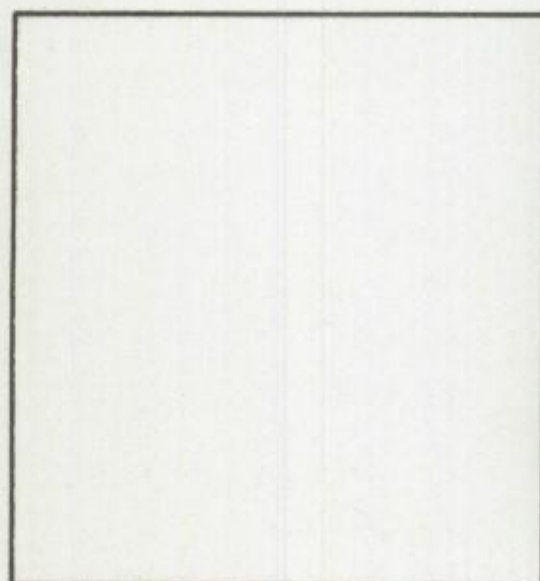

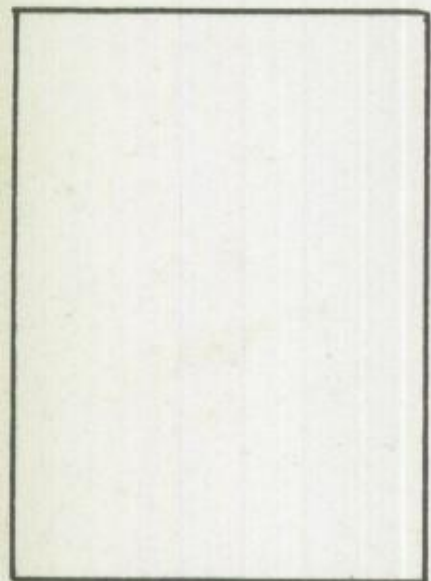

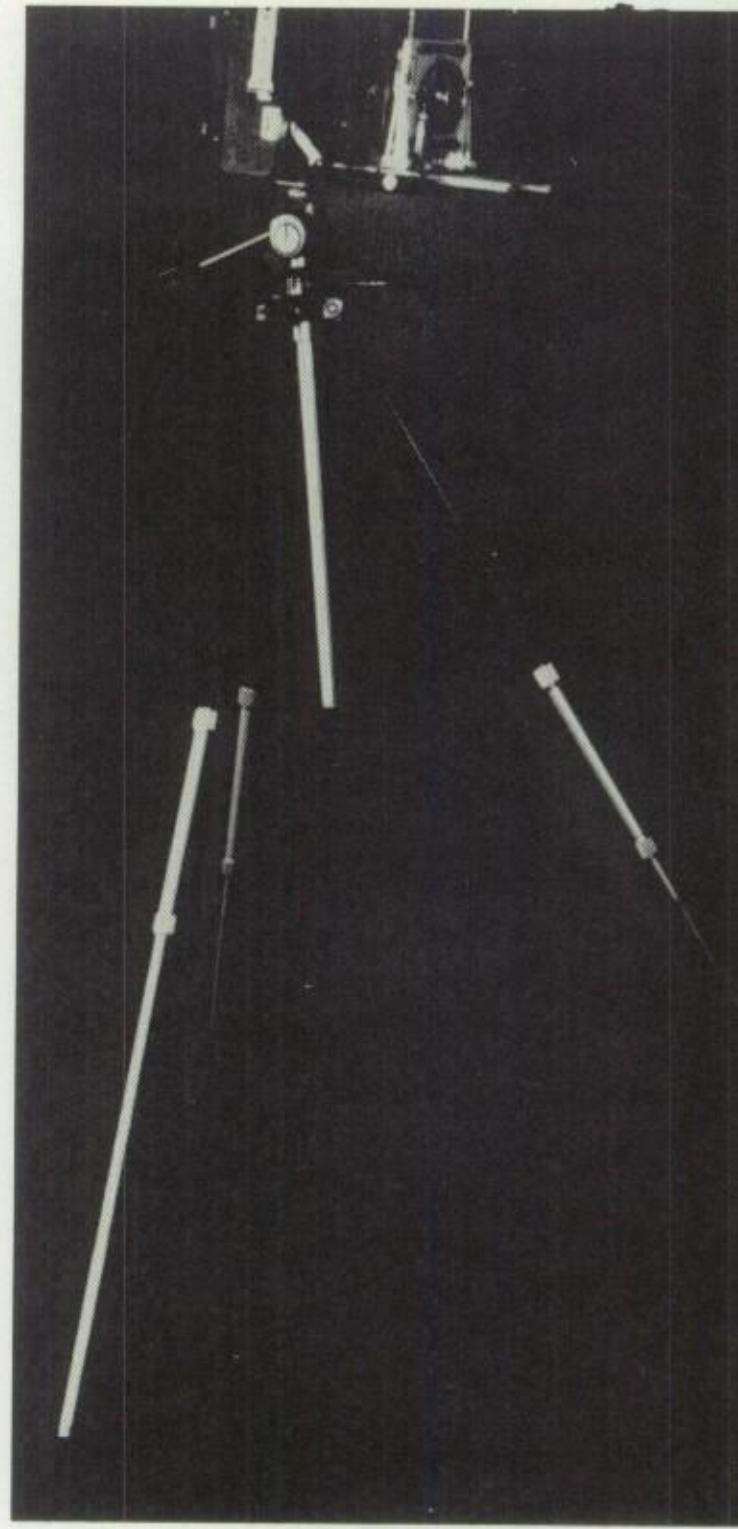

Westerner linksters opened their golf season on Feb. 26-27 in the Andrews Tournament. They then journeyed to Sweetwater for a tournament Mar. 5-6 before engaging in first district competition at Meadowbrook Course March 12-13.

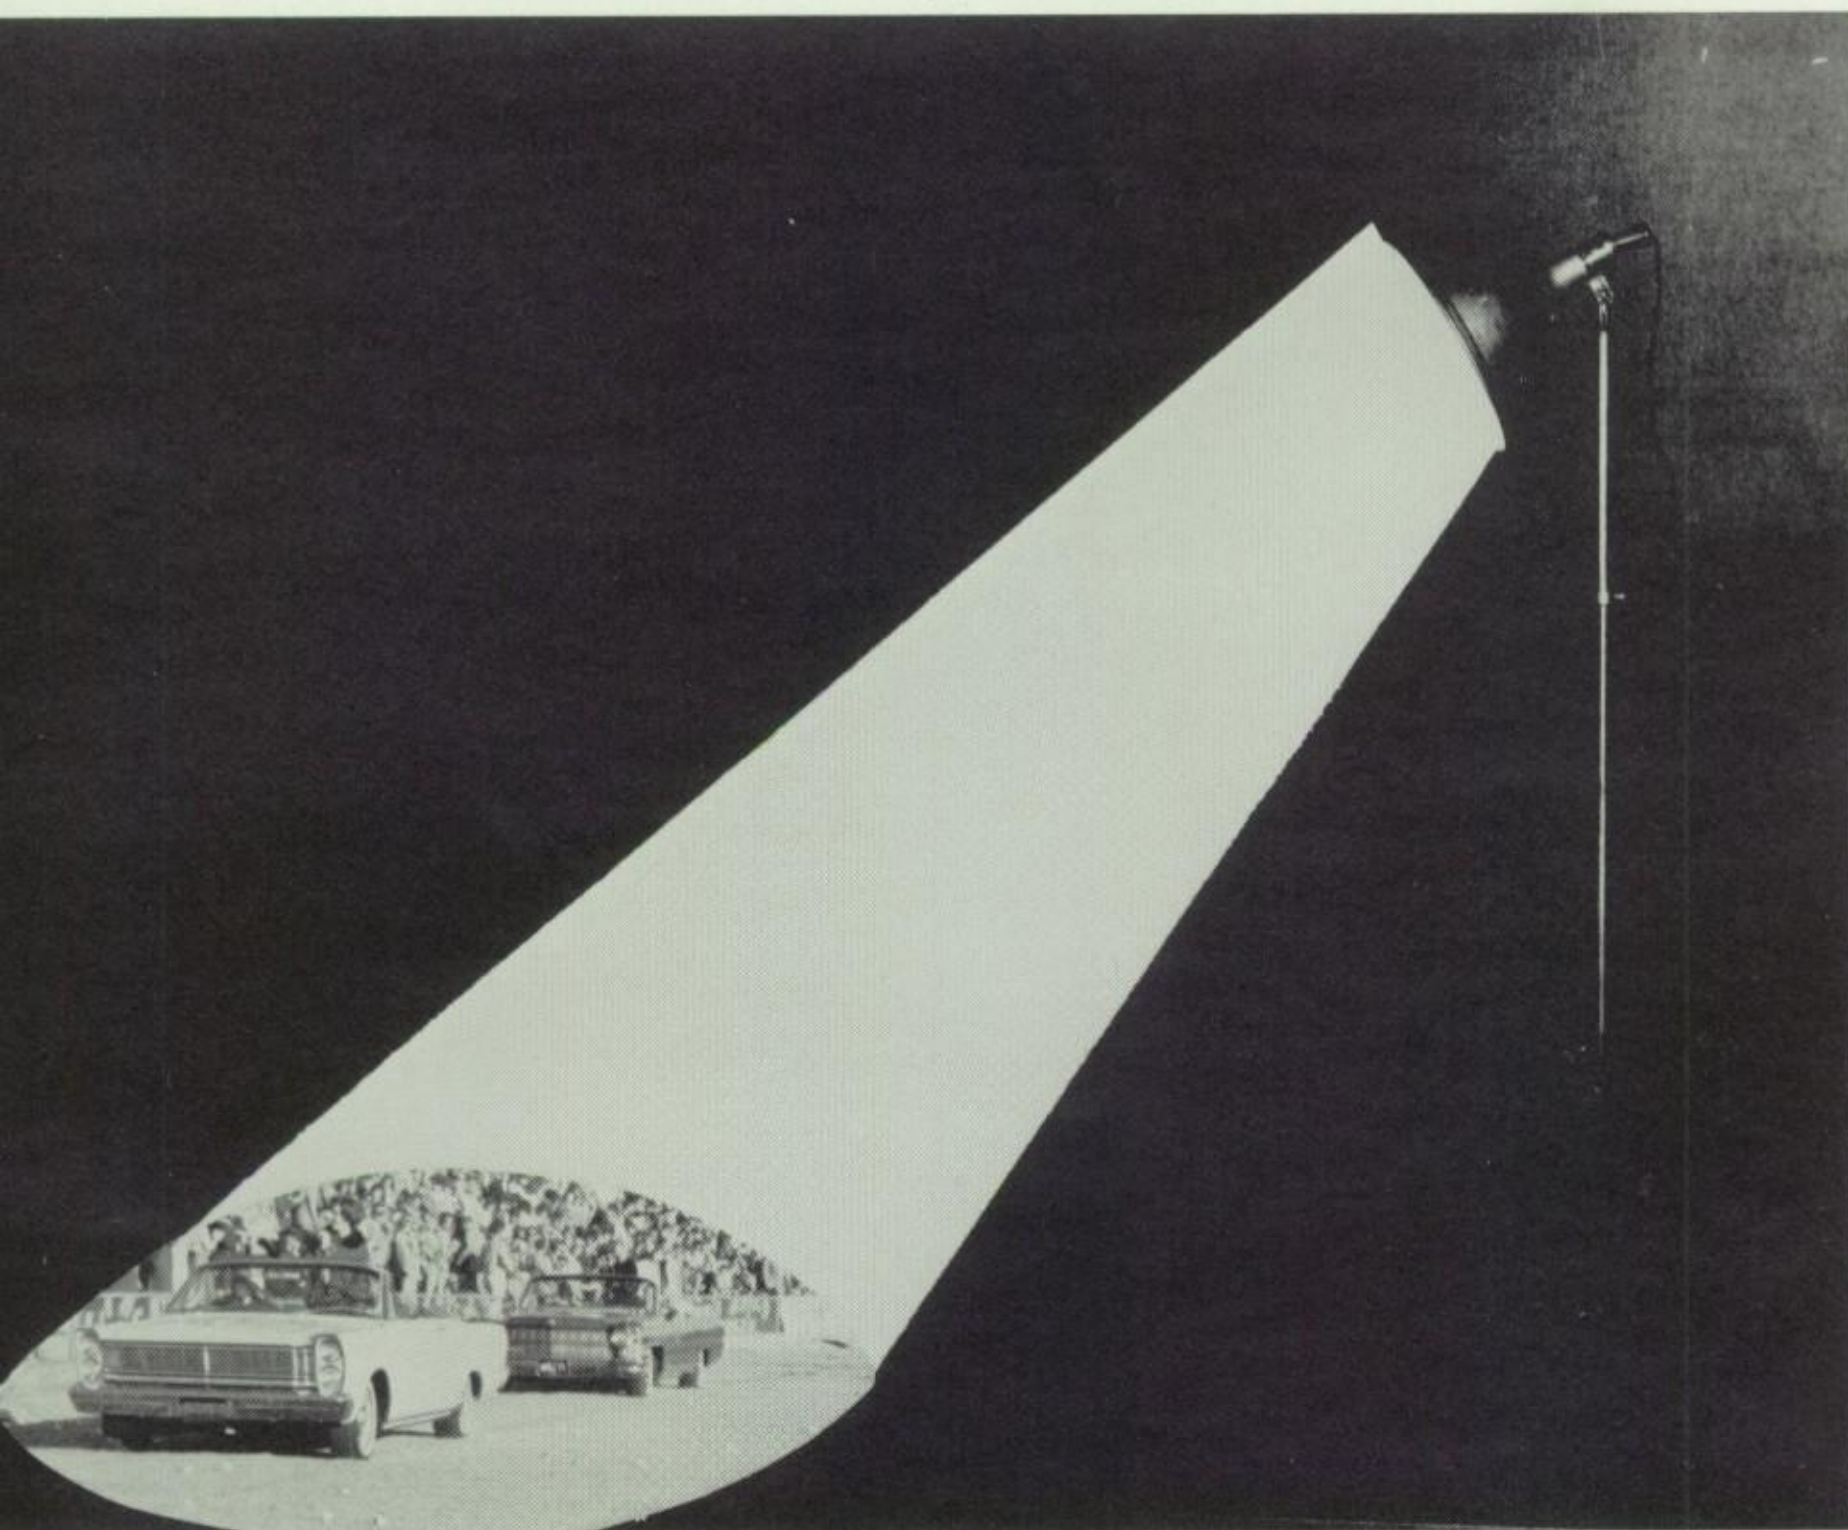

Leading the way were senior golfers David Cochran and Carl Pounds and junior linksters Carl Kirk and Bobby McCarty. Their second district encounter at Plainview March 19-20 was followed by further district competition in Pampa March 26-27. The Westerner team then traveled to Amarillo for two different weeks of competition, first in the Amarillo Relays, and the following week, April 9-10, in a district meet. The final district meet was held in Borger April 16-17 followed by the Regional Meet April 24 in Odessa and the State Meet May 6-7-8 in Austin.

Linkster David Cochran shows his teammates Carl Kirk, Carl Pounds, and Bobby McCarty the correct way to tee off after an apparent blunder by Pounds.

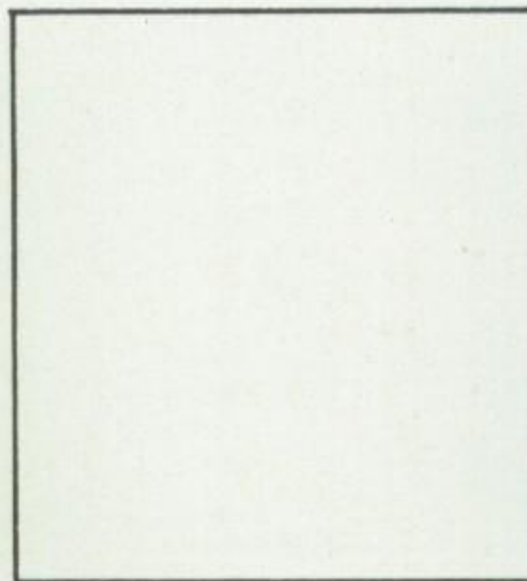

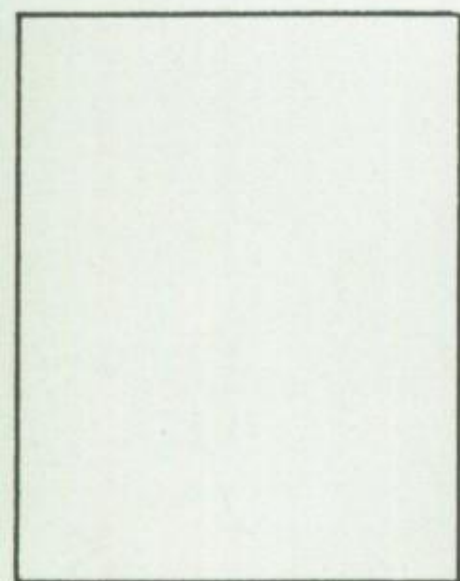

Personalities

Excelling in leadership both scholastically and personally, certain students stand out each year as models of success. These were the Westerners whose extra effort and ability placed their personalities in the spotlight.

Ten Seniors Named

Diligent workers lay the foundation for a successful school year. Many of these students are not recognized for their efforts at Lubbock High, but each one's ideas, efforts, and academic achievements weigh heavily when the year's success is measured.

From a long list of nominees, a total of twenty-five students—ten seniors, eight juniors, and seven sophomores—was selected by administrative committees as the 1964-65 Who's Who. As the final year approached for seniors, 650 upperclassmen awaited the gay activities and various moods which would confront them during their last year at LHS. Class sponsors Mr. Knox Williams and Mr. Bill Dean guided students throughout the year.

Traditional rings arrived to be proudly worn and envied by juniors and sophomores. In November Lavinrac Renretsew, senior carnival, led students across the boardwalk and down a transformed hallway to "Mainstreet, U.S.A."

As spring arrived, upperclassmen frolicked at Kid Day and Senior Day, reliving childhood experiences and enjoying a last fling together as one class. Also included in their class projects were the senior gift selection, class banquet, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

Then, all too soon, May was vanishing, and endless rehearsals were climaxed by graduation ceremonies which officially ended twelve years of work and fun. And so, with memories of ball games, assemblies, classes, and teachers, another class departed from Lubbock High School.

In preparation for that final big night, All-School Council members Don Coleman, Denise Humphries, and Randy Westerburg try on graduation caps to select proper sizes.

Involved in the task of hanging one of many signs, which incite pre-game spirit, are All-School Council members David Milburn, Johnny Chapman, and Rosie Sandifer.

Graduating seniors are encouraged to take College Board Examinations. Checking over their applications for the tests are All-School Council members Jan Etheredge and Sally Halley.

Final Steps Imprint Deepest Memories

"... and this, too, shall pass away," and except for the indelible memories remaining in the hearts of seniors who walk the halls of LHS for the last time, this year becomes only a thing of the past.

Juniors

Hours of planning and organized leadership paid off for 719 middleclassmen as they set out to achieve their goals and follow previous traditions at LHS.

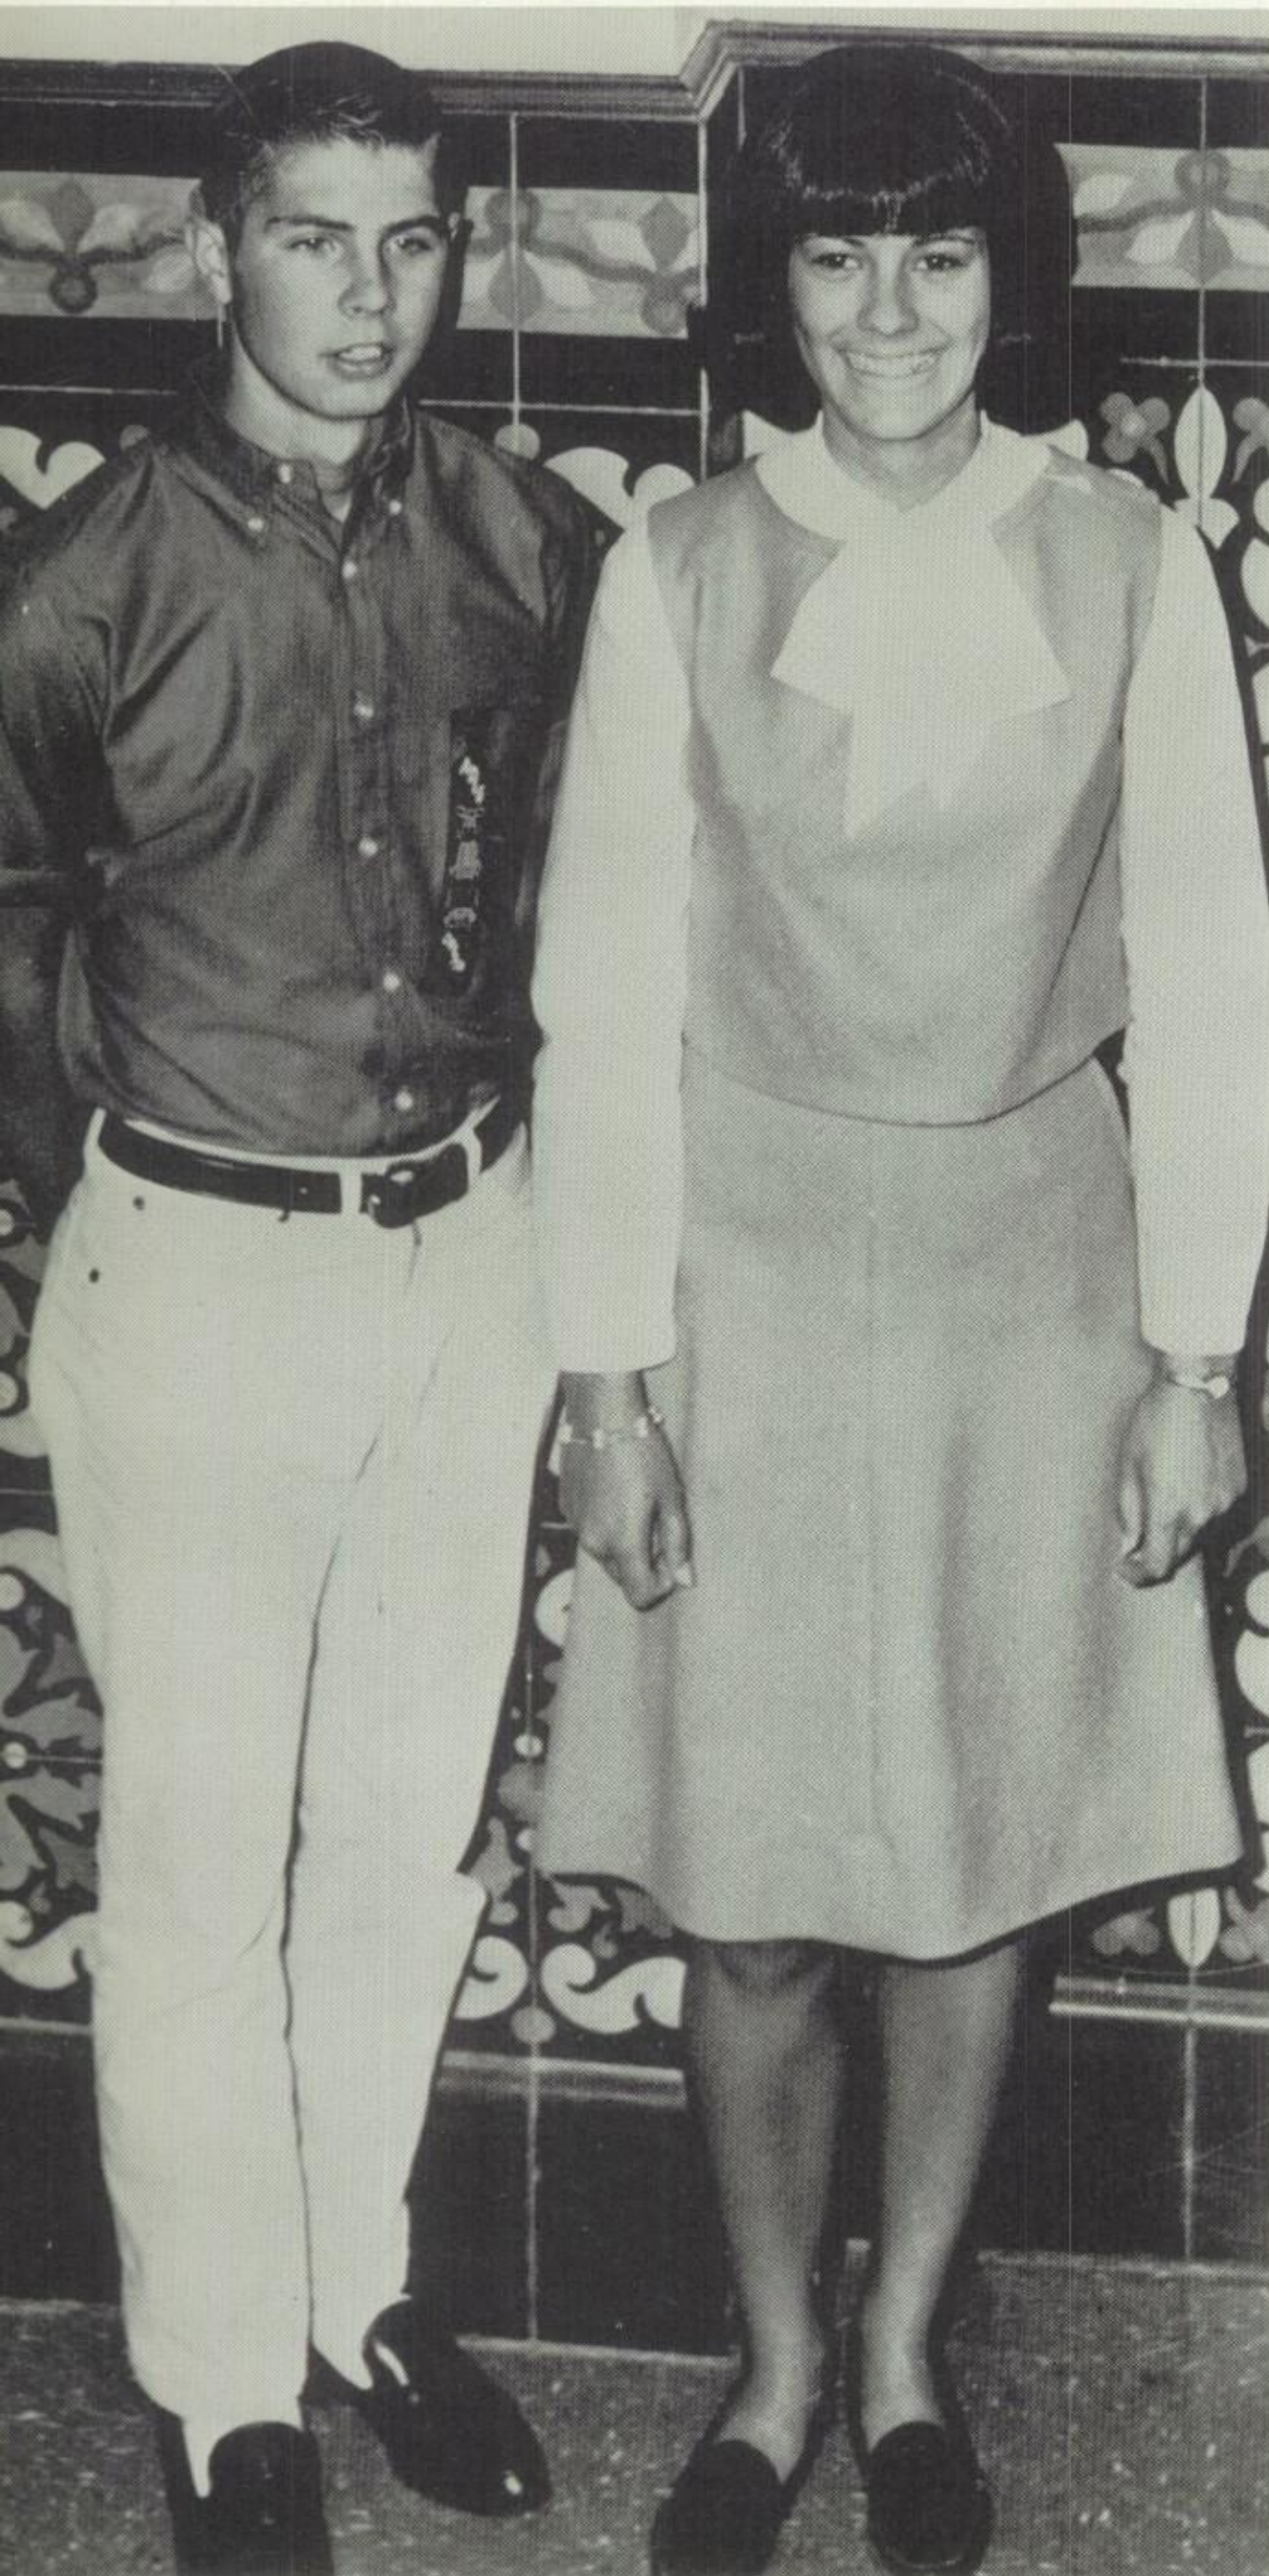

Through crowded corridors, juniors thronged to classes as bells announced the opening of the 1964-65 school year. First plans included accumulating ideas for "Museum of Melodies," theme of the Junior Assembly. Pep rallies, bus trips, and after-game parties were among the fun-filled frolics at which juniors gathered.

Donned with initiative and aided by their sponsor Miss Nelda Jobe, middleclassmen anxiously planned for their first Junior-Senior Prom.

It was not only fun, however. Hard work and frustrating exams became part of the past as the final day arrived when 719 students were no longer juniors. At long last, middleclassmen focused their thoughts on being the graduating seniors of 1966.

Preparations for the Junior Assembly must begin early in the school year. Correcting scripts are All-School Council members Beth Clark, Billy Horton, and Doug Sanford.

Colorful Banners Boost School Morale

Helping to boost school spirit for the Amarillo game, Candy Lovell, Cindy Hale, and Gene Chaffin put the finishing touches on another banner.

Sophomores

Utter confusion and unfamiliar hallways described the inevitable first day of school as 873 sophomores seemingly stumbled to classes and began their high school careers at LHS.

Among the first major tasks was the organization of the largest class at Lubbock High. Posters and campaign parties invaded the scene as officers and All-School Council members were elected to begin leading sophomores in student government.

With the help of their sponsor, Miss Mary Wilson, lowerclassmen were introduced to bus trips, Lubbock High's night pep rally, the annual battle for the coveted silver spurs, and their class assembly in the spring.

As the 1964-65 school terms passed by, sophomores became acquainted with school policies and adapted to LHS traditions. When May had finally ended, they anxiously looked forward to another year.

Advertising

Influenced directly by the hundreds of business establishments in the community, Westerners fulfill their roles as consumers, thus cooperating with businessmen to round out a public relations partnership.

Typewriters hum to various rhythms, papers rattle back and forth, authors compose out loud, camera flashes bounce off the walls, and a steady stream of visitors mingles amidst the turmoil. If you have this setting visualized, you are now in Room 211, more commonly known as "Pub Office."

But now the busy hum is almost hushed, at least, comparatively so. The 1965 WESTERNER is finished. For senior staff members it brings mixed emotions: the thrill of seeing the product of a school year's efforts, tenseness that comes as the first shipment arrives, and sadness that seems as traditional as graduation.

These were the Westerners whose time, hard work, and even lives were invested in the production of these pages you now turn. A debt that can never be repaid is the price we owe to the staff members who never gave up, who endured to the very last. For their immeasurable work and talents, some must be singled out for special recognition. Our thanks to . . . Marilyn Neunaber, for personally supervising the huge job of a personalities section . . . Mary Kay Cruce, for topping talent with originality and efficiency . . . Doug Dunlap, for putting into print a subject he knew so well . . . Denise Humphries, for realizing the importance of her job and following that realization with good planning . . . Elizabeth McCaleb, Zan Sailsbury, and Sylvia Haught, for giving seniors a memorable look at their last year, and finishing in time to slave over the index . . . Donna Slaton, for mastering the problems of clubs section for the second straight year . . . Patsy Lokey and Delila Stephens, for making a giant problem seem almost small . . . Nita Harbin, who sold a product that the public had never seen . . . Tony Wells, whose quickly-acquired knowledge and devotion never flickered . . . Judy Cleveland, who was always there . . . Randy Brown and Bobby McCarty, for continuing after defeats, and producing our visions into reality . . . the newspaper staff, who gave us their loyal support at all time . . . and Mr. Bill Dean, for approving our whims, while adding a supervisor's interest, and most of all, for being someone to turn to.

Then there were those people, usually working in the shadows and behind the scenes, whose ceaseless efforts deserve our deepest gratitude. A special thank you to . . . Mr. Alan Hammer, Mr. Art Burke, and Mrs. Paul Branom, for adding that professional look to countless pictures . . . Cal Moore, for "coloring" our book . . . Mr. Jim Davidson, whose role as a student teacher helped us more than he will ever know . . . Koen's Studio, for a unique job . . . and Mr. Jim Bolin, Mr. Chester Sullivan, and Mr. Joe Carson from Taylor Publishing Company, who, though far away, kept us "in touch" with our book.

And to you, the Westerners who were in '65, who made this year what it was, we give this account of the year.

Landmarking Lubbock High School since 1931, the impressive tower was given an added lustre when the 1965 senior class lighted the massive structure. As another year closes, the illumination reminds Westerners of the memories of a distinctive school year.

Johnny,

I have really enjoyed our confutations of problems together as well as the friendship. Good luck!

WESTERNER WESTERNER WESTERNER

Johnny,

We've done lots of things and had a lot of fun since the days of running track, messing up assemblies and generally raising Cain and causing trouble in junior high. Things got kind of slow in 64-65 but here's looking forward to lots of fun as a Senior (maybe!) It's been great knowing a swell guy like you. Lots of luck in the future. You've got what it takes to go a long way in life. Don't get hit by ²⁰and ^{only} a few raindrops and again,

Good Luck;
Jerry
